Lt. E. Smith To Address Kiwanis Club

Lt. Edward E. Smith, of the State Highway Patrol, will present a lecture and slides on traffic safety, appropriate for the coming Fourth of July weekend, to the Hilltop Kiwanis Club Thursday noon at the Colony Restaurant.

Lt. Smith has been a member of the patrol since 1936. During his 20 years of service he has served in several sections of this state and was a security investigator during World War II.

MON-E-BAK STATUS DOUBTFUL

Blair Determined To Win In Annexation Attempt

Dallas Blair has vowed a one man battle to bring Mon-E-Bak into Columbus.

"I made my mistake by allowing certain other people to help me," the advocate of annexation to Columbus said Monday night in summing up the chances of bringing the area within the city limits.

Blair, who lives at 2640 Plainview-dr, is now circulating by himself a clear-cut petition outlining annexation. He has approximately 50 signers.

Whether he will be able to get a majority of the area residents to sign his petition is doubtful, but Blair thinks that he has a "pretty good chance."

Blair indicated that residents were very favorable towards annexation when an original petition was passed recently. Of the possible 186 residents eligible to sign, about 180 signatures were obtained, he said.

The petition was taken to Columbus city hall. There it was revamped into a more legal document outlining exactly what area was to be annexed. Blair then passed the petition around to several women offering to help.

"That was my big mistake," he said. "They took the petition around, but never tried to talk anyone into signing it. In fact, they talked against it. I had one woman return a petition torn into pieces. She told me her children did it."

Blair plans to continue taking the petition around in evenings after work. "I am not going to argue with anyone," he said, "I just want to find out how the rest of the people feel. I know there are some fighting against me."

Festive Weekend—

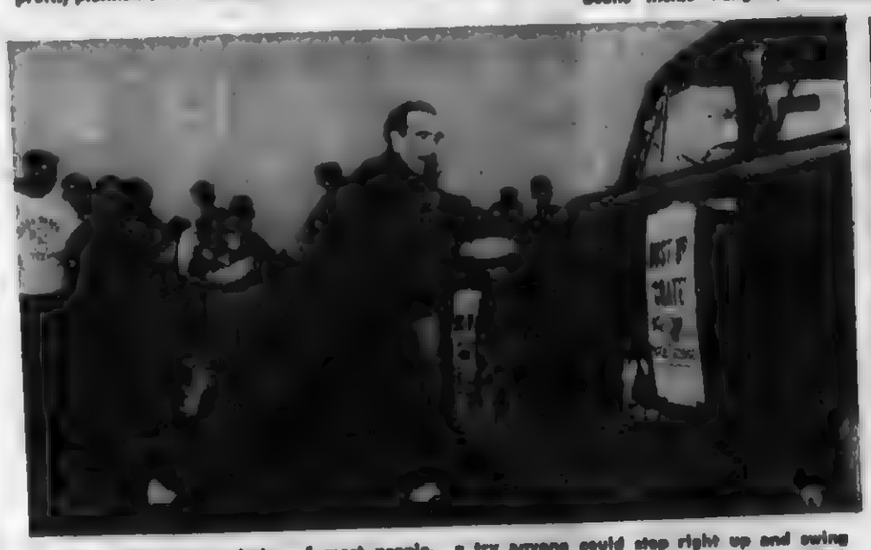
Whatever The Weather, Bean Festival Was Fun



SEA OF FACES—Thousands thronging Sullivant Airport Tuesday, voicing their approval of the midway, exhibits and entertainment, seemed to assure the Bean Dinner's financial success. But Wednesday's storm drowned hopes for a sizeable profit, planned as a contribution to the "Y" building fund.

PONY TAIL PRINCESS—Winners in the contest for prettiest pony tails, sponsored by The Hilltop Record and Rural-Urban News, in the five through eight year class were, Deborah Crabbe, first; Robin McMillion, second and Pam Sheaffer, third.

CAR BUST—Secret desire of most people to really "bust up something," was given full rein at the Bean Dinner. For 15 cents a try anyone could step right up and swing a sledge hammer at a wrecked car, provided for the fun.

BASEBALL CLINIC—"Whammy" Douglas, pitcher with The Columbus Jet, shows some tricks of the trade to Jim Bays, 211 N. Chase-av Tuesday.

HAIR-DO HONORS—Top three winners in the class for nine through 12-year-olds were Karen Born, first; Diane Douglas, second and Lnyda Christian, third. Winners were awarded silver dollar prizes of $3 for first place, $2 for second and one silver cartwheel for third.

Glenwood Youth Attend Summer Institute Camps

During the July 4th holidays, several members of the Asbury and Wesley Fellowships will attend the summer retreat at Camp Agape.

D. W. Sink, 123 N. Haldy-av, has a permit to remodel a frame dwelling.

ONG Units Will Move To Local Armory By Fall

Just a little less than a year ago, ground was broken for the new $400,000 Ohio National Guard Armory on Sullivant-av which is now practically completed.

Originally slated for occupancy last spring, this year's inclement weather has held up construction.

General Leo M. Kreber, Adjutant General of Ohio, said Monday that the armory would be dedicated this fall after ONG units have been transferred there.

The general stated that the troops would not be moved to the new armory until after Labor Day, after summer field training is completed.

General Kreber expects to announce sometime this week which units will be assigned to the armory. Col. Joseph R. Tritschler has tentatively been appointed to head the ONG program in the new structure.

PERMIT GRANTED

A permit has been given Mrs. Carl Waugh, 78 S. Hague-av, to remodel a frame dwelling at 78-82 Hague-av.

REMODELS HOME

W. L. Penn, 232 Clarendon-av, has a permit to remodel his frame dwelling.

Eleanor Wold

Hilltopper In Debut At Cincinnati Opera

Eight years of intensive vocal study, a sure knowledge of her goal and unshakable faith in the future has led a Hilltop girl, still in her twenties, across the threshold of a thrilling operatic career.

Eleanor Wold, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Wold, began a six-performance engagement in Cincinnati Summer Opera, July 6. Rev. Wold is pastor of Hope Memorial Church.

Signed immediately after her recent audition in New York for Robert L. Siddell, managing director of Cincinnati Summer Opera, she will perform with some of the world's great singers on the Zoo Opera stage. Featured as "Adina" in "Elixir of Love," July 6 and 10, she will appear in "Boris Godunoff," July 16 and 19 and in "Faust," July 23 and 26.

Showing promise as a musician while still a child, she began piano study at seven and, encouraged by her parents, her interest in music grew and developed.

It wasn't until after graduation from Ohio State University with degrees in sociology and languages, that she began formal vocal training.

Setting everything unrelated to her career aside, she has devoted the years since to development of her talent.

A former pupil of Margaret Perry Hast, vocal teacher in Columbus, she has also studied at Juilliard School of Music, New York City, and languages and dramatics at Columbia University.

A member of Philadelphia Grand Opera Co. for the past two years, she toured Canada, western and central United States for seven weeks last fall, and has appeared on numerous occasions with the Long Island Opera Co., and the Empire State Opera Co.

Appearing with Miss Wold in "Elixir of Love" will be Eva Likova, Frank Valentino, Charles Anthony and Salvatore Baccaloni with Anton Coppola conducting.

Cast of "Boris Godunoff," to be presented July 16 and 19, includes Italo Tajo, Salvatore Baccaloni, Guiseppe Moretti, William Wilderman and many others with Fausto Cleva conducting.

In "Faust" on July 23 and 26, she will be featured with Barry Morrell, Eva Likova, Italo Tajo, Ruth Thorsen, Napoleon Bisson and Wilfred Engleman with Fausto Cleva conducting.

Tickets for all summer opera performances are available at the Hast-Amend boxoffice in Heaton's Music Store, 30 N. High-st.

The event will be held Sept. 12, 13 and 14 at the Deshler Hilton. Attorney General William Saxbe will be toastmaster at a banquet on the evening of the 13th.

Others on the committee include Joseph Enright, secretary and treasurer; Walter W. Gralle jr., entertainment; Cliff Marvin, publicity; H. S. (Red) Anderson, arrangements; Don Burch, information; Dean Eubank, registration; Harry E. Richter, banquet, publicity and tickets; Gen. Edsel O. Clark, banquet chairman; Paul M. Herbert, past president, luncheon; Dr. Donald F. Bowers, distinguished guest.

Nearly 8000 Crowd Magly Field July 4th

An estimated 8000 persons turned out Friday night, July 4, for the Hilltop Lions' fireworks display held at West High School's Magly Field, according to Carl Strickler, chairman of the holiday celebration.

The show, which cost the service club about $1000, was reportedly a success despite the threatening weather conditions. Strickler said, however, that crowds were thin for the entertainment portion of the affair but picked up greatly when the aerial bombs began to light the sky.

The chairman said he has had many favorable comments on the Niagara Falls display which set Magly Field aglow with daytime brightness.

Strickler admitted to a few nervous hours Friday afternoon when a featured entertainer, Mrs. Jan Wihl, was forced to withdraw from the show because her father-in-law, Herman Wihl, was critically ill. He died Saturday.

Mrs. Wihl's replacement in the show was Mrs. Verna Lambert, a banjo player.

Strickler expressed regret that many people watching the display from nearby parks and open areas missed the ground displays, which he termed "terrific."

May Build 'Tunnel' To Westmoor School

With the construction of Westmoor Junior High School now well underway, school and city officials are faced with a knotty problem . . . how to provide safe passage for Hilltop youngsters who must cross the New York Central tracks to get to school.

The school, latest addition to the new Hilltop Community center on Valleyview-dr, will probably be ready for some classes next February. At present the only access from the south is a risky crossing at N. Sylvan-av or at Hague-av some distance away. Neither is safe for small pedestrians, the school board warns.

"Some kind of tunnel under the tracks at N. Westmoor-av is needed quickly," said Paul Langdon, 78 Powhatan-av, president of the city public school board. "The weather is ideal now and we hope work will start soon," he added.

City Service Director Floyd Redick told the Record this week that several plans are in the making, but admitted the job will take some time. "We want to do this job right," Redick said, "right now we are talking to the railroad people."

"There may be a little inconvenience until the job is done" Redick continued. "First of all we must consider the creek just north of the tracks. It could cause trouble in bad weather.

Inslee Is Advised

"Then, there is the problem of approach. The tunnel should carry daylight from end to end or it would invite loitering or possible molestings. It is my hope that we can build an incline into the tunnel, rather than steps, so that bikes and carts can pass," he said.

City engineers, working with department of parks and forestry, hope to have definite plans laid by the end of the month, Redick said.

When fully completed Westmoor will house all junior high pupils of this area. They now go to classes at West High. "It is conceivable that some grade school youngsters from south of the tracks will be assigned to Valleyview Elementary as population swells," said Langdon. In addition hundreds of boys and girls will use the tunnel going to and from the proposed new Hilltop "Y".

West Civitans To Be Host At Club Council

On Thursday, July 10, members of the Civitan Club of West Columbus will welcome representatives of the Inter-Club Council of Franklin County at the council's July meeting at the Lincoln Lodge at 6:30 p.m.

Order Guards For Bridges In Valleyview

Valleyview Village Council, at the request of worried mothers, passed a motion to install new guard rails on all village bridges which cross small streams in the settlement.

The request came after a youngster riding his bicycle lost control and plunged into a stream, injuring his head.

The bridges are not high, crossing over small culverts, but do represent a hazard to children on foot or a bike.

Mayor Charles Ringer announced that the 1959 budget had been tentatively approved, but final action won't be taken on it until later this year.

Council also authorized additional drainage tile on Warren-av.

Norrish Booth, president of the council, returned to his duties Monday night after an extended two months illness.

Jets' Most Loyal Fan To Rule Team As 'Queen' For A Month

By Betty Daft

"Yankees will win over Milwaukee for the World Series pennant and our own Jets will finish third or fourth and, just maybe, do even better."

Mrs. Mary Roberts, 300 S. Burgess-av, named Queen of the Jets for July, speaks with the knowledge and authority of a lifetime baseball fan.

The 75-year-old widow, who learned to love the game from her mother, a friend of the great Bobby Maxwell, was delighted and thrilled to learn of her choice as queen.

A letter from Harold Cooper, manager, stating "It has been brought to my attention that you are an avid Jet baseball fan and follow our club faithfully, win or lose, throughout the year, so I personally pick you Queen of the Jets for July," contained 12 box seat tickets for home games this month.

Mrs. Roberts' contagious enthusiasm interested a neighbor, Mrs. Lillian Kelly of 296 S. Burgess-av, in the sport. Mrs. Kelly saw her first baseball game during the Jets's first season here, and is now Mrs. Roberts' companion at nearly every home game.

Booing the umpires and cheering the home boys since the days when the Columbus Senators played at Neil Park, north of Cleveland and Buckingham, Mrs. Roberts traces the city's history since by important baseball events.

Reminiscing on a lifetime of baseball memories, she speaks with respect about baseball greats she has seen in action. "Ty Cobb in the Philadelphia World Series 30 years ago, performances of Babe Ruth and Honus 'Hans' Wagner," are but a few.

But she always returns to an affectionate discussion of the Jets' prowess. Basing her predictions for the team's successful season on players' performance, Mrs. Roberts says, "They are all good—Bill Causion at right field, Howey Goss, center field and "Whammy" Douglas, pitcher."

A resident of Burgess-av since 1915, she lived at 261 until her husband's death seven years ago, when she moved to her present address.

West High School's Shop Instructor, Journalism Teacher Leave Profession

'Taught Boys, Not Subjects' Says Trout

M. Gates Trout

Retirement this June of H. Gates (Pop) Trout, 100 Eldon-av, shop instructor at West High for many years, marked the end of a 27-year career devoted to "teaching boys, not subjects."

His devotion to the ideals of his profession has earned him the affection of his students as well as the respect of fellow faculty members.

The satisfaction of working with young people throughout the years is reflected in his enthusiastic remark, "Without qualification, if I could live all over again I wouldn't have done differently."

He started his teaching career in Portsmouth and served one year in Lima and Steubenville before his assignment at West High.

Time for the hobby he enjoys most, woodworking in his basement shop and, "maybe later, some of the travel we've somehow never found time for," are his retirement plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Trout's two sons were graduated from West High. J. William, now 41, is chief censor for Royal McBee Co. in Athens and Robert G., 36, is a surgeon specializing in heart and lungs, in Philadelphia.

Commenting on changes in the past 27 years, Mr. Trout said, "Teaching now is decidedly different and is, of course, more difficult. But I feel the fault isn't necessarily with pupils. Classes have tripled in size since I started teaching.

"I don't really know how much difference that makes in academic subjects but it does make the individualized, personal attention necessary in industrial arts more difficult.

"There are, of course, more attractions or rather distractions, for boys today, making concentration on school more difficult."

"Honestly surprised at the attention his retirement brought from school and students, Mr. Trout expressed in feelings with, "It's certainly gratifying to find your efforts appreciated. But the satisfaction has been mine in workin g with these boys. I've found them always interesting to talk to, and have been pleased to encourage their thinking and, sometimes try to discourage ideas that were wrong."

Miss Bowen Finishes Up 30-Year Stint

Gladys Bowen, head of West High's journalism department for the past seven years and production director of the monthly Occident and the school's annual yearbook, is leaving the teaching profession this June.

Her resignation as a teacher with 30 years' service will mark the beginning of an entirely different career in the field of insurance.

Approaching her new life with the same eagerness she has shown towards teaching, Miss Bowen's enthusiasm for her new career choice stems from her conviction of insurance's value as a means of security.

She has also operated successfully, in partnership with a friend, an earthworm farm for the past 11 years.

During her stay at West, the school publications have consistently been of high quality. In addition to journalism fundamentals, she has also taught [illegible].

Her position as head of the journalism department, nerve center of school happenings, has placed her in the unique position of being in closer contact with the community than perhaps any other faculty member.

She describes her feelings of regret mingled with happiness with, "I have enjoyed working with young people, and will miss them I know. I'm also going to miss being a part of important community and school events."

I have been particularly impressed by the kind of loyalty and devotion with which the entire community supports the activities at West High School. In all my teaching experience I've found the Hilltop unique in many fine [illegible].

Started as a hobby in partnership with her friend, Mary Crowe, the women have found themselves the astounded owner of a worm farm that is shipping earthworms around the world.

Orders have arrived from every state in the Union, Canada, Hawaiian Islands, Africa, France and Alaska.

The worm farm is located on Lake White, near Waverly.

Miss Bowen will join forces with Mary Crowe, good friend since college days and partner in the earthworm farm, in her new insurance venture with Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Dear Sons:

Uncle Lushmore Makes CPA Rate

Dear Jason:

Haven't heard from you for a couple of weeks and if I don't hear from you soon, I am going to write to your Commanding Officer. I shall inform him that just because he saw fit to promote you to full seaman, you can't do all the work by yourself. The next time you're having lunch with him, ask him to appoint you an assistant to help you with your chores.

Your Uncle Lushmore is now a full-fledged CPA (Case Pool worker of America.). Last week his lodge had a convention and they held it at that new hotel in Polecat Junction. It's supposed to be an air-conditioned place but your Uncle said that the air-conditioning broke down. However, the management lived up to their slogan, "Kool Kumfort." Every hour they sent the bell boy up to blow through the keyhole.

It won't be long now before we have to take your poor old grandmaw to the hospital. Her gall stones are acting up on her something terrible. As a matter of fact, she had another attack of them last week. Poor grandmaw has gallstone trouble so bad that when she gets her rocking chair going good, it sounds like there's a crap game going on.

Getting back to your Uncle Lushmore, I am proud to say that he now has a new position he's standing up. While he was in Polecat Junction he made the town richer by some two hundred dollars he paid off in drunk fines. Your uncle doesn't have his suits cleaned any more—he has them distilled.

As far as I can see, your little nephew Cheddar will never get out of grade 2-B. The teacher asked him the other day to tell the class what he knew about the Eskimos. Cheddar told her that he only knew one thing about them — they made swell ice cream pies. Your brother, Zeke, was always good to Cheddar. If the kid wanted five bucks Zeke would go down in the cellar and print him one. Zeke is now with the F.B.I. He was caught yesterday.

Paw is trying out a new scheme to lose weight which he thinks is a good one. He claims you can lose weight by eating a lot. When I asked him how it was possible to lose weight that way he explained it all to me and it really sounds very simple. Paw says that when you eat a lot you get fatter; more fat will make you lazy; when you're lazy you don't work; when you don't work you lose your job; when you lose your job you don't eat and when you don't eat you lose weight.

Probably your old man should have been a doctor. He has his own theory about giving milk to a child before the kid goes to bed. He says not to. Paw says if you give a child milk before it goes to bed the kid tosses in his sleep, the milk turns to butter, the butter turns to cheese, the cheese turns to starch, the starch turns to sugar, the sugar turns to alcohol, and the first thing you know the child wakes up with a hangover.

You remember that grass widow that moved here from Brooklyn about a year ago? I met her on the street the other day and her dress was so short and cut so low I thought she was wearing a belt. She thought she was catching the Asiatic flu and was on her way to old Doctor Dench's office for an examination. I understand that old Doc took one look at her and told her to go home, take two aspirins, put on some clothes and go to bed.

Guess I'll close now. Bilge Prosser, the lad you used to run around with, got himself a job as an apprentice to the village blacksmith. The smitty was instructing Bilge in his new duties. "Son," he said, "I'm going to bring this horse shoe from the fire and put it on the anvil. When I nod my head, hit it with this sledge hammed." Bilge did just as he was told and now Bilge is the village blacksmith.

Write soon.

Your loving,
Mom

Capehart teed off on a glass jar target over 180 yards away, smashing the jar, and earned the certificate awarded by George Katsanos, owner of George's Drive-in and Driving Range on Rt. 40, just west of New Rome. Katsanos reported that the Sapp Supermarket, 2944 W. Broad-st, also awards certificates for groceries in the amount of $5 for the same feat.

Rabbit Show Is New Feature At '58 Franklin County Fair

Rabbit breeders in Central Ohio for the first time will be able to enter their prize specimens in the annual Franklin County Fair to be held Aug. 11-16 at Hilliards.

G. A. (Les) Burke, a breeder and licensed judge of commercial rabbits, announced that judging for the show will begin around noon, Thursday, Aug. 14 in one of the livestock tents on the fairgrounds.

So far the following breeds have been entered in competition: New Zealand Reds, and Whites, Checkered Giants, Dutch, Californian, Champagne, and Flemish Giants — which attain a weight of 20 pounds at maturity.

Burke said that these rabbits were bred primarily for meat yield, explaining that breeders strove for heavier, meatier loins and hindquarters in their animals. The rabbits are painlessly disposed of, and their pelts are often processed and sent to hatters, milliners, and furriers. Usually only solid-colored pelts are used for the latter purposes.

All the entries are pedigreed, some having bloodlines accurately traceable back for many generations.

The main reason the animals haven't been shown in previous years was due to the heat during the week of the fair. Burke stated that rabbits can live very comfortably in cold weather, but suffer considerably in hot weather.

The showier breeds, which are not necessarily commercial rabbits, will probably not appear at the show. This is due, said Burke, to the fact that almost all of the "fancier" rabbits are in the West.

Why Do Fish Hit Lures?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Most fishermen assume they catch a fish on an artificial lure because the fish is hungry enough to eat it. Fred Haddon's research staff comes proof that hunger is only one of many reasons a fish hits plugs.

Take for example, occasions when staff members have caught largemouth bass and found their stomachs so full of crawfish that the last one eaten still protruded from the bass' throat.

And, white bass caught while raiding schools of minnows were so full that numerous minnows spewed out of the bass' mouths when laid on the bottom of the boat.

So, based on the assumption that when an animal's stomach is full hunger is sated, it appears that some urge aside from hunger moves these fish to feed voraciously. It could be the killer instinct, inability to know when its belly is full, or just plain cussedness.

For another example take the trout—a fish looked upon as one of the daintiest feeders of all game fish. Purist fly fishermen take them on tiny flies at the end of leaders nearly as wispy as a spider web. They believe all this necessary to fool these smart, sharp-eyed, wary fish. Then, along comes someone who didn't know how smart, sharp-eyed, and wary trout are. He hangs a half dozen monstrous, spinning spoons behind each other, weighing about a half pound and making nearly as much commotion as an outboard motor. Behind these he ties a fly and trolls the whole mess behind his boat. Result: he caught a lot of trout.

Couldn't Be Hunger

Why? Well, certainly hunger didn't bring the trout running to look at that dangling hardware. Nothing it eats looks like that. So, it must have been some urge like curiosity, sound attraction, or fighting instinct.

There are reports of a fish in a test tank that would not feed on any food offered. Yet when a mirror was lowered into the tank, so that he could see his reflection, this bass promptly plastered the lure he previously ignored. Hunger? Nope, more than likely it was greed to keep that "other bass" in the mirror from beating him to it.

How can you profit from these observations? Simply by trying new things that might excite a new emotion and start fish feeding. Like reeling a lure very fast, then stopping it. Or working a topwater lure with more commotion than usual. Perhaps trolling so fast that your bait almost pops out of the water. Or instead of retrieving a lure steadily, jerk it occasionally to make it dart.

In other words, fish are like people, they're funny, meaning peculiar. So the same way, and you'll catch more fish.

FISH REPORT

Muddy water for the past few weeks has slowed local fishing. Mixed catches are reported from Madison Lake, including smallmouth bass, largemouth bass, bullheads, bluegills, and crappies.

Here are a few recent entries in the Hartley Newspapers Fishing Contest there: Charles Barrett, 3683 Briggs-rd, smallmouth bass; J. B. Bishop, 28 N. 22nd-st, bullhead; Laura Montgomery, Pasadena-av, New Rome, crappie; George Pauley, 2016 Main-st, Galloway, largemouth bass; Florence Emrich, 144 S. Westgate-av, crappie; Steve Bell, 706½ S. Ninth-st, bullhead; Mrs. W. M. Feeley, 230 S. Main-st, London, crappie; Harry Rollins, 618 Lee-st, Connersville, Ind., bluegill.

Stress Importance Of Zone Numbers

Is there much difference between "Columbus, Ohio" and "Columbus 4, Ohio?" Many residents ask, "is it really very important whether or not we stick that little number '4' or any other zone number in the address of a letter or package?"

According to the United States Post Office Department, that "little 4", or zone number, means better, faster mail service and easier handling for postal clerks.

Postmaster Allen M. Rowe said last Wednesday that the Post Office department is aggressively sponsoring a program on a nationwide basis to promote the use of zone numbers and earlier mailing.

He reports that in connection with this program every postmaster in the nation is directed to distribute a notice to every addressee receiving mail through his office.

This notice stresses "you get better mail service by using zone numbers. Be sure to indicate the proper zone on all mail." The circular will also carry a list of cities where zones are used.

Residents will also receive a form notifying them of any zone changes in their area and emphasizing their particular zone number. Reportedly, this effort constitutes the largest single saturation mailing ever attempted.

Postmaster Rowe said that the mailing public should become "zone conscious" and in addressing their mail should consider the zone number a part of the address the same as the street number.

He also urged the public to mail earlier in the day when at all possible, and to separate into "local" and "out of town" bundles when ever there is a considerable quantity of mail.

Street zone guides and bands or labels for use on local or our of town bundles of mail may be obtained by writing or otherwise contacting the office of the General Superintendent of Mails, Room 103, Columbus 16, Ohio, CA. 1-6411, extensions 202, 204 or 205.

Postmaster Rowe further pointed out that any separations of local and out-of-town mail that can conveniently be made will save at least on handling of the mail and thus speed delivery.

Therefore, all mailers are urged to mail early in the day, use "local" and "out-of-town" bands or labels on their bundles, and separate into "zoned" bundles whenever the quantity of mail warrants such separation.

BIBLE COMMENT

Interpret Parables Liberally

We are familiar with the parables and we realize that they have a meaning apart from any question of literal interpretation.

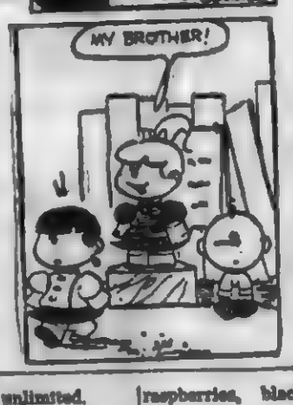
The story, for instance, of the woman with the 10 pieces of silver who lost one does not depend on whether in an actual place at a precise moment the thing happened in real life. It is the sort of thing that can happen anywhere anytime.

When such stories are narrowly interpreted, they tend to lose their larger truth and meaning to become just stories and nothing more, whereas the moral and spiritual teaching is what's important.

This is particularly true concerning the story of original sin and the part that the serpent plays. The writer expresses some facts about sin that we may miss altogether if we read too literally.

Sin, it is pointed out, has its origin in disobedience. This doesn't mean that all disobedience is sinful, because sometimes there are commands and rules that have no moral or logical justification.

Eating the forbidden fruit is represented as bringing in the knowledge of good and evil. One can see evidence in the world that the fall was a real one; and that sinful disobedience does bring to man tragedies of suffering and degradation.



DEEP-DISH CHERRY PIE IS GOOD FAMILY TREAT IN ANY SEASON!

BY DOROTHY HARRIS

Cherry Deep-Dish Pie
(8-9 servings)

Three tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, 1 cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 cups drained canned pitted red sour cherries (water-packed), 1 cup cherry juice, 2 tablespoons butter, pastry for one-crust pie.

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, cherries, and cherry juice. Turn mixture into deep 8-inch square baking dish. Dot with butter. Roll pastry ⅛-inch thick and cut several 2-inch slits or fancy designs near center. Fold pastry in half or roll loosely on rolling pin; center on filling. Open slits with a knife. (Well opened slits are important to permit escape of steam during baking.)

Trim pastry, allowing it to extend ½-inch over rim. Fold pastry over edge of dish and press to rim. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 45 to 50 minutes or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst. Serve warm, if desired. Note: If syrup-packed, instead of water-packed, use only ¼ cup sugar.

Apple Tapioca (6-8 servings)

Three cups sliced tart apples, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ cup quick-cooking tapioca, 1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 2½ cups water, 1 to 2 tablespoons lemon juice.

Arrange apples in greased baking dish. Dot with butter and sprinkle with cinnamon. Combine remaining ingredients in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Pour over apples in baking dish. Cover and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 minutes, or until apples are tender. Remove from oven and stir. Serve warm with cream.

Pour some heavy cream over that deep-dish cherry pie and then sit down and start eating.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Fruits—Raspberries, cherries, watermelon, cantaloupe, bananas.

LUNCHEON MEATS ARE EASY

Some of you will recall the expression, "No matter how you slice it, it's still bologna." Meat packers have changed that by developing a wider variety of ground meat mixtures which they pack in casings of one kind or another. A more accurate term for these meat products is "sausage meats."

What is Sausage Meat? — It is defined as minced meat, or a combination of meat, blended with various seasonings and spicings and commonly stuffed into a casing or container. Because of variations in proportions of beef, pork, veal and lamb, fineness of the chop or grind, seasoning and spices, smoking, degree of cooking or drying, the variety of sausage meat is almost unlimited.

Fast-to-Serve Sausage Meats lend themselves well to summer meals, for they are quick and easy to prepare and are popular with everyone. Many of them may be served hot or cold, alone or combined with macaroni, rice, or vegetables.

Buying Guides — A sausage is no better than its ingredients. Appearance is not enough to guide your choice. The best guides are:

Federal inspection stamp which reads, "U.S. Inspected and Passed," shows that the meat product has been made from wholesome ingredients and processed under sanitary conditions.

Label—it will give the list of ingredients in the order of their predominance, name of product, packer's name, weight and price.

Brand Name—will generally be the same each time it is purchased. Brands may be a good guide in satisfying family likes and dislikes.

Compare Cost—When buying luncheon meats be sure to check weight of package and then compare cost per pound, remembering that all is edible meat. In Columbus the following comparison was recently made for bologna:

Type	Wt	Lb.
Chunk bologna	1 lb.	53c
Sliced bologna	1 lb.	63c
Sliced Bologna	8 oz.	75c

BERRY PICKIN' TIME

You'll be delighted with the berry selection in markets this week. Blueberries, red and black raspberries, blackberries and dewberries all make delicious salads and desserts. If you sweeten them at all, try honey for a blend of flavors the family is sure to like. Since the bulk of all these berries is marketed in July, don't wait too long if you plan to freeze some.

The largest crop of Ohio sour cherries since 1952 is ready, too. Bing cherries are in good supply. Peaches are earlier than normal and excellent crops are being harvested in Georgia and the Carolinas. The price and quality are very good for so early in the season.

On July 16 the West Sectional Lantern Parade will be held in Westgate Park at dusk. Children from the playgrounds in this area will be preparing lanterns from boxes of all sizes, crepe paper, celophane, paint, paper, and crayons.

The lanterns will be lighted with securely-fastened candles and will encircle Westgate Park Lake. Parents will be invited to view the handiwork of their children and neighbors, said Jo Courtney, Westgate playground director.

started at Burroughs Playground. The league has been hampered throughout it's first week of operation by failure of players to report for scheduled practice games, said Howard Nicklaus, playground director.

Preparations for the Lantern Parade to be held at Westgate Park, July 16, are in full swing. A rocket ship and individual costumes are nearly completed for the affair.

Ohio Gas Asks For Rate Raise

Ohio Fuel and Gas Co. last week applied to the Public Utilities Commission for the authority to raise gas rates of residents living in unincorporated areas of Franklin County.

These residents affected should the raise come about would pay approximately the same rates as users in incorporated areas near them.

The proposed hike would call for a cost to users of 30 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1000 cubic feet; 7.3 cents per hundred cubic feet up to 50,000; and 6.5 cents per hundred for all over 50,000 cubic feet.

Under this plan the average monthly cost of the new rates would be $5.92 to county, not Columbus, users.

Jets Call This Area 'Home' – For Awhile

by Ray Shaffer

Ever wonder what life is like for a baseball player's family? To be swapped with another team in another part of the country? To have "pappa" be a hero one week and a louse the next in the eyes of the sports fans?

Mrs. Paul Pettit, whose husband was recently traded to the Columbus Jets from Salt Lake City, can answer these and other questions as a ball player's wife and mother of four small children.

"I don't mind being moved around when Paul is traded — it's a lot like being on a vacation. However, our oldest son will start to school this fall and I will hate moving him from one school to another," said Mrs. Pettit.

"I don't care for being traded around," said Paul, "we just get settled in one community and get to know our way around and then bang — we get sent to another team and a new city. Sometimes the team will only give you two or three days notice. It wouldn't be so bad if I weren't married but its rough with a family."

Paul, a native of California, is a first baseman and outfielder for the Jets. He came to the team June 15 this year. Pettit, his wife, Shirley, and their children, Paul jr., Mark, Cindy and Timmy, are residing in Westgate Manor.

The Pettits own a home in Lomita, Calif., near Hollywood, where they manage to live six months each year. While there Paul or "Lefty" as his wife calls him, goes to college where he is preparing to be a physical education teacher. He plans to become a teacher when his baseball days are over.

Takes Careful Budgeting

Mrs. Pettit said she enjoys the life of being a baseball player's wife. She likes visiting new places and meeting new people. "But it's a real business," she said " and the men have to work hard to stay in the game. The pay is good, but then six-months out of the year there is no paycheck and believe me that takes real budgeting!"

When the players are on tour, Mrs. Pettit said their wives take the opportunity to do some house-cleaning and a little socializing among themselves. She said she likes baseball but with four children the only player she keeps tab on is her own!

The Pettit youngsters are proud of their father but they don't boast to other children. They keep their dad busy though — signing autographs for their little friends!

Paul has loved baseball since childhood and signed his first contract to play professional ball upon graduation from high school in 1950.

Praises Team, Bosses

Pettit said, "the Columbus Jets is made up of a swell bunch of guys. The men in the 'front office' are terrific too—which is unusual in this sport!"

Mrs. Pettit's only gripe about their traveling life is the problem of renting nice homes or apartments. "Baseball players' wives are always cleaning up someone else's house! Westgate Manor is the greatest! It's one of the nicest, cleanest places we've ever rented," she said.

"I like the Hilltop area very much. I especially appreciated the Welcome Wagon caller. The only other place we ever received a community welcome was California. I think it's a terrific service because it makes you feel at home in a new area right away," said Mrs. Pettit.

List Nine Jet Players Living In This Area

Welcome Wagon hostesses, Ethel Coffman, of 105 Eldon-av, and Helen Prout, 70 S. Sylvan-av, have supplied names of other Jet players residing in the West Side and Hilltop areas. They include: Spook Jacobs, Jim Baumer, Emil Panko, John Lipon, Dick Rand, Howie Goss, Hugh Pepper and Art Swanson, all living in Westgate Manor and Dave Wickersham, residing at 1443 W. Union-av.

A LONG WAY FROM HOME — Leo Rodriguez and his family still miss their home in Mexico but they have learned to adjust to the extensive travel demanded by a baseball player. Here, Leo sits with his wife, Beatrice, and their children, Norma and Leo, Jr.

Leo Rodriguez Jr. Can Say 'Play Ball... And That's All!

The traveling life of a baseball player and his family taxes a person's ability to adjust to new surroundings enough without the added disadvantage of not speaking the same language.

This problem is the one being faced now by Leo Rodriguez, his wife, Beatrice, and their children, Leo jr., 4, and Norma, 5, all natives of Mexico. They are residing at 2190 Safford-av.

Leo, shortstop for the Jets, has picked up a fair command of English during his eight years in baseball but he still has some difficulty in explaining himself.

Mrs. Rodriguez speaks only a few words of English. Leo, jr. can only say "play ball" but that made him an instant hit with the Jet players. Norma seems to be interested in just the bare necessities — she can say "your welcome, thank you, okay and shut-up!"

This is Leo's first year with the Jets. He said (in a combination of Spanish and English) that he likes the team and the city. He added that the other players have been helpful and understanding concerning his language barrier.

Leo plays baseball in the United States about six months each year. He then plays in the Mexican Coast League for several months in the fall. Following this he takes his family home, which is in Torreon, Mexico, for a little relaxation.

The Rodriquez family prefers baseball life in California because there are more Spanish-speaking people there. However, Leo said they have found several families in Columbus who speak their language which keeps them from getting too homesick.

Leo signed a contract to play professional baseball right after graduating from high school. He said he became interested in the sport through two of his uncles who also played professional ball.

His goal is to play in the big leagues. When his playing days are over, Leo would like to go into coaching or teaching. He said, however, that when he is through with American baseball he and his family will return to Mexico to live.

Undulant fever in humans can come from brucellosis in animals.

MRS. GARY L. GLASS

Westgate Evangelical United Brethren Church was the setting for the June 1 wedding of Miss Jeannine Mider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Mider to Mr. Gary L. Glass, son of Mr. and and Mrs. H. Wendell Glass.

Vases of yellow majestic daises and white stock, chain of stouthern smilax and seven branch candelabras decorated the altar.

The bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her father. She wore a gown of silk organza fashioned with fitted bodice trimmed in alencon lace re-embroidered with pearls and sequins. The bouffant skirt extended into a cathedral train, accented with five rows of lace beading inter-twined with yellow satin ribbon, ending in yellow satin bows.

Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a cap of pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade arrangement of yellow sweetheart roses, white feathered carnations, lilies of the valley and ivy on a white Bible.

Cousin of the bride, Patti Jo Weigand served as flower girl. She wore an identical dress in minature with a cap of white daisies and carried a nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses, white feathered carnations and ivy.

Miss Judith Lavitchka, maid of honor and bridesmaids, Miss Julie Fiechter, Miss Sue Vergge, Miss Roberta Boriand and Miss Patricia McMillen wore dresses of yellow embroidered organdy over taffeta slips, designed with fitted bodices and very full skirts. All wore large picture hats of yellow organdy and carried baskets of daisies.

Mr. Micheal Ramsey served as best man and ushers were Mr. James Smith, Mr. Richard Hurd, Mr. Richard Glass, brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Jerry Mider, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Mider was gowned in moss green lace of princess design, trimmed with rhinestones and pearls and matching lace hat. She wore phalaenopsis orchids.

Following The Observance Of Independence Day Is An Appropriate Time To Read The Famous PRIMER FOR AMERICANS

You live in the United States of America. You are an American.

Real Americans like their country. They are proud of it. They think it is a good place to live. And they want to keep it good—to keep it getting better all the time.

Why is America the way it is? What makes it a good place to live? The answer is simply this:

Throughout our history most Americans have believed that every person has certain rights and duties and responsibilities.

Americans have believed that there are certain things people should do, and things they should not do.

They have also believed in certain things that people are, and are not.

These things that people believe are called principles. This book is an attempt to state the Principles of America in simple, primer fashion so that you can understand them, learn them, and remember them.

This is important. It was because earlier Americans believed in these principles and guided their lives by them, that America has grown to be the good place it is.

If all of us learn and remember these principles—if we also guide our lives by them—then we can help to keep America growing better, and better, and better.

And if we follow these Principles of America, we can help make the world a better place to live in, too.

The Principles of America are these . . .

1. Each Person is of Importance and Value as an Individual.

This is the cornerstone . . . the foundation of all our other beliefs is a person's right to live his own life, to speak for himself, to choose and change his leaders.

From it comes our hatred of those "isms" under which the individual has no value or importance as a person, but is only one of many unimportant people who have to live the way their leaders tell them to.

Coming directly from that first principle are two others that are also part of the foundation of Americanism.

2. We Believe that All Men should Enjoy Personal Freedom.

3. We Believe that All Men are Created Equal.

It is worth noting that the Declaration of Independence expressed the belief that "all men are created equal." It did not state or imply a belief that men develop equally or have equal ability, or that they should ever be forced to an exact equality of thought, speech or material possessions.

That would be equality without freedom. Americans have always believed the two should go together.

In our Constitution, and in other laws of our land, there are set down principles to protect the rights and freedoms and equality of individuals.

4. The Right to Freedom of Speech.

This includes freedom of the press, of radio, of motion pictures, of every means by which men may express his thoughts.

5. The Right to Freedom of Assembly.

As we believe in the right of individual action, so we believe that individuals should be free to act together.

6. The Right to Freedom of Worship.

Not only is the individual free to worship as he will, but religious themselves are free and equal.

7. The Right to Security of Person and Property.

Not just one, but three Amendments to the Constitution (4th, 5th and 14th) protect against illegal search and seizure, or loss of life, liberty, or property, without "due process of law."

8. The Right to Equal Protection before the Law.

An individual's are equally important, so laws must apply equally to all, without special privileges for any group.

9. The Right to Freedom from Slavery.

This includes "the right to quit," for no individual may be forced to work for another.

10. The Right to Petition the Government.

The right of the individual to "petition the government for redress of grievances" is evidence of the American belief that government is the servant, not the master, of the people.

11. The Right to Vote for people of your choice.

This is the individual's most potent weapon in the protection of his rights and freedoms . . . a weapon that is to be effective must be constantly and wisely used.

Other Principles hold that every man has . . .

12. The Right to a Good Education.

13. The Right to Live where he pleases.

14. The Right to Work where he wants to.

15. The Right to Belong to an Organization.

16. The Right to Own Property.

17. The Right to Start his Own Business.

18. The Right to Manage his Own Affairs.

19. The Right to Make a Profit or to Fail, depending on his Own Ability.

There are other, similar rights of individual action which are Principles of America, but all of these individual rights may be combined in these two broad principles . . .

20. Every Man is entitled to Freedom and Equality of Opportunity.

21. Every Man may Earn his Living When, Where, and How he wants to.

There are also Limiting Principles . . .

Principles of individual freedom sometimes clash with those of individual equality. Therefore our rights as individuals must be limited, and those limitations are themselves principles.

22. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with those of Other Individuals.

Your right to swing your arms stops where the other fellow's nose starts.

23. The Rights of any Individual shall not Interfere with the Welfare of the People.

Freedom of speech does not give the individual the right to shout "fire" in a crowded theatre.

24. Every Individual owes Obedience to the Laws under which he Lives.

The individual has the right to talk against a law, to work and vote to change that law, but NOT to disobey that law.

Principles that are Patterns of Behavior . . .

Many of our principles of individual freedom and equality are guaranteed to us by law. But we have other beliefs, other general rules of action and conduct that have grown to the status of principles. And these too, are foundations of Americanism.

25. A Man shall be Judged by his Own Record.

A man's family background, his race or his religion, is not as important as what that man himself can do, for Americans believe a man must stand on his own feet.

26. A Man is Free to Achieve as much as he can.

We believe that where any boy may become President, where any man may achieve greatness, there is the greatest incentive for every man to do his best.

27. To Achieve anything, a Man should be Willing to Work.

Americans have always known that "you don't get something for nothing," that to get anything takes a willingness to work.

28. Achievement also Depends upon the Ability to do a Good Job.

Add to "willingness to work" the ability to produce results and the combination is the basis for most individual achievement in our country.

29. Every Man has the Right to a Fair Share of the Results of his Work and his Ability.

Because of this belief, America has not only produced more goods, but they have been more fairly and more widely shared by more people than in any other country.

30. Security is the Ability of a Man to Provide for himself.

The only true security for any individual is the opportunity, the ability, and the determination to work and plan and save for his own present and future. Self-reliance is vital to individual independence and personal freedom. No man can be "proud and free" who depends on others for his security.

31. When an Individual cannot Provide his own Security, the Responsibility should be Assumed by Others.

We believe that no one should starve, or be without adequate clothing and shelter, so those who have more than their basic needs share the responsibility of providing the essentials of security for those who need help.

32. Each Individual must Deal Fairly with others.

Honesty, fairness, and personal integrity are virtues that help free and independent individuals get along with each other without losing their independence.

33. Fair and Free Competition is a Good Thing.

Americans have always believed that competition among individuals or groups encourages greater effort which in turn brings greater benefits to all.

34. Cooperation among Individuals is Vital.

Freemont Bannstrown has said: "The freedom to compete vigorously accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth."

Principles of Individual Responsibility . . .

Freedom for individuals carries with it an equal responsibility to use that freedom wisely. If we wish to remain free, we must faithfully fulfill this responsibility.

35. The Individual is Responsible for himself and his Family.

He must protect them and provide for their present and future well-being.

36. The Individual has Responsibilities to the Groups of which he is a Part.

He must give of his best to his community, his church, his employer, his union, and to every group in which individuals cooperate for their mutual benefit.

37. The Individual has Responsibilities to his Country.

He must be an active citizen, interesting himself in local, state, and national government, voting wisely, thinking and speaking and acting to preserve and strengthen freedom, equality and opportunity for every individual.

38. The Individual has Responsibilities to the World.

Man's horizons have expanded. What happens in the world affects him, and his actions can affect the world. Today, therefore, each man has a responsibility to act—and to encourage his country to act—so that freedom and cooperation will be encouraged among the people and the nations of the world.

For America's Future

Most of us have faith in our country's ability to move forward, to improve, to grow, to provide more and more individuals with more and more of everything they want and need in life...

If we, the people of the United States, want to have more material benefits, we must believe in and follow these two principles:

39. The only way we can Have More is to Produce More; and

40. As we Produce More, we must make it possible for More and More People to Enjoy that which we Produce.

If we, the people of the United States, want to have a better life, spiritually as well as materially . . .

41. We must stand firmly for our Beliefs, our Rights, our Principles.

There are those who would whip away our confidence so that their special brand of tyranny might creep into America. They must not succeed. So, let us ask of every plan, or act, or idea...

Is it With or Against the Principles of America?

Playground Reports

At McKinley . . .

A wiener roast held at McKinley Playground Thursday evening in celebration of July 4 was attended by almost 100 children and parents.

The scene at McKinley and Central-ave was set by a roaring bonfire and lively games.

Art activities for the coming week will center around the construction of lanterns for the citywide lantern parade. This year's theme will represent heavenly bodies such as the moon, stars and sun. The pageant at the season's end will carry out this theme also.

Formation of a volleyball team at McKinley last week caused great interest. This group of boys and girls of intermediate age will play against other community playgrounds, said Barbara Hill, Recreation Aide.

At Sunshine . . .

Physical fitness tests are now being given children at Sunshine Recreation Center. The tests are based on standards set up by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Any child who wishes to compete in these tests and receive an AAU Certificate should contact Martha Clark or Fred Behmer, Sunshine's girls and boys athletic directors, at the center or by calling CA. 4-0560.

Sunshine is now offering arts and craft classes to children of all ages. Classes will be held Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, 1 to 4 p.m. Special classes are making lanterns for the West Sectional Lantern Parade at Westgate Park, July 16.

At Dana . . .

Dana Playground held a treasure hunt last Wednesday. More than 40 children divided into three teams searched for the 24 clues leading to the hidden treasure. Team leaders were Daniel Simpson, Marcia Davis and Beatrice Weikert. Marcia Davis' team took top honors by finding the treasure which was candy and was shared with everyone.

Here are some bits of interest noticed around the playground: Wilbert Ivory, 9, can do over 30 perfect push-ups; Paulette McCann, 10, and Charlyne Bocook, 10, can do knee circles and hip circles on the horizontal bar; Beatrice Weikert, 13, can do seat circles on the horizontal bar; Jerry Humphreys, 8, can hold a perfect inverted balance position on the rings; Ernest Smith, 9, is the champion four-square player for his age group.

Jack Nickelson, Bill Chamberlain, Daniel Simpson and Robert Simpson have all passed their Physical Fitness requirements and are waiting for their AAU certificate. Sharon Holbrook, 11, made a score of more than 200 in Pick-Up Sticks; Charles Ivory, 13, works constantly to hold a chin-board stand.

Pack 225 Invades Blacklick Woods For Monthly Meet

Plan Birthday Party

Post 225 will have a birthday celebration July 24, in honor of two of its members, Paul Hartley and Kenny Martin. The event is to be held at the home of Jack Fravel, and is being directed by Jim Demorest. The party will be an informal outdoor event with dancing, games, prizes, refreshments and plenty of fun promised for the explorers and their dates.

Members of the post are currently selling fudge for 75 cents a pound. Proceeds from the sale will help finance the Kentucky Lincoln Trail hike to be taken this fall.

Aug. 10, the Parents Auxiliary will sponsor a family picnic at Camp Lazarus picnic grounds. All members of pack, troop and post are invited to attend.

Claimants Needn't Rush For Extended Benefits

Claimants who wish to take advantage of the Ohio Temporary Extended Unemployment Compensation Act, which becomes effective Sunday, July 13, need not crowd into the local Bureau of Unemployment Compensation office on Monday, July 14, said Manager Ralph E. Gabele.

Gabele added that claimants should come to the office on the day of the week assigned to them under their former claim. In this way, they will not need to wait in line.

Individuals are also requested to bring their claims record books and any other forms or notices pertaining to their exhausted claim.

The act, which was signed by Governor C. William O'Neill on June 28, will effect those persons who have, since June 30, 1957, exhausted all rights to state benefits. They may be eligible under this temporary program to receive 50 per cent of the amount payable under such exhausted claims.

YMCA Plans Baseball Class For Small Fry

The Hilltop YMCA is studying the possibility of having a Saturday morning baseball instruction period and league for boys seven and eight years old. Eight year olds participating in "Little Nine" would be ineligible.

All activity will take place at the YMCA ball diamonds on Valleyview-dr. Parents are urged to attend.

Adult help has been offered by the Hilltop Y's Men's Club. These men will be assigned to groups of boys as coaches and managers. Anyone wishing to enroll a boy in this program may secure a blank at the Hilltop YMCA.

It is hoped that the program might start on Saturday, July 19. Each boy enrolling must be a member of the Hilltop YMCA.

City Bus Line Changes Here Due Monday

Effective Monday, July 21, Mound-st and Sullivant-av bus lines will be re-routed and the Sullivant line will be converted from trolleys to motor coaches and extended. The changes are necessary because of construction of the Mound-Sandusky Expressway.

Utilities Director Ford M. Pickens informed City Council Monday night that the Columbus Transit Company would be ready for the switch to diesels July 21.

Twelve new buses for the line are expected to be delivered to the company this week.

Council approved the action Feb. 17 of this year. In doing so, the city "mortgaged" its power to order CTC to buy new equipment until Dec. 31, 1959.

Edward Pellissier, vice-president of the bus firm, told this newspaper that the full cost of the switch is still undetermined. "Cost of the new buses was $320,000, but all of our trolley equipment and wires will have to be junked — and that's expensive! It's all in good condition but the company has no further use for it," said Pellissier.

He added that all of the new buses are just off the assembly line and are the latest in modern 51-passenger diesel coaches. The 1938 model trolleys now in use will be retired from service.

Will Extend To Demorest

Pellissier said five buses operate on the Sullivant line during off-peak hours and 16 during rush hours. The line will be extended to Demorest-rd, however schedules will remain about the same as the ones at present.

The Sullivant-av line will be separated from that of the Cleveland-av line. The latter will remain in trolley operation.

Although expressway construction caused CTC changes on both the Sullivant-av and W. Mound-st lines, contractors have assured the bus firm it can route both lines across Sandusky-st via W. Town-st without interruption of service throughout the construction period. Therefore, work will continue on the expressway overpass at W. Town-st while buses pass underneath.

New Routes Given

Effective Monday the Sullivant-av bus route will be as follows: from High-st west on Town-st to Davis-av, south on Davis to Sullivant, west on Sullivant-av to S. Huron-av, north on Huron to Wicklow-rd, west on Wicklow to Demorest-rd, south on Demorest to Sullivant, east on Sullivant following the same route downtown.

Also beginning Monday, the Mound-st line will be changed to the following: from downtown across the Scioto River on W. Main-st continuing to W. Rich-st, west on Rich to McDowell-st, north on McDowell to W. Town-st, west on Town to Davis-av, south on Davis to W. Mound-st, west on Mound-st following present route.

One-way traffic restrictions on Davis-av will be lifted and parking will be banned on both sides of the street while buses use the thoroughfare.

'Pop' Reid Retires From Gateman Post

Ancil "Pop" Reid, a cheery and spry 82-year-old, has retired as gateman of the Juvenile Diagnostic Center where he has worked since 1942.

Prior to his position as day-watchman at the center, Reid for many years operated a Sohio station in Columbus. In 1942, at the age of 66, he decided to surrender his lease on the station, and, through a relative who worked at the Juvenile Bureau, learned of an opening at the center for a driver-lawnkeeper. He was hired to perform these duties until 1949 when a fence was built around the area. He was then named gateman (day-watchman) for the center.

"Pop," who claims to have not an enemy in the world, is a widower of almost 30 years, and has a son who is a railroad engineer in Indiana. His nearest companion for the past several years has been a small, alert dog named "Brownie." The two are a familiar sight around the center. "Brownie," of rather dubious ancestry, helps his master tend the gate, and has a decided aversion to reporters and cameras.

"Pop" was honored with an open house at the center on the afternoon of June 13. Dr. Roger Gove, superintendent of the agency, presented him with a certificate of service, and employes of the center gave him a watch and a billfold "with something in it."

During his years on the job, "Pop" says that he has never had a serious scrape with any of the boys at the center. He attributes this to the fact that there has always been a feeling of mutual respect between him and the boys. He recalls that during his years as a driver he quite frequently took boys back and forth from downtown, and that none of his passengers attempted to jump from the truck or otherwise try to get away.

"Pop's" health is still good, but he opined that a man rubbing 83 years of age just ought to lean back and take it easy. His friends agree that he has earned the privilege to take a breather.

He and "Brownie" will continue to reside at his home at 1977 Sullivant-av.

Rites Held For Orman Spencer

Orman E. Spencer, 140 N. Burgess-av, died Thursday at his home. Chief clerk of the Columbus Engineering Division before his retirement on Mar. 1, he had been an employe of the city for 28 years.

He was a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, F&AM and Mentorwood Lodge, Knights of Pythias.

Surviving are his wife, Daisy; daughters, Mrs. Robert W. Gainer, Mrs. Harlan Sission; four grandchildren; brother, Guy Spencer; sisters Mrs. Blanche Henry, Mrs. Lora Koch, Mrs. Mabel Newsome and Mrs. Cora McGrath.

S-W Camp Week Set

Boy Scout troops of the Southwest District will be encamped at Camp Lazarus, near Delaware, during the week beginning July 20.

Huron May Get Tunnel For School

Latest planning in the new Hilltop Community Center on Valleyview-dr calls for a revision in the location of a tunnel to new Westmoor Junior High School and remodeling of a barn into a youth center.

This was revealed Tuesday when the City Parks Commission, in company with school and city officials, gathered at the area to view progress.

Parks Superintendent Ray Dietz said planners strongly believe the tunnel access to the south of the school should be an extension of Huron-av instead of Westmoor. Terrain there would make it easier to build necessary ramp approaches of 100 feet or more. The tunnel, electrically lighted, would allow youngsters and their bikes safe passage to the school. Negotiations with the New York Central are now being held, and planners hope to finish the project before the school is finished in February.

Officials hope to salvage and remodel a barn at the northwest corner of the budding community center. The spot would serve immediate needs for a recreation and picnic center.

Dietz praised the cooperative venture by so many groups calling it "one of the nicest things Columbus has ever done."

Westlake Suggests Tie-In With East-West Freeway

State officials this week confirmed that state land could be made available for an extension of Grandview-av south to Broad-st. Their letter to Russell Drake, city clerk, was read before council last Monday at the request of Councilman W. Ralston Westlake.

Charles Noble, state director of highways, indicated that the state was interested in seeing the roadway built since it would serve a state highway laboratory and garage projected on the State Hospital land.

Noble stated his opinion and that of Director of Public Works Richard Larimer concerning financing of the plan. He wrote: "Grandview-av is not on a state highway nor does it appear feasible that it would be added to the state highway system.

"We had thought that the city of Columbus was glad to cooperate in establishment of this extension as a city street."

Hilltop resident Westlake told Hartley Newspapers that he hopes the project can "dovetail" with plans to build an east-west expressway from the city to West Jefferson. "If the Grandview extension can be engineered as an access road to the freeway we'd be killing two have 90 per cent federal money doing it," Westlake said.

A New York consultant, Prager-Kavanaugh, is expected to present within a month its engineering study of the southwest leg of the interchange to be built in the vicinity of Dublin-rd and Grandview-av.

"After it arrives we'll know where to move from there," continued Westlake, "but there certainly should be no need for building two parallel roadways. Crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad just north of the state hospital also poses a problem."

The consultants now are engrossed in finding a suitable place to connect the freeway to the near-downtown expressway system. Dumping traffic onto the Spring-Sandusky interchange would overload the cloverleaf, engineers say. To connect it now to the Mound-Sandusky interchange would mean altering a design already under construction.

Delinquency Discussion Is Set Saturday

A probation officer of the county courts will discuss local juvenile delinquency problems Saturday at the invitation of the Hilltop Betterment League.

The public is invited to hear Clifford O. Tyree at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Hall, 226 Highland-av. "Parents in particular should attend," said league president Julious Tanner. Refreshments will be served.

Tanner has appointed two more members to serve with Wilbert Pack on his public relations committee. They are H. O. Shelton and William A. Colwell. Shelton is deputy clerk of the Ohio Supreme Court and also secretary of the Deacons and Joint Boards of Oakley Avenue Baptist Church. Colwell is with the Slum Clearance and Rehabilitation commission and is a trustee of Oakley Avenue Church.

Dick Becker Finds Old-Time Hilltop Record, Vintage '18

A time-worn issue of an old Hilltop Record popped up this week. Dated Nov. 21, 1918, it was printed in the second year of the newspapers publication.

The Record, then a six-page tabloid published by S. J. Westlake who died last spring, was discovered by Richard Becker, of 2646 W. Broad-st, while rummaging through his cottage in Shawnee Hills near the Scioto River.

Becker, who is a songwriter and plays the guitar, banjo, saxophone and drums, was an endman in 22 of the 25 Hilltop Minstrels. He brought the old newspaper to the Hilltop Record office thinking that some interesting comparisons could be made between the one of 1918 and the Records of today. Here are a few observations: The tabloid's front page carried very little "live" news about this area. It featured a listing of church services, announcements and even several ads. An amusing letter, supposedly from Germany's Kaiser Wilhelm to his son, was also placed on the front page. It was very much like the "Dear Son" column now appearing in the Record.

Display advertising is one of the quickest ways to note a substantial change in times. Biggest ads were placed for the J. W. Lewen Grocery Store, Millikin Brothers' Grocery and the Economy Variety Store.

20-Cent Coffee Sold

Bulk coffee was selling for 20 cents a pound while round steak sold for 29 cents a pound. A bushel of potatoes sold for $1.75.

The newspaper's policies were evidently different in those early days. Today, the Record's most important stories and features are about people and happenings in Hilltop. However, in the 1918 edition, the largest story of the week, allotted approximately 30 column inches, was purchased from a newspaper syndicate and had nothing to do with this area.

The old tabloid announced that women belonging to the Glenwood Unit of the Red Cross were preparing gift packages for wounded Italian soldiers who fought in World War 1.

Another interesting story began, "There will be a jubilation and praise service on account of Ohio's dry victory, at Glenwood M. E. Church . . ."

An average of from eight to 10 want ads appeared in the early Hilltop paper, The Hilltop Record of today averages around 500 classified ads per issue.

Westgate Crowd 'Digs' Native Dance

MAORI "HAKA" REPLACES JITTERBUG —Entertainment provided Friday night at the dance at Westgate Park had a foreign flavor. Hilltop teenagers gave rapt attention to David Peart, a foreign exchange student from New Zealand, as he did a Maori tribal dance called "Haka," complete with flax skirt. David said the skirt was given to him before he came to this country by an old Maori chieftain who used it in greeting Queen Elizabeth on a royal tour. Jackpot Insignia Worth 50 'Dollars' This Week

Still soaring upwards, no claimants on last week's "Confederate" prize money puts today's insignia value at the half-hundred mark.

Jackpot insignia, printed on an ad in one copy of this issue, is worth $50 in "Confederate" currency to any subscriber who spots it. Ten other insignia, also printed on ads in 10 other copies of the newspaper, are worth one "Confederate" bill each.

All advertisers appearing in the current issue of the newspaper will honor "Confederate" money for any purchase made in their stores.

Any subscriber whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" money.

Subscribers finding a lucky insignia may redeem the newspaper at Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st, before noon on Saturday.

Employes of carriers of the newspaper and members of their families are not eligible.

Garber TV Sales, Service Firm Is A Family Interest

Garber's Television Sales and Service, located at 3307 Sullivant-av., is one of those rare firms where "business and relatives" have been combined successfully.

"It all began in a garage at the rear of my home at 141 S. Harris-av," said Henry Garber, co-owner of the store. His partners are his sons, Bill and Ken.

Garber's other son, Dale, is in the camera and sound department of a local television station. Henry's wife, Freda, also helps out in the store, which rounds out the whole family's interest in electronics and television.

Henry Garber

BUILT STORE RECENTLY

The Garbers operated their service store for four years in their garage before building their present storeroom about two years ago. Henry was an experimental mechanic at the Yeager Machine Co. for 18 years prior to opening his store with his sons.

Bill, Ken and Dale have all completed electronics engineer training at Franklin University.

The firm specializes in television servicing, auto radios, high fidelity equipment and sterophonic sound outfits.

Henry said the store's "9 to 5" hours don't leave much time for hobbies and sports but he does try to get a little pistol practice in once in a while.

When Garber worked for Yeager he traveled on business through every state in America. "I don't like to travel now because I like Ohio best especially Columbus and especially Hilltop," he said.

Lantern Parade Planned Tonight At Harder Lake

Harder Lake in Westgate Park will reflect the flickering light of hundreds of lanterns tonight at 7:30 as children parade with their handwork, all made on playgrounds conducted by the Columbus Recreation Department.

With shapes and materials limited only by their imaginations, children employ cans, boxes of varying sizes and papier mache formed over wire frames.

Awards will be given for the best executed lanterns and the ones with most original theme.

Group Petitions Marconi Blvd. Name Change

Lincoln Historical Association of Ohio, Inc., 280 E. Broad-st, has filed a petition with Columbus City Council requesting that Marconi-blvd be renamed Lincoln-blvd.

The organization hopes that this change can be effected in time for the Lincoln Sesquicentennial Celebration, scheduled for 1959.

Council was unable to rule on the petition in last Monday's meeting but the request remains on the docket to be taken up at some future date.

Lincoln Historical association is currently sponsoring a tree planting campaign throughout Ohio to commemorate Lincoln as well as refurbish the state's natural resources.

Street Annex

Another idea, publicized early this week, was that the freeway (Route 40 west) could link with Sandusky-st at a point between Rich and Town-sts. However, it was pointed out that this would put three interchanges quite close to each other, meaning a lot of lane switching for drivers.

Clerk Drake said city council would probably be asked to pass a "resolution of intent" soon on plans for extension of Grandview-av to the south.

South-West Loses More Territory

State School Board has transferred a tract of 40.26 acres, lying east and north of Binns School, from Southwestern Local School District to Columbus School District.

Approximately 75 school children live in the Wiltshire Heights Addition, newly-annexed to Columbus.

The area is bounded on the south by Briggs-rd, on the north by Rosedale, east by the extension line of Racine and on the west by Binns School.

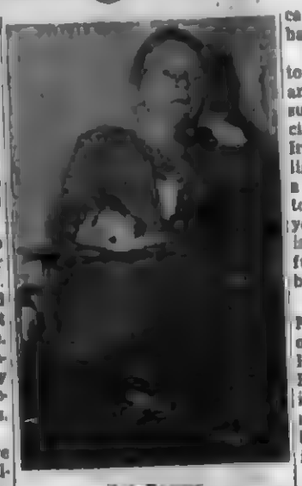
GETS CLAGGETT FUND AID



To Be Self-Supporting Is Goal Of Man Living In Wheelchair

Wanted. About 20 goodwilled persons who have need of a 24-hour telephone answering service and a desire to help start a handicapped man in business.

That, in a nutshell, is wish of several groups who have the facilities and the money to help a confined South Sider earn his own way.

A cripple since birth, Bob Rogers, 23, lives in a wheelchair in his mother's home at 54 W. Koesuth-st. His joints are rigid . . . calcified. Only his left shoulder and jaws are free. Chewing gum isn't just a pleasure to him . . . it's a necessity to keep his jaws functioning, according to his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Whitehead.

Bob has been under the care of Dr. E. E. McNamee, 3483 Sullivant-av since infancy. For many years the doctor has treated him for something resembling advanced rheumatoid arthrisis. Wracking pain and fever was an everyday occurrence until miracle drugs came along. He's on Cortisone now and will depend on it for the rest of his life. The pain is practically gone but Bob will always remain in the wheelchair the Southern Kiwanis club recently gave him.

As his patient has grown, Dr. McNamee has hoped Bob could become self supporting. Profits as a wrestling promoter have been spotty and office work is a welfare office provided an income next to none. "Despite those popular 'hire the handicapped' promotions, the going has been tough," said Bob.

Several groups stand ready to help young Rogers in the answering service venture, first suggested by his doctor. Financial backing is provided by the Ira Claggett Trust Fund, established according to the will of a physically handicapped Hilltop businessman who died seven years ago. The doctor himself is one of the trustees of the fund, along with Charles Campbell and Attorney Phil Stout.

With a boost from Hilltop Kiwanis club they have promise of a six months lease on a S. High-st office two blocks from Bob's home and have furnished it. The telephone company is ready to install a 10-line switch board and help sign up the firm.

Bob says his service would benefit a wide range of businesses. Calls to wrecker service anytime day or night would be received and dispatched immediately. Similar service could help plumbers, TV repairmen, veterinarians, photographers . . . even doctors and lawyers.

Many of the calls to overloaded offices in daytime could be relayed to him. His rates would be $17.50 a month for 24-hour service or $13.50 for office hour calls.

Bob has been disappointed in first attempts to enlist customers. In 1000 contacts he didn't find a subscriber. "If they only knew that one missed telephone sale might pay for the service I think they'd sign," he smiled.

Bob apparently is used to obstacles and is determined to get started somehow. For those who are interested his number is HI. 4-7654.

The money is distributed four times a year by the state auditor and goes into the general fund of a city, village or township for general operating expenses.

May Erect A Marker At Historic Gift St. Site

The city's traffic commission has taken under consideration a request by the Franklin County Historical Society to erect a marker at the 1812 headquarters of Gen. William Henry Harrison, a brick house [illegible] W. Broad-st and Gift-st.

Other markers included in the request would be erected at the site of the Henry Howe home, land which is now occupied by the First Congregational Church at 444 E. Broad-st, and at the John Brickel boulder near the new post office.

Jets-Kiwanis Night Proceeds Will Benefit Young Campers

Musical entertainment will highlight the program.

Proceeds from the tickets will be used to send underprivileged children to the Big Brothers Camp in Hocking County.

Richard Hahn of Columbus Downtown Club is general chairman.

Two Visits, Too Many, Irk Hilltop Victim Of Vandals

"Why can't parents keep a better eye on their children," asks William A. Crawford, 185 N. Burgess-av, who has been the victim of vandals for the second time in a month.

A month ago prowlers entered his garage, forced their way into his station wagon, backed it into a utility pole, tore down a street sign, and abandoned it at Eldon and Ridge-avs. A neighbor reported seeing some youngsters drive away in the car about 1:30 a.m.

Crawfords felt the bravado of the group again a week ago. This time he reported they broke open the car's doors and smashed most of the windows. "My insurance company is getting a little impatient," said Crawford, who knows of no motive for the attacks.

An employee of the probate court, Crawford is the father of the Crawford Brothers, a trio of teenage singers who have enjoyed success since their appearance on the Herb Shriner show several years ago.

Westway Post's Annual Festival Show Underway

Games, Concessions and side shows will be featured each evening with matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoons.

Water battle between volunteer fire companies will be the grand finale of the festival.

Proceeds of the affair will be used for community service and youth activities. Post Commander Sam Weller is general chairman.

Six West Area Agencies Benefit From UA Support

Six community service agencies located on the West Side are included in the United Appeal goal for $2,368,470.

The drive target, set this week, will be sought during the annual appeal next fall.

The goal is 2.25 per cent more than raised last year, the smallest increase in UA's seven-year history.

Agencies located on the West Side are Goodwill Industries, Gladden Community House, St. Euphrasia School, West Side Day Nursery, Boys' Club—West Side, Volunteers of America.

Amounting to $106,000 over last year's total, the quota was recommended by the UA citizens screening committee after a month's study of agency needs and the community's economic conditions. The committee is made up of volunteers representing givers in industry, business, labor and the professions.

Charles W. Medick, drive chairman, called the goal "reasonable and attainable."

"I am well aware," he added, "that we are not fully meeting agency requirements with this goal. However, in view of today's economy, the goal is as fair as can be when we balance needs against the public's ability to give."

He concluded, "I am sure that people of good-will will pick up for those who can't."

Camp Out Five Days

Two boys in Troop 89 have just completed a five-day camping trip, living off the land for the last two days of the trip. Bob Stinson and Norman (Blackie) Myers accompanied 14 other boys from Troop 89 on a two-day campout at Coach Camp last Monday and Tuesday, then decided to stay three more days. Possessing only enough food for five meals, including several live chickens, the boys ate berries, fish, and plants for the remainder of the adventure.

Tuesday, July 15, some of Troop 89's Scouts visited Mayor Sensenbrenner's office to help launch the forthcoming "Keep Columbus Clean" campaign. Scouts from all over the city are co-operating in this effort by distributing cards on the subject to Columbusites.

Local Scouts Visit 27,000 Acre Ranch

Three Hilltop boys arrived home Monday following a three-week expedition to the National Philmont Scout Ranch at Cimmarron, New Mexico.

Dave Wood, 462 Nashoba-av, Larry Miller, 228 N. Oakley-av, and Dick Sines, 2446 Steele-av were among the youths who made up this, the second expedition in a series of three.

Dave Morris, 171 S. Roys-av, Russell De Marz, 834 S. Stephen-dr, and Jim Willis, 894 Wiltshire-rd, were part of the first group to go to the ranch. They returned July 4.

The Philmont Ranch is a 27,000-acre reservation for Explorer Scouts only, donated by oil man, Walt Phillips. The ranch is supported financially by profits from Phillips' Philtower office building in Tulsa, Ohio.

The local scouts report the ranch is abundant with game, bear and deer; and that rainbow trout are plentiful in the streams. The only drawbacks to the trip, they said, seem to be necessary pack burros and blistered feet!

The third expedition, which is at the ranch now and will return July 24, includes Darrell Whitt, 841 S. Ogden-av, Don Payne, 231 S. Dakota-av, and Jack Keller, 2041½ Avondale-av.

Vacation Time Provides Opportunity For Some Profitable Brainstorming

By Ray Shaffer

A "vacation with pay," and a "vacation that pays" are two very different things. The latter can be just as relaxing as the first but certainly much more profitable.

More often than not, a vacation with pay merely means a few weeks away from the plant or office. The employe gets paid for doing absolutely nothing and for turning his thoughts to anything other than his occupation.

A vacation that pays is basically the same with one exception—while the body may shy from any laborious activity, the mind does not completely close shop! The employe or employer taking his or her leave, whether at the beach, at a resort or just in the back yard, uses the leisure hours to reappraise business and collect fresh ideas on improvements and promotions.

We would like to stop here, to say that this article will probably attract irate letters from men and women working for other people. "Why, after devoting 50 weeks each year to help make money for someone else, should I spend my measly two-week vacation thinking of ways to make more money for my boss?" This would be the common complaint of an employe.

The answer is plain. If in any way, or through any suggestion, an employe can aid his firm build a better and more profitable business, then he will naturally benefit by improved working conditions, larger salary and possibly a promotion.

The "get away from it all" vacation usually ends with its participants glad to be home again and badly in need of several quiet weeks in a sanitarium.

However, this "vacation that pays" thing works a little differently. The vacationing worker, in this case, does not usually spend half his well-earned leave driving his baggage-laden car from one end of the country to the other. Driving these days, requires the complete concentration of the motorist and leaves little time for serious thought involving the job back home.

He and his family may stay home most of the time and take several short trips to grandma's farm or to the lake. A few weeks spent in a rented cottage near a beach can be just as relaxing. At any rate, the worker takes it easy, enjoys life and does a little painless thinking.

Experts say that despite the "recession," potential buyers are still "out there." It's up to good business men and merchants to go out and get them with a fresh approach, better promotions and more advertising.

The worker or business owner who returns from a vacation that pays will not come back tired or dreading that first Monday morning on the job. He'll come to the office or store eager to talk to fellow employes about his new ideas and set them in motion. His pecuniary returns from his summer leave will, we believe, far out-weigh the initial vacation pay check he received.

Ticklers . . . . . By George

Phophets 'Lived' Writings

It is necessary, when reading stories such as that of Cain and Abel, to realize that these stories have a moral and spiritual significance far beyond that of historical events.

We must realize that before the Bible could be written, it had to be experienced. There are moral conceptions that, as originally perceived by saints and prophets, might be compared to the products of the great inventive genius in the physical world.

Try to dismiss from your mind the development of the ages; try to visualize what it meant for men originally to perceive these things. They were spiritual discoverers.

The first is the sacredness of human life. The second is that man has responsibility for his fellowman, that he is his brother's keeper. Millions of men have not discovered that and will not acknowledge it today. But the author of the story of Cain and Abel realized it clearly ages ago.

Then there is the concept of mercy. Even for Cain, who had committed a foul murder, there was the possibility of forgiveness and protection from the vengeance of his fellowmen. The mark of Cain was the mark of sin and violence, but it was also a mark to protect a man from mob violence.

How far ahead of her life today was the man of spiritual and moral vision who wrote this story? How far the world must go before it catches up with him.

Food Markets This Week by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits —Watermelon, cantaloupe, lemons, frozen berries.

Other Foods — fryers, ground beef, arm roast, ham, milk.

SEASON FOR SALADS

It's the season for salads—and a time when meal planning should be simple but can be extra special because of the great variety of fresh vegetables and fruits available. One way to please your family and beat the heat is to plan one main dish and for the other half of the meal—a huge tossed vegetable salad.

Summertime Greens — There are many to choose from so get acquainted with all your market offers. The fastest salad bowl sellers are lettuce, tomatoes, celery, cucumbers, peppers, escarole, endive and cabbage. Most any combination of these greens makes a good start for a tossed salad. Lettuce is the most widely used as a base but remember to add some darker greens such as spinach, romaine, or watercress for vitamin A. Combine less expensive ones with the higher priced greens. A prepackaged salad mixture is often more expensive than its main ingredient — cabbage.

When Selecting Greens, freshness is first — look for crisp green leaves free from blemish. The greener the leaf the greater the food value. A cool counter at the store is necessary to keep salad greens fresh. What happens between harvest and the time vegetables reach your family meal table decides how much vitamin C they still have to offer. If they have wilted, it's a safe bet that not much of this fragile vitamin is left. Even if they are revived or "crisped" in ice water or in the refrigerator, their vitamin C is not restored. Once they're washed, drain and pile lightly in a vegetable crisper or plastic bag to insure crispness.

Make It a Specialty—A salad can be as creative and colorful as you choose—so here's your chance to toss it to your own taste. Don't overlook the mid stand-bys as carrots, radishes and green onions to give variety in color, texture and flavor. Experiment with different or favorite salad dressings. If you're going gourment—any number of herbs, tarragon, rosemary or sweet basil will do the trick. Or add bits of cheese, chicken, tuna or ham for a heartier salad.

CABBAGE IS GOOD NOW

Cabbage is available most of the year; however, local domestic cabbage comes to market about the middle of July and is in good supply until autumn when Danish cabbage is available. An important crop economically, cabbage is also important nutritionally. Vitamin C is abundant in cabbage. One-half cup of raw or cooked cabbage will furnish one-third of the vitamin C recommended for one day. Yet a half cup contains only 12 calories. You can serve one-half cup shredded cabbage for one to two cents at the present time. It should be cooked in a minimum amount of water to preserve the vitamin C.

No Decision Yet In GM Meetings With UAW Here

Negotiations Tuesday morning between labor and management at General Motors Ternstedt plant ended with no definite agreements being made, according to Mrs. Sarah Campbell, president of Local 989, United Auto Workers.

The meeting, during which seniority and other grievances were discussed, was one of several brought on by the wildcat strike staged at the plant Thursday morning. The strike was reportedly not authorized by the union and Mrs. Campbell ordered picket lines disbanded Friday morning.

New Zealander Tries Bowling, Square Dancing During Visit

A "first" was marked for Columbus this last week-end when 66 international high school exchange students, sponsored by the American Field Service, visited the city enroute to New York City.

One of these students, David Peart of New Zealand, who stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kagay, 66 N. Roys-av, experienced several "firsts" of his own during his stay in Columbus—he square danced and bowled.

Will See President

These youths are among 1022 foreign high school students who have been attending American schools during the last year in Arizona, Washington, Montana and Oregon. For the past two weeks they have been traveling by bus to a number of U. S. cities on their way to visit President Eisenhower in Washington this week. Following this, they will go to New York, where they will depart for their homelands.

The student exchanges have been going on for several years but this is the first time any of the groups have visited Columbus. Mrs. Paul Kay, chairman of the American Field Service here as well as the Volunteer Services of Franklin County Red Cross, is responsible for this. Financially sponsoring the visit were a number of local service clubs.

Dave's first evening ran

something like this: He was treated by the Kagays to an outdoor supper using a charcoal grill. He remarked that most American families seem to have one of these grills!

Following several hours of television viewing and listening to records, Mike took Dave to a dance at Westgate Park. The New Zealander joined in all the American dances and treated the teenagers present to a Maori tribal dance called "Haka." He wore a skirt made of flax.

The Kagays then took Dave to a bowling alley where he got his first try at the sport. He got about six strikes and won a free game. Dave said he liked the game and hopes to try it again soon.

The group of students toured Lockbourne Air Force Base on Saturday morning and attended a special luncheon there. That evening, a cookout and dance was planned for the group at Cubbage Corners featuring American round and square dances plus foreign folk dances. The students left Sunday morning—tired but seemingly pleased with their Columbus visit and hosts.

Gets Oregon Diploma

Peart attended Madras High School, Madras, Ore., last year. While there, he collected honors in dramatics, public speaking, football, student council and National Honor Society.

Although he officially was graduated from Madras, his year's education here will not count toward his high school graduation in New Zealand. "I don't mind it because a year in the United States made it well worth the loss," said Dave.

Peart, whose parents operate a sheep ranch near Raglin, N. Z., hopes to become a rancher upon completion of his education.

"Education is easier here than in New England. However, although more stress is put on the social life in the American schools, many subjects are more practical here," said Dave. In his native schools, he has had three years of chemistry, three of Latin, one of French, one of German plus standard subjects, mathematics and English.

Made Tape Recordings

Here are some of Dave's impressions:

"Americans are warm, friendly and very open hearted. I believe my many hosts in the last year have been fair in showing me the good and bad in American life."

• "Cities in the United States are monstrous. Skyscrapers are new to me. In New Zealand, the highest any structure can be built is 13 stories. The highest one I ever saw before coming here was nine stories high.

• "America is a very rich country—however, the people are not as rich as I expected," Mike injected, "that's why the country is so rich!"

• "I have found girls here to be rather forward. But, I can't be a fair judge because I never had a date until I came to the United States. In New Zealand, kids who live in rural areas don't begin to date until after high school."

• "American movies were not new to me since we have them in our country. But, I sure will miss television which New Zealand does not have yet.

• "I believe the thing that has impressed me most about the United States is the general speed of living. Everything is faster here. In Oregon, people thought nothing about driving 70 or 80 miles per hour. The top speed on any road in New Zealand is 50!"

"Three American characteristics that I will always remember are gas stations, used car lots and bars!"

BRITISHER WRITES AFTER 15 YEARS

'Hoped And Prayed God Spared Your Son,' Woman, 82, Writes

A simple prayer-poem, penned 15 years ago by a distressed Hilltop mother of a son at war found its way back to her mailbox several days ago.

It arrived in an envelope postmarked Pewsey, Wiltshire, England, and was sketchily addressed to "Mrs. Herron or relative, N. Harris, Columbus, O." In it was a yellowed clipping from the London Daily Mail and a tidy letter from an 83-year-old Mrs. L. Gardiner.

Mrs. H. H. Herron, now of 71 Elden-av, said her prayer was written one lonely moment before Easter in 1943. Her son, Charles, had just been sent overseas—she didn't know where—and she was worried. The poem was printed in the Hilltop Record and a downtown newspaper and was sent on to the British press when her son's assignment was learned.

It won the hearts of many British mothers. They clipped it and sent it to their sons far and wide. Later Mrs. Herron began to hear from Australia, Scotland, Ireland and Capetown, S. Africa. The first letter was from a mother who had lost a son the morning the poem was printed. She told Mrs. Herron it was a comfort to her, as she had sent four boys to war. Mrs. Herron's first Christmas card every year comes from that mother.

Asked About Son

Mrs. Herron's latest letter said in part: "I have hoped and prayed that your own dear son may have been spared to return safely to you. (Ed. note: He did. Charles Herron is now in the insurance business in Chicago.) I hope there may be someone left to receive this and to know that many mothers joined with you in that lovely unselfish prayer . . . years have passed and peace is hard to rely on . . . still, please God, all may be peace and unity with all in His good time.

Mrs. Gardiner finished by telling about her family.

Mrs. Herron disclaimed that the verses have any professional polish, but said the last verse caught the eye of a British professor who set it to music. "Through arrangements with our War Department, permission was granted and a Prof. H. Arnold Smith published it widely in England," Mrs. Herron said, adding "and Prof. Smith later invited Charles to his home to hear it played."

Mrs. Herron has been a Hilltop resident since 1913. As past president of the Blue Star Mothers of America, Department of Ohio, her patriotic efforts are widely known here.

Her 1943 prayer for her airman son follows:

Dear God, please take my hand and lead Thou me.
The night is dark and gloom encircles me,
I did not ask or choose this path,
But it is one that I must take.
Help me to bravely walk and trust,
Hear my prayer for peace this day.

My son is over there somewhere, with other mothers' sons.
He was my baby, loved and cared for tenderly.
And was not taught to fight fellow-man.
But hate and greed imposed itself upon this world of ours
And he, like Your Son, was called upon to serve.
To give, if need be, his very life
That we may live.

Dear God, Your Son walked through the valley,
Let Him now walk beside our boys
To guide and lead them on to victory.
In Thy name and cause that honors all things good and beautiful.
And live as You intended man to live.

'Dear Son'

Chitlin' Switch
Sunday afternoon

Dear Jason:

Well, son, sure hope you had a nice Fourth of July. The Mayor of Chitlin' Switch passed a law where fireworks would not be allowed to be sold in town as they were too dangerous and I'll tell you, things would have been dull around here on the Fourth except for the fact that your paw's still exploded in the woods around midnight. That sort of livened things up for a spell.

Not too much has happened since I wrote you last week. I really think your married brother Zeke is finally off his rocker. One of those high pressure salesmen stopped by his place the other day and sold him six of those electric milking machines. As you know, Zeke is usually always broke and anyway he didn't need the six automatic milkers as he only owns one cow. The salesman out-talked your brother into taking the machines without any money and he took the cow as a down payment. Now Zeke will have to go and get the place wired for electricity.

Becky Plunkett, the assistant librarian at the Polecat Ridge Free Library is getting married next week for the sixth time. I just couldn't believe her when she told me the reason she got married so many times was because she just hadn't found the right man. I've come to the conclusion she's fickle. Last Saturday I went with her to the Bon Ton Department store to help her pick out a wedding dress. After she tried about ten on that were too tight, she finally struggled into one that didn't look too bad. She told the saleslgirl she'd take the dress if the store would guarantee that the dress was washable.

Your cousin, Harkimer, the one who was enrolled in that correspondence course school to be a doctor, flunked his final examinations and has to start all over again. Just to give you an idea how dumb he is, one of the questions in the examination asked him to describe a skeleton. "A bunch of bones with the people scraped off" is not the right answer.

Clem Snodgrass and his wife Ooolie opened up a combination lunch room and gas station down Racoon Junction way. His wife did the cooking and Clem pumped the gas and they really had a good setup but business was terrible. They hired one of those city fellows to come down and tell them the reason they were not having any folks in the lunch room was due to the electric sign they had up in front of the place. The sign kept flashing on and off all night long: EAT HERE AND FILL UP WITH GAS.

Guess that I'll have to close now as I've run out of news. Oh, yes, probably you saw on television where your cousin, Prunella Becker from Pasture Flats won first prize. They had a beauty contest there and Prunella won with no strain at all. Between you and me it wasn't her pretty face that got her first prize but she was the only one who could get that big ribbon across her chest which read: "Miss Pasture Flats of 1958".

Write son.
Your loving,
MOM.

Hot Weather Fishing Can Be Worth While

The weather is hot, so this is about hot weather fishing.

Phil McGinnis, 640 S. 18th-st, knows, as much as anybody in these parts about catching bass on sultry summer days. I had a little chat with Phil last Monday, and he told me that he really starts fishing during July and August—it's the best time. Phil had just completed a full weekend of fishing, and had caught 30 largemouth bass ranging from two to three pounds.

He caught them at his favorite fishing hole, the Scioto River above O'Shaughnessy Dam. McGinnis has fished extensively in the midwest, and believes the Scioto provides some of the best fishing in the country. It's pretty difficult to argue with him — where else could a man average 20 bass per day through the hot season?

Phil fishes all day long, right through the heat of the day. His theory is that bass will congregate in the shade, under logs and bushes, and behind rocks. There is little deep water in the upper end of the O'Shaughnessy, so the shady spots provide the only opportunity for fish to escape the heat. Phil makes short casts with a dark-colored plug that he makes himself. He throws it under all manner of stumps, snags, and brush. He fishes water other fishermen avoid because they are afraid of getting hung up and losing baits.

Speedboats May Help

Another McGinnis theory is that the wash from speedboats helps fishing. He claims that the wave action washes crawfish loose from the rocks, and that the bass go on a little feeding spree every time a big boat goes by. When fishing gets a little slow, Phil will run his boat up and down the shore a few times to stimulate the bass.

McGinnis shows the symptoms of a hot weather fisherman—his arms and face are sun-tanned the color of shoe leather. When fishing all day in this weather he takes an ice chest well supplied with drinking water. Sweat streams down his face, but he hardly notices it when the fish are hitting.

So you think fishing isn't any good this time of year? Well, think again. The bass are there for the angler willing to go after them. Oh yes, Phil claims this is an off year for O'Shaughnessy. Last year this time he was catching 25 to 30 bass a day!

LITTLE JET PLAY

In the past week's Little Jet play at Haunts the Braves, behind the three-hit pitching of George Shaffer, blasted the Giants 8 to 1. John Goodin, Mike Nolan and Shaffer sparked the winners in hitting.

The Yanks defeated the Jets 8 to 5 in the second game. Dan Grenner was the winning Yank pitcher and Mike Six and Mickey Plese were the teams leading hitters. Terry Thomas was the losing Jet hurler.

The Reds edged the Braves 1 to 0 in a pitching duel. Red pitcher Ron Friend gave up only one hit as did Brave hurler John Goodin. However Goodin gave up a home-run pitch to Red catcher Dick Groesinger. The first inning blow was the winning margin.

The Jets won their first game of the season by upsetting a first-place Cards team in an extra inning game. Sam Linn was the pitching and hitting star for the Jets. Don Van Order struck out 15 men and was the losing Card hurler.

Two games were cancelled because of rain and will be played at the end of the season.

The Haunts Junior boys' soft ball team blasted the Glenwood Center team 23 to 1. The league game was played at Haunts on July 11. Goodin, Shaffer, Ruzicka, Wedener, Karn, and Link sparked for Haunts.

Boys and girls from the playground did well in the South Sectional Track meet at South High. The Haunts group finished eleventh in the meet, which was attended by all playgrounds on the West, South, and East sides of the city.

Physical fitness tests have created much interest during the past weeks. Those to receive certificates to date are Donald Darst, Chelta Peyton, and Robert Stone.

Two representatives from McKinley Playground participated in the track tournaments at South High School on Thursday. Brent Pierson and Donald Darst also plan to enter the Jr. Olympics in August.

At Sunshine . . .

Arts and craft classes at Sunshine Recreation Center are busy making a float and lanterns for the West Sectional Lantern parade which will be held at Westgate Park tonight. Classes are held regularly from 1 until 4 p.m. The next few weeks will find the youngsters busy with gimp and jewelry making. Any child who wishes to enroll may contact Keitha Knecht at Sunshine.

The Teen Age Club enjoyed a swim day at Mount Air pool last Friday. More than 40 enjoyed the picnic and swim.

Softball Teams Humming

Sunshine Center's girls softball teams play a minimum of one game a week. Juniors started off the season with victories over Haunts and Westgate. The Intermediates succumed to Westgate's powerful nine.

The well balanced Junior Boys Softball team defeated Glenwood 7 to 5 last week in its first game.

Seniors lost their first game to Glenwood Number 1. The second was called at a 3 to 3 tie because of rain.

Boys interested in playing may contact Fred Behmer.

Horseshoes Offered

Temporary horseshoe courts are ready for use at Sunshine. There will be a horseshoe league formed for young adults. Those interested should contact Fred Behmer at Sunshine.

At Burroughs . . .

At the Lantern Parade tonight Burroughs will have 20 children participating. They are Debbie Bondreau, Joe and Bill Huffman, Skip Cunningham, Kathy Whitaker, Patty Whittaker, Melody and Pam Scott, Dan Dearwester, Gloria Dearwester, Darrell Moerch, Sue Damron, Cecilia and Louise Monsour, Carol and Gale Ward, Kathy Amore, John Masterson, Jim Gallagher and Bob Walton.

Burroughs is using a space theme. The children made a rocket ship, space helmets and will carry space lanterns.

In arts and crafts the children made lanyards, bracelets, drew, colored, painted, and worked on their lanterns. Volleyball has been the most popular game this summer. A game is in session every afternoon and evening.

In the Burroughs Lion-Kiwanis Little Jet League the first-place Yanks lead the Indians by two games.

Schedule for the coming week.

Friday, July 18—1:30, Giants vs. Yanks.

Monday, 21 — 1:30 Tigers vs. Braves.

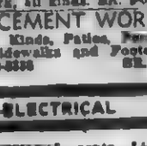
Tuesday, 22 — 1:30 Indians vs. Yanks; 6:30 Cards vs. Giants.

Wednesday, 23. — 1:30 Tigers vs. Yanks; 6:30 Braves vs. Giants.

Thursday, 24 — 1:30 Indians vs. Cards; 6:30 Tigers vs. Giants.

At Dana . . .

More than 30 lanterns have been finished for the Westgate Lantern Parade and many others are on the way. The boys and girls are eager to enter the event tonight.



Dana has a set of barbells along with instruction in gymnastics and tumbling. Some of the older boys have been consistently working with the weights. John Patterson, Bob Carrico, Eddie Rowe and Charles Ivory have improved considerably. The tumblers are all beginners, but are learning fast. Phyllis Benjamin, Paulette McCann, Ruth Craig, and Charlene Bocook are some of the tumblers.

The softball team suffered its second loss, but gained a good pitcher in the process. Bob Lewis came in from short stop as a relief pitcher and stopped a Sullivant Gardens' rally in the game last Friday. Kenny Morgan continues to do a good job at third base and Terry Breckenridge is improving as a catcher. The team will play Sunshine Recreation Center this week.

For Your Thoughts

Question: What is the first item you usually try to read in this newspaper and why?

Mrs. Frank Dickey, 84 N. Oakley-av: "Well, I start at the top of the front page and work down and then page for page to the back of the paper. I don't have any particular favorite type of article. I just read it all and find everything very interesting. It gives me an opportunity to find out about my friends and neighbors in this area."

Mrs. Bert C. Struble, 225 N. Wheatland-av: "I head for the Society page first when I get the paper. I'm 'organization-minded' and like to keep up with the activities of the various women's groups. My husband always wonders why he reads the classified ads before any other part of the paper."

Mrs. Carroll C. Trabue, 231 N. Warren-av: "I usually start with the 'Spectator' column on front page to see if anyone I know is mentioned. Then I read the want ads, Society Page and the Swap ads, which I like very much. Actually, I enjoy most every part of the paper and kind of read from the front and work to the back."

Mrs. Norman P. Halstead, 163 N. Harris-av: "The 'Spectator' column on front page is what I usually read first. Seems like there is always someone mentioned in it that I know. After that, I read the paper 'cover to cover.' I always read the classified ads because I've bought and sold a lot of things through them."

Mrs. Thomas J. Dye, 127 N. Roys-av: "I read most of the front page first and then look for the insignia for the 'confederate' money awards—I haven't found one yet, though! Then, I just read through the paper choosing articles that have an interest for me."

Man may have his will, but woman has her way.

Glenwood Methodist Players Undefeated In Y Slo-Pitch

Glenwood Methodist continues to lead the pack in the Y Slo-Pitch league, undefeated to date in the second round.

Last week they defeated Burgess EUB by a score of 11 to 2. Hoge Memorial squeaked to a close one by defeating Westgate Methodist 12 to 11. This game was ended in the seventh inning with the winning run on base. West Park Methodist defeated Hillcrest Baptist 14 to 11.

After two weeks of play in the second round Glenwood and West Park share the lead with two wins and no losses. Close behind with one defeat are Burgess EUB and Hoge Memorial.

The Lions Club is setting the pace in the Club Division with a 2-0 record in this round. They cemented their lead by defeating the Westway VFW 10 to 2. The Northway VFW team defeated the Y's Men 11 to 6.

Two complete weeks remain to be made up in the Club Division with round championships at stake. Games are played on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings at Westgate Park at 6 p.m. Spectators are welcome.

Eakin-rd Link Bids To Be Called Soon

Word from city hall has it that Eakin-rd may run uninterrupted from the Harrisburg-pk to Demorest-rd before the snow flies.

At present, a one-block area between Hague and Harris-ave divides the two-mile-long road. Eakin-rd is used heavily by workers driving to West Columbus industries.

A board of revision will meet in the city clerk's office at 1:30 p.m. Monday, July 28 to hear from one party who filed objection prior to the June 30 deadline. The property owners are John and Alice L. Neff of 3365 Cemetery-rd, Hilliards. The Neffs wrote that they were already heavily assessed for improvements to Harris-av and complained that the Eakin project would be "outright expense with no return."

Barring no other legal delays bids will be advertised immediately and could be ready for awarding as early as the end of August, said Russell Drake, city clerk.

Guess Cost Of Tunnel At $30,000

City school board's requested tunnel under the New York Central railroad at N. Hureon-av may cost between $30,000 and $30,000, the Record learned this week. The tunnel is needed for the safety of pupils who will attend Westmoor Junior High School, now being built near Valleyview-dr.

City Service Director Floyd Redick turned over other statistics to board president Paul Langdon.

Redick said 10 percent slopes 130 feet long, will lead down to the tunnel. Top of the 117-foot passage will be a minimum of four and a half feet below the base of the rails. The tunnel will be built of concrete tile 80 inches high and wide. It will be electrically lighted.

Langdon said financing of the project was yet undecided but he hopes it will be resolved at a called meeting of council this Friday. He reasoned that a 50-50 split of costs between the schools and the city would be proper.

65 'Dollars' Offered To Subscribers

Subscribers have 65 reasons for reading the ads in this week's issue with a watchful eye.

Today's jackpot insignia is valued at 365 in "Confederate" money and the usual 10 $1 insignia, each worth one "Confederate" bill, are also printed on ads in 10 other copies of the newspaper.

Advertisers in the current issue of the newspaper will accept "Confederate" currency for any merchandise in their stores.

Subscribers may redeem their copies of the newspaper, containing the lucky insignia, for "Confederate" money before Saturday noon of the week of publication by presenting the newspaper at Hartley Newspapers office, 2465 W. Broad-st.

Any subscriber whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" money.

Employes or carriers of Hartley Newspapers and members of their families are excepted.

Ohio's Division To Move Out Through Area

Troops from Ohio's 37th Infantry Division traveling to Camp Breckenridge, Ky., for two weeks summer field training will pass along Broad-st through New Rome, Alton and West Jefferson Saturday between 5:30 and 7:30 a.m.

Some [illegible] members and 1,000 military vehicles will be conveyed from 56 Ohio cities to take part in the annual manouvers of the famed "Buckeye Division".

New $2.5 million Janitrol Aircraft Plant on Surface-rd, near Wilson-rd and Broad-st.

Plant Expects Staff Increase

New Janitrol Aircraft Plant May Use 200 More Workers

Janitrol Aircraft Division of Surface Combustion officially introduced its $2.5 million plant to West Columbus' industrial segment Thursday, and already has its sights set on expansion.

The plant, which occupies 130,000 square feet of engineering, manufacturing and administrative floor space, employs nearly 300 persons. Anticipated expansion in the near future will bring the employment to about 500. Approximately 30 per cent of the employes are residents of this area.

More than 30 local newspaper editors and national aviation and business publication representatives at the preview heard Robin A. Bell, president of the division, remark, "we sell reliability."

MAKES AIRCRAFT PARTS

Some of the products this Janitrol Division supplies to both Government and private aircraft and missile firms include: combustion heaters, hot fuel prime units, combustion systems, liquid heaters, couplings for high temperature, high pressure aircraft ductwork, duct supports and pneumatic valves and controls.

The reliability of these components is extremely important to aircraft and their crews. It is even more important in an unmanned missile which dictates a higher degree of dependability since the craft is not in control of a thinking mechanism—the pilot.

About 50 per cent of the new Janitrol plant's operation is devoted to engineering, developing and testing. The remainder is manufacturing. President Bell pointed out that only through this extensive testing can the firm assure reliability.

HAS UNIQUE TEST CHAMBER

The company's high-altitude test chamber was demonstrated publicly for the first time Thursday. The chamber, one of the largest of its type in the country, is one of the very few privately owned facilities available full-time for research and environmental testing of commercial products.

It simulates conditions at from the ground to altitudes more than 100,000 feet above the earth and is used to develop and test Janitrol's missile and aircraft components.

The Aircraft Division was originated in 1942 as the Aircraft-Automotive Division in Toledo with manufacturing facilities in Columbus. Near the end of the Korean Conflict, the division was set completely apart from others in the Janitrol Corporation and the entire operation moved here.

The present plant was started in April, 1956 and just recently completed. Its total building area covers three acres of the 16-acre company tract. A grand opening for the general public is being planned for September.

Old Age Doesn't Have Place In Jessie Mann's Philosophy

By Ray Sheffer

Tomorrow Mrs. Jessie Mann of 244 S. Wheatland-av will reach a serene 75 years old. By some standards 75 is old . . . by hers it's just the beginning of middle age.

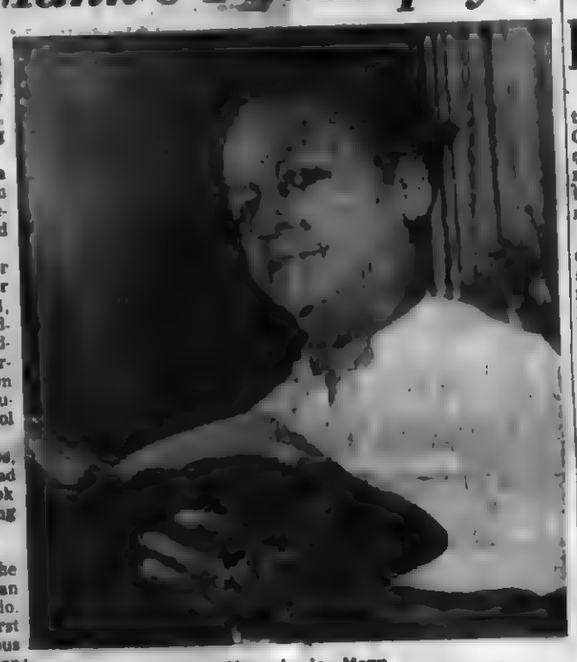
Apparently the raising of a family of 12, tempered with an interest in things civic and religious, has simply kept old age away from her door.

Residents of this area for 46 years, Mrs. Mann and her husband, William, who is 81, have 12 children, 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren. The Manns have been married 54 years. They have seen seven of their children graduated from West High School and two from Central.

Mrs. Mann sometimes relaxes, between board meetings and church conferences, to look back and review her life. Among her souvenirs are these:

Won Special Recognition

In 1951, she was chosen the Mother of the Year by the Urban League for the state of Ohio.



She said she was the first woman in the West Columbus area to organize a kindergarten for Negro children. Mrs. Mann is a member of the Ohio Day Nursery Board.

She also has been active as a trustee of the Winner Avenue Home for the Aged; sponsor of both the YMCA and YWCA; a member of the Executive Board of the local organization of Social Agencies; member of the Franklin County Colored Women's Republican Club and St. Paul AME Church.

When did she find time to raise 12 children? "I never neglected my children, I just arranged my outside civic interests around my home schedule. My children have become social workers, teachers, clerks in the Court House, school secretaries, etc. I believe this shows they have had some sound [illegible] training," said Mrs. Mann.

Knew Famous Entertainers

Mrs. Mann plays the piano, sings and has studied music in her native Cincinnati. She likes all types of music—even jazz! Old-time Negro entertainers Bert Williams and Bill Robinson were frequent visitors of the Manns when they toured Columbus. Robinson is especially well-known for his tap dancing in early Shirley Temple movies.

Mrs. Jessie Mann

The great-grandmother said she has been in the hospital only once in her life, a few years ago for a minor illness. Eleven of her children were born in her home on Wheatland-av.

Mrs. Mann still attends all the important meetings of her various club interests. Her husband, a retired barber, prefers to stay around home and play checkers with any neighbor who drops by.

Religion, integration, music, and local and national politics are popular subjects with Mrs. Mann who devotes a great deal of time to reading. She speaks with authority and quite frankly on all of these.

Of integration she said, "It should be a slow, natural process without force or violence. Above all, it should be carried off with dignity on both sides of the color line!"

As for life in general, she remarked, "people aren't thankful enough for God's work. What is more beautiful than trees, grass and mountains? Certainly nothing that man has made!"

Greenhouse Lot Rezone Is Refused

Swaying with united opposition by area residents, City Council Monday rejected a request by K and M Company to rezone 2162-82 W. Mound-st so that a supermarket could be raised at the location.

A greenhouse formerly owned by Adolph Trappe now stands on the spot. Trappe recently sold the land to K and M which operates two carry-out stores at Lockbourne-rd and Frebis-av, and on Hamilton-rd.

K and M is a partnership of Don Kelly, Don Murphy and attorney Edmund Kagay.

Murphy said that K and M had planned to sell the land to Super Duper Markets, or to build a supermarket on the ground and lease it to a chain organization.

Council, in turning down the request, adhered to a recommendation by City Planning Commission.

The zone is in the midst of a residential district, and about eight residents appeared at the hearing to oppose the measure.

Asked whether the partnership would take the issue to court, Murphy replied "at the moment we don't believe this is necessary."

Local Dentist Succumbs To Heart Attack

Dr. Thomas S. Fox, 70, of 25 S. Brinker-av, died Thursday night in Chicago following a heart attack suffered while marching in a Shrine parade.

Dr. Thomas S. Fox

A dentist for nearly half a century, Dr. Fox had practiced on the Hilltop since 1913, with offices at 2405½ W. Broad-st most of those years.

Dr. Fox was a charter member of Westgate Lodge F&AM, Robert Morris Chapter, OES, Hilltop Business Association and Hilltop Kiwanis.

He also belonged to Glenwood Methodist Church, Columbus Dental Society, Scottish Rite and had been a member of Aladdin Temple Shrine since 1919.

Well known in bowling circles, he bowled for 30 years in Columbus and was a member of the Dental Team, Professional Bowlers' League.

He was also treasurer and a member of the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan.

Services were held Monday at Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel with burial at Sunset Cemetery.

A number of close friends, familiar with his deep interest in the Shrine Crippled Children's Fund, have contributed to the cause as a memorial to Dr. Fox. Contributions of anyone wishing to honor his memory in this manner will be received by Ralph Shirley, potentate of Aladdin Temple Shrine.

Where's That Summer Sun?

Rain, rain go away . . .

With an unsympathetic weatherman's forecast of "cloudy, cool, possible showers for Wednesday," ringing in their ears, soggy citizens armed with mops, brooms and shovels are busily clearing away traces of yesterday's two-inch deluge.

Ground, already saturated by weeks of rainfall, refused to absorb another drop Tuesday, and torrents of water dumped on Columbus during the half-hour cloudburst and afternoon of rain flooded streets and basements.

Thunderstorms and tornadoes swept the state in a broad band from Cincinnati to north of Columbus, with damages in the hardest hit areas estimated at thousands of dollars.

Columbus firemen made 20 calls to residences checking gas and electrical connections where basements were flooded.

Children were swimming and splashing, happy as ducks at Town and Starling-sts, and Central and Mound-sts, with flooded streets reported at Sullivant-av in the Avondale-av area.

Elected To Legion Post

Mike Austin

Mike Austin, 47 Richards-rd, was elected to the post of treasurer of American Legion, Department of Ohio, at the organization's meeting held Sunday at Veteran's Memorial Building.

A past commander of Camp Chase Post, American Legion, he is also past commander of Franklin County Council, 12th District, American Legion.

Duties of the new post include control of funds and disbursements, and monthly finance reports.

Langdon Is Named Battelle Finance, Accounting Chief

Paul R. Langdon has been named manager of finance and accounting at Battelle Memorial Institute.

Formerly the research center's controller, Landgon will continue to serve in this capacity while assuming greater responsibility for accounting, budgeting, and auditing procedures.

Prior to joining Battelle in 1949, he had acted as director of finance for the U.S. Railroad Retirement Board and as a public accountant for several years. Langdon received his undergraduate training in accounting at Ohio State University, graduating in 1936 with a B.S. degree. The state certified him a public accountant in 1938; Illinois certified him in 1949. He took graduate studies in management at OSU, the American University, and Northwestern University.

PAUL R. LANGDON

Within the community, Langdon is president of the Columbus Board of Education, a member of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club, and divisional chairman of vocational guidance organization. Past president of the Columbus Control of the Controllers Institute of America, he is currently serving as a National Director of C.I.A. He is also on city and state committees of the Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants. In March, 1957, he was appointed to the research committee of the National Office Management Association, of whose Columbus Chapter he is a past president.

Court Order Restores Reeder To City Post

Common Pleas Court issued an immediate temporary order restoring former Columbus Civil Service Secretary Gale L. Reeder, 617 Townsend-av, to his job after city attorneys requested that a hearing concerning his removal be delayed.

Judge Kenneth Sater handed down the order after the Civil Service Commission's second request for a continuance.

Reeder had filed a suit against the commission in an attempt to force the city to take him back.

Seeks Official Parley Soon On Grandview-av Extension

With prospects good for city-state cooperation in building an extension south from Grandview-av to Broad-st, Councilman W. Ralston Westlake this week is pushing for a joint meeting of highway officials.

I hope such a meeting between planners can be arranged before we go on vacation Aug. 5, said Westlake. The Hilltop councilman is urging that the proposed street extension be made part of the East-West Freeway so that federal funds would be available and duplication of roads avoided.

City Planing Director Jack Bachtel is preparing several suggested route diagrams for discussion at the parley.

Engineers want to bring Grandview-av down through farm land east of the State Hospital. Beside helping to unknot traffic it would prove easy access to state engineering buildings to be built there.

In letters to the city this week Gov. C. William O'Neill and his assistant Chalmers Wylie added their "amen" to those of state highway officials who several days earlier wrote that they favor cooperating on the plan.

Westgate Street Plans In Works

A check with city engineers reveals that plans for building curbs and paving in the Westgate-Fremont-Palmetto-st area are about 60 percent complete.

More than 50 percent of the property owners filed a petition for the improvements Sept. 10 of last year. It was cited that lack of sidewalks in the area resulted in a hazard for youngsters walking to school.

Work on the project probably will not start until next year.

June Graduates Of Local High Schools Find Jobs 'Few And Far Between'

High school graduates in the area seem to be feeling the pinch of the current "recession" as they seek employment.

Judging by a series of interviews with graduated youths the "booming" nation which they believed was going to be theirs is turning a frosty shoulder toward their efforts.

Terry Reichart, 47 Haldy-av, blames the recession and "a general slowdown in business" for the scarcity of jobs.

Terry Reichart

He says, "I've made applications everywhere, with the city, private businesses, and contractors as far away as Reynoldsburg with no luck. I even have friends helping, but have found nothing."

A June graduate of West High, he plans to enter the College of Arts and Sciences, Ohio State University in the fall as the first step of preparation for the Lutheran ministry.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Reichart.

Searched Whole Month

Patty McCann, of 263 Grubb-st, a 1958 graduate of Central High School, reports finding a job after an entire month of searching.

Through vocational help provided by Central, Patty was able to acquire a job as a typist. However, she said her fingers were worn thin after filling out applications for nearly every secretarial position in town.

Patty went to her school counselors early in May and asked for aid in finding a steady job. She was given a long list of employers to interview. Every afternoon after school she went job hunting.

"They all gave me the old 'we'll call you' bit and that was the last I heard from them. I really don't know why — I've got all the training necessary. I've taken typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, business math and training in operation of office machines," said Patty.

Finally, one week after graduation, Mrs. Mabel Collins, a commercial teacher at Central, called Patty and gave her a tip on a possible opening for a typist.

"I got the job and I feel very lucky but it took a lot of time and energy! I feel sorry for graduates this year because jobs are hard to find and many employers aren't too polite when they say no," said Patty.

Tom Cullen, of 198 Racine-av, a 1958 graduate of Holy Family High School, volunteered for the draft because he was unable to get a permanent job following graduation.

Tom Cullen

Tom left for his Army duty July 8, having come to the conclusion that "you need a pull to get a job in this town and sometimes even that won't help."

Cullen has had no special vocational training. However, he has had experience working in supermarkets and wanted to get a steady job of that type and work up in an organization. He said he found that college students have a monopoly on the supermarkets.

Tom said he looked for a job for three solid weeks, became disgusted and volunteered for the draft. "Maybe things will be better when I get out of the Army," he said.

Theory that "the early applicant gets the job" was successful for Nancy Draper, 104 S. Westmoor-av. She began applying for jobs many months ago, with divisions of the city, National Lumbermens, Galbreath and [illegible].

Nancy Draper

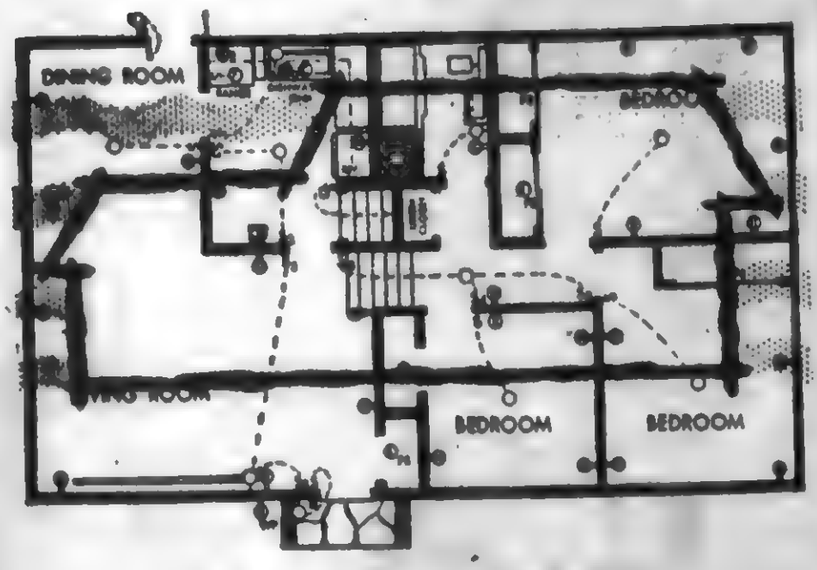
She finally was appointed for an opening in a city division, with offices in City Hall.

Nancy was graduated from West High in June and is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Robert M. Draper.

She will enroll at Ohio State University in the fall.

Builders Race Against Time . . . To Complete Schools By Fall

School building and expansion program on the Hilltop, planned to provide classroom accomodations for a greatly increased September enrollment, is proceeding as rapidly as possible. The new, nine-room Lindbergh School, under construction on Lindbergh-dr immediately west of Eureka-blvd, will absorb children living in the eastern portion of Binns School district, freeing desks and seats for youngsters in the newly annexed Georgian Heights.



Six-room addition to West Mound Street School, third expansion since the building was opened in September, 1952, increases the school size to 22 classrooms. The additional rooms will absorb children living in Rainbow Addition, now annexed to Columbus.

Westmoor Junior High School, under construction on a site south and west of the new Valleyview Elementary School, is designed to accomodate 900 students. The school will be ready for occupancy in February, relieving overcrowding at West Junior High School.

Meet The Businessmen

Cunninghams Share Interest In Trailer Park, Fine Horses

Ironically, the fast growth of the Hilltop was largely responsibe for the formation of one local business and at the same time caused its halt.

Harold Cunningham and his wife, Clewell, started the Valleyview Drive Trailer Park three years ago next to their home at 3115 Valleyview-dr.

The Cunninghams said they started the trailer park because of the demand for housing and the fast progress in the community. They had planned to have a 100-trailer establishment complete with all the nicaties that have made trailers into "mobile homes" in the last few years.

Made Way For Center

However, the same progress they tried to keep abreast with stepped in as the Hilltop Community Center and took a big chunk of land set aside for expansion of the trailer park. At present, the park is about 10 percent of the original Cunningham business dream.

Harold hasn't given up completely and is still shopping for other sites for a larger park. Mrs. Cunningham, however, seems content with the enterprise as it is — she's the manager.

"I really like the business, it's like having your own little community. We've been careful to rent to nice people and therefore everyone gets along fine," said Mrs. Cunningham.

The couple, who have six married children, have lived in this area for 18 years. Harold has a colorful background of occupations including farming, insurance salesman and guard at the Ohio Penitentiary.

Are Horse Lovers

As in business, the Cunninghams have joint interests in a hobby. They own a farm near Marysville where they raise standard bred race horses. They are now grooming two young colts for the Brown Jug event of 1960.

Their love for the sport started about five years ago when they acquired their first horse, Buddie Dale. Mrs. Cunningham has her own horse named Scamp's Will. She said, "although Scamp's Will is the better horse, our affection still lies with Buddie Dale."

Harold is a member of HBA, Hilltop Kiwanis, Franklin County Fair Board and Hillcrest Baptist Church.

Your Youth

By Al Hollowell and Bud Martin

Eight boys went on the Hilltop YMCA's Summer Fun Club campout last Wednesday night. They returned from their campsite at Southside's "Y" Park a little weary, but filled with talk of the fun they had, the problems faced and overcome, and the size of mosquitoes. "Y" leaders Al Hollowell and Bud Martin shared in the fun of the campout.

The rubberneck tour for Summer Fun Club was to the Hilltop Branch of the City National Bank. Members got a look at the inside working of a community bank. High point of the trip for many was handling a $1,000 bill. "It isn't every day you see one of those," one boy observed.

Farmer And Motorist Urged To Use Caution

The Old Gray Mare isn't what she used to be. Still, Ohio's 200,000 farm tractors haven't nearly enough horses to safely keep pace with high-speed traffic on the state's highway system.

Farmers and motorists are urged to use caution and courtesy to avoid the hazards found this summer with a number of these 200,000 tractors hauling machinery on the highway.

These are reminders from Ohio's highway safety director Gordon Jeffrey and W. E. Stuckey, safety extension specialist at the Ohio State University, who issued a joint statement warning of dangers to all concerned in observance of National Farm Safety Week July 20-26.

Last year farm tractors were involved in 332 auto accidents on Ohio's highways, 10 of which were fatal collisions, according to a report by the department of highway safety.

"Motorists must constantly expect to encounter farm tractors moving on the highway this time of year and be prepared to slow down, exercising caution and courtesy," the officials stated.

"Tractors, corn - pickers and hay balers are going to be out on the highways and have every right to be there, provided they move with maximum safety," they said.

Jeffrey and Stuckey offer this five-point program for traffic safety precautions:

The farm machinery operator should try to keep off main highways and thoroughfares when possible, and use less traveled routes.

"When traffic becomes lined up behind slow-moving farm tractors and other equipment, the driver of such equipment should exercise courtesy and pull off the highway at the first convenience and allow the line of traffic to pass.

"A red flag should be displayed on a large vertical pole mounted on the rear rig of equipment. This will serve as a warning to motorists approaching from over low hills and curves where the view is obscured.

"When it is necessary to move farm equipment at night, be sure it is properly lighted in accordance with Ohio vehicle lighting regulations.

Either use the berm or the right lane for travel. Traveling in the middle gives motorists false appearance of three - lane highway, creating hazards."

Here's the Answer

Man And God Cooperation Is Imperative

What is the nature of God's covenant with man? Is it some edict of privilege and grace pertaining to certain individuals or to a particular time? Man have tried to limit it to that but God's covenant with man is as large as it is permanent.

It is an agreement for man's welfare and enrichment. The Bible in almost all its passages proclaims the economy of abundance and prosperity. These are associated with peace and righteousness. But in the ancient world as in our modern world, too often prosperity led to forgetfulness of God and the betrayal of man.

The false use of prosperity, however, should not blind us to the true and solid ideas of human welfare. Only we ought to remember that there is no true human welfare unless all have an opportunity to share in it.

God's covenant is represented as having its token in the rainbow. This may be an ancient accounting for a natural phenomenon which science now explains, but this doesn't alter the significance of the token.

The rainbow is possible because of sun and moisture, and both are a part of that covenant with man that God has made in His eternal laws. The gist is that if man will do his part, God will cooperate to insure man a [illegible] and prosperous life.

It is the failure on man's part to recognize the covenant that is at the bottom of so much human misery. Alike in nature and in grace, God has made rich provision for human life. Will man some day learn to fulfill his part of the agreement?

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Fruits — watermelon, cantaloupe, transparent apples, peaches.

Meats — ground beef, whole ham, fryers, frozen fish fillets.

Easy-to-serve melons are favorites for folks of all ages. This summer is a special one for melon lovers because there are so many varieties of watermelons, muskmelons and cantaloupes on the market at low prices. The melons on the market now are from the southern and western states but improved transportation makes it possible to leave them on the vines longer than in former times. Their eating quality is excellent. Local melons will be ripe in August and September.

When selecting any melon, look for well developed size, color and fragrance according to the variety. The outside appearance doesn't tell everything, but it is a good guide to quality.

To keep the high quality of melons at home, wash and dry them before storing. Wrap ripe melons in waxed paper or plastic bags to keep the fragrant odor from mingling with other foods in the refrigerator. Melons that are not fully ripe can be ripened at room temperature if they are not too immature. It is desirable to chill melons at least 12 hours before serving.

Low in calories — Cantaloupe, honeydew and watermelons are rich in vitamin C and cantaloupe and watermelon are also good sources of vitamin A. All melons are low in calories.

Ways with melons — For easy eating try slicing watermelon in rounds and then slice through like the spokes in a wheel. These little wedges are easy to pick up and eat with the rind serving as a handle.

For a party-type dessert, fill a cantaloupe with ice cream, or you may prefer assorted fresh fruits as orange sections, grapes, bananas, berries, cherries — topped with lemon ice.

SWEET CORN

This is the third week of the season for local sweet corn and the quality so far is very good. Much of this corn is either hydrocooled or iced to retain the sugar content — which means good eating quality.

Peaches Will Be Plentiful

This year's freestone peach crop is king size—biggest since 1947. Most of the southern peach crop will be harvested by August when local peaches will be coming to market.

REMODEL DWELLING

A permit has been granted Thomas Kenworth, 804 S. Warren-av, to remodel his frame dwelling at a cost of $200.

PERMIT GIVEN

Lantern Parade 'Very Illuminating'

More than 700 spectators were on hand the night of July 16, at Westgate Park's Harder Lake, at the Columbus Recreation Department's Annual West Sectional Lantern Parade.

Fifteen playgrounds with more than 800 children participated in this spectacular event. The colorful, beautifully lighted lanterns varied in size from enormous ten-foot "Aladdin" made by the children from Haunts Playground to simple papier mache hand lanterns no more than 10 inches long. Most of the lanterns were constructed from cardboard cartons that had been cut in various ways and decorated with multi-colored paper, paints and crayons.

Each lantern was lit either by a flashlight or a candle and the total effect was (ahem) 'illuminating'.

Joe Holbrook of WBNS-TV was the master of ceremonies. Judges for the parade were Judge Robert Draper, Nita Hutch of WTVN Radio and Homer Johnson of the West Side Board of Trade. Each playground received a Participation Award. Six awards were given, three for the most original theme and three for the best executed lanterns. Awards went to Glenwood, (first), Sullivant Gardens, and Fifth Avenue in the first group and Sunshine, Hanby and Dana Avenue in the latter.

A Westgate spokesman said, "This event is only one of many enriching experiences possible when the community and the Columbus Recreation Department work together toward a safe, constructive recreation for our children."

At Burroughs . . .

Burroughs Playground is now open from noon to 8 p. m., Monday through Friday.

In the arts and crafts sessions baskets and puppets have been featured. Puppets are made from socks and paper sacks. A puppet show is being planned.

Gimp work, and art and dramatic work have also been high points of interest.

Plans are under way for the Junior Olympics swim and track meet. A tennis tournament is planned.

Schedule for Week

July 22, 1 p. m. Tigers vs. Yanks, 3 p.m. Braves vs. Giants.

July 24, 3 p. m. Indians vs. Cards and 6 p. m. Tigers vs. Giants.

July 25, 1 p. m. Yanks vs. Cards.

July 28, 1:30 p.m. Braves vs. Indians.

July 29, 1:30 p. m. Tigers vs. Cards and 6 p. m., Giants vs. Indians.

At Holton . . .

Several children from Holton Playground participated in the Lantern Parade last week. Local youngsters won an award for participation.

Holton intermediate girls' softball team plays Highland girls at Holton Tuesday afternoon. The girls lost their first game to Sullivant Gardens.

Many of the children are learning to play tennis. Several experienced tennis players are practicing for the city tournament in August. Others are preparing for the Junior Olympics at the Ohio State Stadium, Aug. 19.

At Glenwood . . .

Moose Edge Burroughs

The Mooses, one of Glenwood Recreation Center's senior boys' softball teams, defeated Burrough's Playground's senior boys' team by a score of 5 to 4. Don Greed gave up five hits, four runs, and walked only one batter in addition to striking out 10, for the winners. The losing pitcher, Winnestoffer, yielded five runs on five hits and walked two.

The Mooses now own a 3-1 record for the summer.

McKinley Rally Fails

McKinley senior boys' softball team scored 10 runs in a fifth inning rally against the Glenwood Beef Trust but lost by a score of 13 to15. Glenwood was forced to score four runs in the seventh inning in order to overcome the McKinley rally.

Driscoll, pitching for the losers, allowed 12 hits, walked 11 batters, and struck out two. Bill Burke, the winning pitcher alloowed five hits, struck out seven and walked six in six innings. Hummell, who pitched an inning for the Beef Trust allowed 11 runs, five hits and walked four batters.

The Beef Trust now has a 3-0 record.

Yanks Still Leading

On July 19 the Hawks defeated the Cards 7 to 4 and the Yanks beat the Reds 14 to 8. Tuesday the Cubs defeated the Aces in a forfeited contest. Wednesday's action saw the Yanks defeat the Cards 21 to 4 and the Aces defeated the Hawks, 7 to 1.

League standings still show the Yanks on top with a 5 and 0 record. Following are the Cubs with 4-1; Hawks, 2 and 3; Aces, 2 and 4; Reds, 1 and 3 record; Cards, 1 and 4.

Glenwood has received copies of the complete summer Little Jet schedule. All boys are urged to pick up one immediately.

Leading hitter in the league is Ken Bradley who has a .727 average with eight hits in 11 trips to the plate. Ron Creamer is second with a .600 average. Other top hitters are Steve Cheek, Pennington, Musselman and Steve Maxwell.

At Westgate . . .

Sports are in the spotlight this week at Westgate playground. The Little Jet Leagues are busy as are the girls softball teams.

In the minor leagues of the Little Jets the Jets are in first place with Toronto second, Montreal third, and Rochester fourth. In the majors the major's the White Sox and the Indians are in heated competi-

Construction Of State School's New Food Building Delayed By Weather

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESS on the new $849,264 central food service facility at the Columbus State School is a month behind schedule, according to State Architect Carl Bentz. He said, however, that the Knowlton Construction Co., general contractors for the building, would not be penalized because of six weeks of bad weather last winter which delayed construction. Completion of the central kitchen building is expected by about Aug. 15. Dr. Robert A. Haines, director of the State Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said the new unit will provide greater economy and efficiency in the food service of the 2200-patient institution. All basic food preparation will be carried out in one large central kitchen instead of in 13 inadequate kitchens scattered through the institution. The project is being financed by the $150,000,000 bond issue approved by Ohio voters.

For Your Thoughts

Question: How do you feel about the United States sending troops into Lebanon?

Mrs. Ernest L. Arney, 892 Binns-blvd: "I think our country did the right thing. I believe if America and England and other countries step right in to help smaller countries in times of crisis, that our 'enemies' will think twice before triyng any further aggression."

Henry Paulin, 806 Wedgewood-dr: "I think we did the right thing — after all we were asked for help and I believe we complied in the proper manner. Considering the Russian standpoint in the Middle East, I feel it would have been dangerous to let Lebanon's plea go un-answered."

Mrs. Evelyn Rickey, 2139½ W. Broad-st: "Whether there is a danger involved by our stepping into the problems of Lebanon I don't know, however, I believe it was the only thing we could do. I believe, by our giving aid to this small country, the United States will gain prestige throughout the world."

Mrs. Lottie Sailer, 160 N. Princeton: "I really haven't decided whether the move was good or bad. I do know this, I would hate to see any more of our boys killed or injured because of some other coutry's problems. It they want to kill each other, then let them go to it—but leave us out of the mess!"

Mrs. Anne Mick, 174 Columbian-av: "The whole thing came up so fast I really haven't had much chance to think about it. However, I believe the United States shouldn't have been so hasty and should have let the United Nations handle the problem."

WILL REMODEL

J. M. Donovan, 67 N. Wheatland-av, has a permit to remodel a frame dwelling at 165-165½ S. Cypress-av.

If You Want To Fish Lake Erie. Try Party Fishing

WHEN THE FISH ARE HITTING—on a fishing party, all attention is centered on the lines. When trolling or casting from these spacious boats five or six people can fish at the same time. Much of the pleasure from party fishing, however, comes from sitting on a deck chair in the sun, and chewing on a chicken leg from the picnic basket.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Several requests have come in recently asking about fishing in Lake Erie, and wanting to know specifically about fishing on party boats. Many central Ohio anglers trek to the shores of Lake Erie once or twice a year for a fishing party. Because of this popularity, much interest is being generated about this type of fishing, also called reef fishing.

Party boat skippers can be found all along the shore of Lake Erie and they all operate about the same. You contact them in advance of the trip, and make arrangements for a specific date. At this time the skippers will tell you what to expect in the way of fish at that particular time, and what fishing tackle you will need. Skippers will provide ice for the catch, but you should take along food for the day.

Party boat captains actually are guides, and they will take you to the best fishing spots. You will, of course, need an Ohio fishing license, and you may need a Canadian license before the day is over. Most skippers have the Canadian licenses for sale. For the guide service and for providing a large boat, party skippers charge about $50 for a day's fishing. When you consider that eight, ten, or even more people can go along on a fishing party, this averages out to a pretty inexpensive outing.

Guides Work Year 'Round

My most recent reef fishing trip was with Elden Hales on his large, steel hulled boat, the Shore 'Nuf. Elden lives at Put-In-Bay, on South Bass Island, but he picks up his parties at the Catawba Ferry dock where you can leave your car, and he deposits you there again in the evening. Hales operates his party boat all spring and summer, and is still going when the weather turns cold. During the winter he guides ice fishing parties. By being on the lake virtually every day he knows what fish are biting, and where. This is one of the advantages of taking party boats—the skippers don't waste time fishing barren places. They don't guarantee a full box of fish every day, but when the party boats do not find fish nobody does.

Many fishermen have the mistaken idea that trolling for walleyes (also called pickerel) is the only function of party boats. When Elden Hales starts his season, he takes fishermen for the spring smallmouth bass fishing. He will anchor at choice spots, and you can cast artificials or use live bait for bass. Most skippers will provide minnows and sometimes soft craws at no extra cost, but it may be wise to ask about the availability of bait when you set up the trip. The early fishing for bass is some of the best that Lake Erie has to offer.

In June the white bass fishing starts, and you can troll by schools of fish, or drift and cast into the schools. The white bass fishing did not develop this year as it has for several years. But fish populations run in cycles, and when the trend is down you just can't catch as many. Even though the white bass catches are rather slim this year, the fish are averaging a better size.

Slump in Walleye Catch

Toward the end of June the first walleyes are picked up by trolling. In July and August walleye fishing it at its best. Many anglers are concerned this year about the walleye fishing, because it has dropped the last couple of years. There are many theories advanced for this, but in my opinion the walleye fishing is entirely governed by the weather. The spring of 1949 was the best walleye spawning season for 20 years because of high water temperature. This extremely good hatch provided fine fishing for several years. Now the peak is over, and until we can control the walleye hatch in the lake we will have to be satisfied with periodic ups and downs.

In Septemebr and October the smallmouth bass fishing picks up again, and party boat skippers will take you far out into the lake where they are hitting in deep water. A few walleyes are also taken at this time by casting artificial baits into shallow water along rocky beaches.

The most attractive thing to me about this type of fishing, is that it's a fishing party. It combines a boat ride, picnic, and a family outing. Or perhaps the good companionship of the office gang, or a group of fishing buddies. Party boats are spacious, and have all the accomodations for a day's comfort and enjoyment on the water.

Also you catch fish. Some days you won't fill the ice chest, but it's seldom when you don't catch several muscular, fighting drum, or some sporty rock bass.

The prizes, of course, are walleyes, white bass, and smallmouth bass, and you will usually take some on a fishing party.

The Bible

Let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.—(I St. John 3, 18.)

Words of love are the most welcome words in any language. But words alone are not enough. They must be uttered "in truth" from the heart of the speaker, and proved by deeds. Only thus can we show our love to others, as God has shown His love to us through the life of Jesus Christ.

Begin Construction Of Food Warehouse

Another company has joined the parade of new industries in the Hilltop-Lincoln Village area.

Construction was started Tuesday on a giant new food warehouse across from the Westinghouse plant on Phillipi-rd.

Earl C. Heitger, general manager, Monarch Finer Foods 503 S. Front-st, disclosed that the sprawling new facility will be the largest wholesale food distributing warehouse in Central Ohio.

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the multi-million dollar distribution center were held Tuesday morning in the Hilltop Lincoln Village industrial area. Govarnor C. William O'Neill moved the first earth in the official ceremony.

Among those attending the event were Murray D. Lincoln, president of Peoples Development Co., builders of Lincoln Village; Fred D. Parr, chairman of the board, Parr-Cox Construction Co.; Edward F. Wagner, general manager of Peoples Development; County Commissioner Fred Berkhemer; and Rev. John Wolf of St. Cecilia's Church, New Rome, who gave the invocation. Because of bad flying weather in New York two top officials of Consolidated Foods Corporation (of which Monarch is a division) were unable to be present. They are S. M. Kennedy, president, and H. J. Everts, treasurer.

In 11-Acre Area

Heitger said that the new building will occupy an 11-acre site on the corner of Phillipi and Industrial Park-rds. It will be constructed of pre-cast concrete and will contain the largest wholesale frozen food facility in the Columbus area. The one-floor distribution center will be equipped with the latest in mechanical materials handling equipment.

Monarch, the largest wholesale food distributors in Central Ohio, plans initially to operate 40 trucks servicing Royal Blue markets, and other supermarkets and institutional accounts, covering a 100-mile radius of Columbus.

The company is moving its entire operation to the new plant, scheduled for completion about Oct. 15. The firm employs 140 people.

General contractor for the new warehouse will be the Parr-Cox Construction Company, San Francisco, and all real estate negotiations were handled by W. H. McAllister of Fulton and McAllister, Ltd. Industrial Realtors.

Meeting in the office of City Clerk Russell Drake, Monday, a board of revision okayed plans to cut through a one-block area and join two segments of Eakin-rd. The area lies between Hague and Harris-avs.

When completed, possibly by the end of the year, the continuation will allow unobstructed flow of traffic from Harrisburg-pk to Demorest-rd.

Valleyview will absorb a three cent increase in gas rates effective Sept. 1 while Columbus and nine other communities will be receiving a one-half cent per 1,000 cubic feet raise, Ohio Fuel Gas Co. announced Tuesday.

It was explained by Ohio Fuel that Valleyview's rate differs from the other communities because its contract is effective on a different date.

Sorry . . . Wrong Number

We want to apologize . . . to South Sider Bob Rogers, whose story we ran two weeks ago. And to the readers who may have tried to contact Bob about the telephone answering service he hopes to start.

You see, by mistake we listed the wrong number for Bob's telephone. It is HI. 4-7645. Bob, who has been crippled since birth, hopes to become self-supporting through a telephone answering service for businesses or individuals he could conduct from his wheelchair.

In the hope that two "rights" will make up for a "wrong," here's Bob's telephone number again: HI. 4-7645.

Help City Scuttle Skeeters Health Commissisoner Asks

Householders can help the city in its battle with mosquitoes by eliminating every possible breeding place for the insects on their property, said City Health Commissioner Dr. Ollie Goodloe this week.

Mosquitoes, which have descended upon Columbus and environs by the millions this summer because of the exceedingly wet weather, probably will be with us for several weeks to come, Goodloe added.

Six fogging machines have been working at capacity but heavy showers have washed away the insecticide as fast as it is applied.

Ideal mosquito habitat is found in dark, damp places such as weed clumps, under porches and steps, trash piles, and drums, grass cuttings and standing water. Flies have been less of a problem but should be carefully sprayed where found in and around homes, Goodloe said.

Elm Dies, Willow Stake Sprouts Into Tree At Bill Ackler Home

By L. G. Mansfield

Large streams from little fountains flow, and tall oaks from little acorns grow, but 'twas quite a switch when a stake did sprout, and thrive, where the mighty elm failed to survive.

At least it was quite a shock to the William Acklers, 288 N. Murray Hill-rd, Lincoln Village, former Hilltoppers, to see a stake they had driven into the ground in their yard sprout limbs and leaves. It all came about in this way:

Avid amateur horticulturists, their yard a riot of flowers and shrubbery, the Acklers sent to an Iowa nursery about a year ago for a particular type of hybrid elm, which arrived in due time and was planted. Along with the elm was a stake, used to prevent bending and damage in transit. The couple decided to use the stake as a support for the young tree and drove it into the ground alongside. Mrs. Ackler was extremely careful not to bruise the elm in attaching it to the stake.

Time passed, but despite the tender care showered upon the young sapling by Mrs. Ackler, it failed to survive. Before it had been removed, however, the stake began to show the signs mentioned above and Bill and his Mrs. were truly intrigued! It weathered last winter in good shape and, believe it or not, the Acklers are now the proud owners of a weeping willow!

The heavy rains of this summer have caused it to grow rapidly and, as the accompanying photo shows, the "stake" is now quite tall.

Mrs. Ackler, who is supposed to be the "green thumb" member of the family, has received quite a ribbing from her spouse. It was he who drove the stake into Mother Earth—with something less than tenderness, he says.

Mrs. Ackler and her thriving weeping willow.

The Acklers moved here from Portland, Me., six years ago and lived on the Hilltop at 3039 Crescent-dr, before purchasing a home in Lincoln Village three years ago. He is an engineer at the Columbus Westinghouse plant. Mrs. Ackler, who is currently president of the Lincoln Village Beautifiers Garden Club, was formerly an officer of the Westgate Garden Club.

City Okays Westmoor School Tunnel

THIS IS A SCHOOLBOY'S EYE VIEW of the tunnel he may be using next Feb. 1 when he rides his bike to the new Westmoor Junior High School on Valleyview-dr. The sketch (circles are trees) show a 120-foot approach to the 117 ft. tunnel which will go under New York Central tracks, probably at N. Huron-av. City council Monday night authorized Service Director Floyd Rodick to take bids and enter into contracts for the project, expected to cost between $20,000 and $30,000. City schools will pay half, or a maximum of $15,000 as a permanent easement from the city.

Workers Are Sought

US Department of Labor hopes to locate two persons who may be in this area. Both are owed back wages recovered for them under wage and hour laws.

Listed with their last known addresses they are John Brown, 813 E. Broad-st, and Clyde E. Coe, Rt. 2, Pataskala.

To obtain their money these people must contact the regional office of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division, 316 Engineers' Bldg., Cleveland, 14, Ohio.

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Lures Catch Fishermen

When you walk into fishing tackle store and see a huge array of baits, are you a little dismayed? I am. There are new baits put on the market each year, and I never heard of any going out of business. The baits are in every conceivable shape and design—and in every color. It makes you suspect that the lures are made to appeal to fisherman, and not particularly to fish.

This is probably true to some extent. If you could invent a bait that looks good enough for thousands of fishermen to dig deep in their pockets and buy, your battle for financial success would be more than half won. If a bait is used by enough fishermen, it will catch fish. The bass and pike families are noted for striking lures that do not resemble their usual foods. They seem to take a crack at a bait, on many occasions just for the heck of it.

Saw Clothespin Creation

I was fishing a small stream in Muskingum County many years ago, and as I fought my way through a thick bunch of willows I met another fisherman working his way downstream. His name has been long forgotten, but we sat down and chatted for a few minutes about our luck. I was using a bait casting outfit and had caught a few bass.

He had a flyrod and had also taken several. The conversation turned to the many different "contraptions" that will fool bass. My informant told me that as an experiment he once attached a couple of treble hooks to a clothes pin. He used it one evening in Maple Swamp over at Buckeye Lake, and in 45 minutes of fishing he caught a couple of small bass.

I wouldn't advise you to market a clothes pin bait though. It couldn't compete with the flashy baits of metal and tinsel on the tackle counters. Also, every good fisherman knows that a really effective bait has a mysterious attraction — something to make it deadly. You can buy baiths now with built-in scent, and baits that put out sound waves.

While almost anything you tie on the end of a fishing line will catch fish on occasion, the old reliable, time-tested lures actually do have a deadly attraction about them. Several come to mind, the red and white river runt, flatfish, jitterbug, jointed pikie, Hofmann spoon, and spinner. These will always rate space in my crowded tackle box. I have used these in fresh water and salt, and would hate to try to list the different kinds of fish they have caught—everything from green sunfish to tarpon.

New baits are appearing all the time, baits that will catch fish. But it is not often that a bait comes along with that special added something that makes it unusually attractive to fish. In the meantime we must look, sort, and pick through the tackle counters in the hopes of finding one.

We must satisfy that urge to check the new numbers, and perhaps buy a couple. The new baits give us an excuse to drop in the tackle stores and talk shop, to reminisce, and maybe to dream a little about future fishing jaunts. Anyone who would point out that a half-dozen battle scarred old favorites will catch more fish than a whole counterfull of new fangled gadgets, would spoil all the fun.

Stocking the Southeast Conservation Club lak e with walleyes, April 1958. Photo—C. E. Bush

Club members have been experiencing some unusually fine "walleye" fishing this spring with some catches up to six pounds being reported.

The Southeast Club boasts some 600 members and is one of the largest clubs of its kind in Ohio. Its property on Hart-rd consists of a 35 acre spring-fed lake, a large well equipped club house, a large wooded picnic area, a complete archery course and recreation area plus a swimming beach. The lake is stocked several times each year to insure good fishing. The fish population contains bass, bluegills, crappies, channel catfish, walleyes and great northern pike.

Cost of membership is $50 for the first year which includes a $25 initiation fee plus $20 dues. After that the dues are a flat $20 a year. This price gives a husband and wife and all the children under 21 in the family the right to fish and enjoy all the other club activities.

Facilities of the clubhouse are available to all members. Each member has a key to the clubhouse and also a key to the gate to the club grounds.

Diversified activities of the group are conservation education, hunter safety classes, archery shoots, casting contests and many others.

Plan Conservation Showpiece

The Southeast Club recently purchased two farms in Jackson Township located near Rt. 104 and Borer-rd. They include 127 acres and a 16-acre natural lake. This property is to be developed as a club site for the future and for use in conjunction with the Hart-rd property. The membership hopes to transform this new property into "the conservation showplace of Ohio."

There are a few memberships open at present but a prospective member must be recommended by a club member and also screened by the membership committee before acceptance.

The hunting members of the club have some 13,000 acres of farm land under a controlled hunting program. This is an arrangement between the club and farm owners which keeps land open to controlled hunting that might otherwise be posted with no trespassing signs.

The Southeast Conservation Club describes itself as "a live-wire organization made up of ordinary people who enjoy working for a common goal—cleaner waters, more woodlands, better hunting and fishing and better citizenship."

The new World War I veterans group will now be privileged to represent its members in claims for hospitalization, pensions, etc. to the Veterans Administration, said Cecil E. Fux, local commander.

The bill passed the House with but two dissenters and was given unanimous Senate backing. It was signed by the President on July 19.

The local barracks meets in Room 201 of the new Veterans Memorial Building, the first Sunday of each month at 2 p.m.

Flood Damages Deductible, Looker Reminds

Victims of the recent floods and storms who suffered damage to houses, automobiles and other personal or business property may deduct resultant losses for federal income tax purposes, Nathaniel Looker, district director of internal revenue, said today.

Looker said helpful information is given in a booklet, "How the Federal Income Tax Applies to Losses From Hurricanes, Floods and Other Disasters."

Taxpayers who have suffered damage to grounds, automobiles, dwellings, boats, furniture and other property may obtain the booklet by requesting Publication No. 185 from his office in Columbus, or they may call office for answers to problems.

Champion Clydesdale Horses Will Perform At Great Western

The champion six-horse-hitch Clydesdales, owned by the Anheuser-Busch Co. of St. Louis, will be at the Great Western Shoppers' Mart, Aug. 1, at 12 noon, according to John Jones, president of the Great Western Business Association.

The horses, which have become nationally famous, will go through their customary "paces" at the shopping center, which the general public has been invited to view.

The average weight of the Clydesdales is 2,000 pounds each; their average age, eight years.

Hundreds of thousands of persons all over the United States have seen the beautiful Clydesdales. They have captured one trophy after another in horse shows throughout the United States. One of the things that never fails to thrill the spectators is the ease and agility with which these huge animals move about despite their size and weight.

When giving an exhibition drive, they pull their heavy wagon around in a series of breath-taking maneuvers. Another thing that amazes spectators is the intelligence with which the Clydesdales respond to directions. The driver holds four reins laced through his fingers on each hand, thereby giving him individual control of each horse. Learning to drive the team requires long training.

Scotch by ancestry, the Clydesdales are purchased in Scotland, Canada, Illinois and Iowa. They are usually three to four years old when purchased. In November, 1953, eight mares and one stallion were imported from Scotland. These horses have formed the nucleus of the Anheuser-Busch Clydesdale breeding department.

There is little danger of these Clydesdales getting out of hand, because of their immense size. The driver has no trouble at all in guiding them with the reins, and their behavior, even in the thickest traffic, has been perfect. Fire sirens can blow all around them, and while they show annoyance at the commotion by perking up their ears and exhibiting a little nervousness, they never once have tried to bolt, kick, or plunge. They are extremely tractable and very gentle, according to their handlers.

While on exhibit, the driver and grooms watch carefully to keep visitors from offering tidbits to the horses, as the Clydesdales would eat all the sugar you would offer them, but it would be very bad for them. And the same goes for candy, apples, and similar offerings. It is also necessary to politely ask the visitors not to pat the horses' noses. Rubbing a horse's nose is one of the most widespread errors kindhearted people make. It has a tendency to irritate the animal's nose and make him uncomfortable in harness.

Incidentally, the horses' harness is always checked to be sure that it fits properly and does not cause any irritation. The harness for one eight-horse team costs $5,000.00 and is, of course, entirely handmade.

Each caravan has a personnel of seven: driver, four grooms, and two tack men (they take care of the harness). Sleeping quarters for the men are provided in front of the trailers; two or three men stay with the horses at all times.

Old Hearing Aids Needed Now By Charity Association

Hearing aids that are no longer new can be put to good use by indigent children and adults who are deaf or hard of hearing, stated Samuel M. Cohen, executive director, Hearing and Speech Center of Columbus and Central Ohio (a United Appeal service affiliated with the United Community Council).

The center, at 209 S. High-st, maintains a hearing aid loan service for persons who cannot afford to buy them.

The center has only five aids left, and may be forced to discontinue the service unless more used instruments are donated by interested persons in the community. Aids need not be modern or in satisfactory working order. They may be sent or delivered to the center.

Democratic Club Picnic Planned

Democrats from the ninth, tenth, 11th and 32nd wards are invited to the Ninth Ward Democratic Club's annual picnic Sunday, Aug. 3.

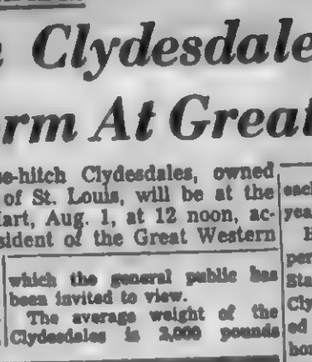
The event will be held at the farm of ninth ward committeeman Frank S. Schneider, one mile north of State Route 665 on Biggert-rd from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

All Democrat candidates and Franklin County Women's Democratic Club members are also invited.

There will be refreshments and games. After 6 p.m., free wieners and coffee will be served.

To reach the farm, drive south on Route 3C, through Grove City, turn right at Pleasant Corners, then Route 665 and follow signs through Derbydale to Biggert-rd, and turn right for one mile.

For further information call Schneider at CA. 4-2646. Ralph Williams is picnic chairman and Catherine Brill, president.



A knowledge of the past helps us understand the probable course of the future, if that will do you any good.

Moose Staging Big Corn Roast

"All the corn and wieners you can get for $1.50" will be offered the public Sunday, Aug. 3 by the drill team of Moose Lodge No. 11.

Starting at noon Sunday, the corn roast will be staged at Schwartz's Farm. John W. Chamblin, Sr. is captain of the drill team and chairman of the outing. Children's meals will cost 75 cents.

Chairman Chamblin recommends this route for reaching the corn roast: Follow the Groveport-pk through Groveport; turn at the second road to the right (Lithopolis-rd or County Road No. 30); follow signs on Lithopolis-rd.

The World-Famous BUDWEISER CLYDESDALE HORSES Champions All!

These magnificent Clydesdales make other horses look like midgets. Each averages a ton in weight, yet all are gentle and superbly trained. They maneuver a 6,000-pound wagon as though it were a toy. Bring the family for a sight you'll remember as long as you live.

Central Ohio Heart Association Clears Some Misconceptions Of Heart Illness

Deaths due to heart attacks become appallingly greater every year. Great steps have been made in the cure of heart ailments. However, precautionary measures taken by individuals at an early age can be worth more than many hours of research.

What do you know about your heart? The Central Ohio Heart Association has prepared the following 10-question quiz to be answered yes or no. Test your knowledge and see how you rate.

1. Do people under 40 get heart disease?
2. Are there many kinds of heart disease?
3. Is high blood pressure common below the age of 50?
4. Do most people with heart disease die suddenly?
5. If your heart sometimes skips a beat, is this a positive sign of heart disease?
6. If you get short of breath after climbing a flight of stairs, is this a definite indication of heart disease?
7. If a baby is born with a defective heart, [illegible] anything ever be done to remedy the defect?
8. Must persons with heart disease accept invalidism?
9. Do emotional upsets have any effect on the heart?
10. Do scientists today know all the cause of heart and blood vessel disease?

After replying to each question, check your answers with those below.

1. Yes, people under 40, of any age, in fact, may have disease of the heart or blood vessels.

2. Yes, there are many kinds of heart and blood vessel disease including hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, rheumatic fever, congenital heart defect and varicose veins.

3. Yes, high blood pressure is common under 50, since the most serious form occurs in the pre-50 age bracket.

4. No, most persons with heart disease do not die suddenly.

5. No, your heart skipping a beat is not definitely a sign of heart disease. Ask your doctor to be sure.

6. No. While shortness of breath may be a sign of heart disease, there are other troubles that can cause this symptom. See your doctor.

7. Yes, heart surgery, such as that being performed at Children's Hospital in Columbus, can frequently help or cure the child born with a defective heart.

8. No, most people with heart disease do not have to accept invalidism, but can and do work. Only a small percentage are not able to be active at all.

9. Yes, emotional upsets affect the heart in much the same manner as excessive physical activity. Persons with coronary heart disease may suffer heart attacks during an emotional outburst.

10. No, scientists do not know all the causes of heart and blood disease. But medical science is making great progress in the diagnosis, prevention and treatment of these diseases.

Here are several other facts reported by the Heart Association that are often misunderstood:

Families who treat the heart patient with kid gloves may be hindering him instead of helping. Preventing the cardiac patient from doing anything on his own may delay his recovery, the association points out. In extreme cases, over-solicitude actually can make recovery to normal or near-normal life impossible.

What can a family do to speed the recovery of the cardiac patient? Foremost, perhaps, family members should stand by him. They must let the patient know that he is still loved, wanted and very much a part of the family.

The family can help him by making him feel he still has an important voice in family decisions. Preserving the patient's sense of mainless is important. It may do a lot in overcoming any unreasonableness he may show.

"Is it safe for me to fly?" is a question people with heart disease often ask when planning a vacation.

"If you can walk, you may fly" is a good generalization which experience has largely confirmed, according to the Heart Association. The association emphasized, however, the necessity for a comprehensive medical evaluation before it is determined whether it is safe for a patient to fly.

Data assembled from scheduled airlines by the Civil Aeronautics Authority over a five-year period reveals that the rate of deaths or incidents of unconsciousness during normal flight were very low. There was one death for every million and a half passengers carried, with heart disease the chief cause.

BIBLE COMMENT

Abraham, Father Of Faithful

Abraham stands in our Jewish-Christian tradition as the first great migrant. He was a pioneer in faith and a pioneer in other respects as well.

A great deal that we can imagine or conjecture, but that probably has a real basis in fact, stands in the background of Abraham's adventurous journey from Ur into Palestine. He was leaving the scene of an older civilization and a fertile land. It could be said with some truth that he went out not knowing exactly where he was going.

In this respect, Abraham was like other immigrants down to our own time. In the building up of our country, we have seen how men and women left the older, settled communities to risk the long journey to reach out for new and undeveloped fields.

It is the pioneer urge, difficult for stay-at-homes to understand, which is a very powerful and vital force in human history. Even those that feel it the strongest can hardly explain it.

In Abraham's case, there may have been a very definite explanation. As far as we know, the worship of Ur of the Chaldees was idolatrous. This may have been true of Abraham's own home. Apparently a strong element in his experience was the sense of a living God. He desired to get away to a new land where he could exercise his religious convictions freely.

He wished to build a civilization in harmony with the truth and righteousness he had discovered. This, more than any impulse toward adventure and pioneering, probably prompted him to make the long trip to Palestine.

In any case, he stands as the father of the faithful. Christ spoke of him as having seen his day, though Abraham saw it by faith rather than in the glory of a large and splendid realization.

DEAR SON:

Brother Rufus Is Canned After One Week Of Railroad Work

Monday afternoon

Dear Jason:

Thought I'd drop you a few lines before I whip up some supper. We're having your favorite dishes tonight: polecat stew—fried hawg ears — and grits. When you bring your Commanding Officer down here for your grandpaw and grandmaw's fiftieth wedding anniversary, I'll cook him up the same mess. He'll love it!

Your favorite brother, Rufus, worked as a Pullman Conductor striker for only one week when he got canned. Actually, he was only obeying the company rules but they let him [illegible], anyway. Some man was sleeping in a lower berth and Rufus hung a red lantern in front of the bunk. Rufus explained he was only obeying rule 14-B which says: "A red lantern will be hung when the rear end of the sleeper is exposed.

Your cousin Morphine Snodgrass (the fat one who weighs in at three hundred) finally got married last week. She's so big it took her six brothers to give her away. Before they were married, her new husband took her out to play putt-putt golf and what a problem. When he put the ball where she could hit it, she couldn't see it and when he put it where she could see it, she couldn't reach it. But she really loves her husband and she says that if she does and he ever went out with another woman she'd keep turning over in her grave. Believe me, Jason, even then she could sure use the exercise!

Your paw went on a [illegible] hunt yesterday and took his favorite setter and evidently he had a great time. All the hunters met here at the house and the place sure was noisy with all those mutts around. Ned Peoser went along on the hunt but was disappointed because he couldn't take both of his Beagles, Butch and Daisy, but Butch had a sore paw. Your father said everything was fine until they were in the woods and let the dogs loose. He said it was the first time he ever saw a fox running [illegible].

Well, Jason, nothing more to write about so I guess that I'll close for now. Oh yes, the old maid librarian, Sophia Sludge, got real interested in a rather slick-talking, spats-wearing gentleman who has been checking books out regularly from Sophie's branch. He made a date with her to take her out boating last Sunday and Sophie says he turned out to be a phony. Not only did he lie to her about the size of his yacht, he made her do the rowing!

WHEN GENERAL LAFAYETTE ARRIVED IN FREDONIA, N.Y. AT 2 A.M. ON JUNE 4, 1825, HE FOUND THE LOCAL INN BRILLIANTLY ILLUMINATED BY NATURAL GAS. HE WAS A MYSTIFIED WITNESS TO A PRACTICAL APPLICATION OF THE COUNTRY'S FIRST NATURAL GAS WELL—THE FIRST USE OF A FUEL WHICH WOULD REVOLUTIONIZE HOME LIVING AND INDUSTRY.

TODAY, NATURAL GAS IS THE PREFERRED FUEL FOR HOME AND INDUSTRY THROUGHOUT AMERICA'S ORIGINAL NATURAL GASLAND. IN THE SEVEN STATES WHERE COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM SERVES, FAMILIES USE MORE GAS PER HOUSEHOLD THAN IN ANY OTHER COMPARABLE AREA IN THE UNITED STATES—AT COSTS THAT ARE AMONG THE LOWEST IN THE COUNTRY.

Something Old — Something New

THE OLD NATIONAL ROAD, as proud a part of Ohio's history as the Wright Brothers and as old as the State itself, is changing again. First known as Zane's Trace and now U.S. 40, the 230-mile highway one day will become Interstate Route 70. As part of the new national system of Interstate and Defense Highways, route 70 will be a multi-lane freeway all across Ohio. Already under construction is a new section in Montgomery County (bottom left), to replace the narrow twisting road crossing the Great Miami River over Taylorsville Dam (top left). In eastern Ohio the St. Clairsville traffic relief route (artist's conception top right), fast nearing completion, will take heavy through traffic off the city's streets. To provide non-stop travel WITHOUT one traffic light or stop sign, interchanges (bottom right) will be built along the new highway at major intersecting roads. TRIO TO ENTER COUNTY FAIR

TRIPLE-HEADER — Kenny, David and Carl Smith stand proudly beside their Aberdeen-Angus yearling steers which they plan to enter in the Franklin County Fair next month. The three lads are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Smith, Rt. 2, Grove City, who bred the steers out of his own stock. The boys are all members of the Georgesville 4-H Livestock Club. This will be their first year in the cattle category, having shown lambs at last year's county fair.

Koontz Family Returns From Southwestern Tour

There are a lot of miles to be covered in a round trip through the West, but they were miles filled with excitement and adventure for the Lee Koontz family, of 169 Sylvan-av.

With their daughter, Dixie Lee, and son, Gary, Mr. and Mrs. Koontz left Columbus on the 4th of July.

The first leg of their journey took them through Indiana and Illinois. "We went on through Missouri, without seeing Harry," says Koontz, "but we did see the great wheat fields of Kansas."

They recall as especially impressive the view from Pikes Peak in Colorado. Bryce Canyon in Utah was another stopping point, as was Zion National Park.

"The turning point," says Koontz, "was Las Vegas." Once past Boulder Dam, they drove by night in order to see the sunrise at the Grand Canyon.

After touring a number of southern states, the Koontzes stopped for a five-day stay in Atlanta, Ga., where they visited Mrs. Koontz' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Clark.

The final leg took them through the hills of Tennessee, Virginia and Kentucky. It is hardly surprising that they clocked 8,679 miles by the time they reached Columbus, for they traveled through 18 states.

MEET THE BUSINESSMAN

Paint Store Sales Increase Despite Ultra-Rainy Summer

Old Man Weather has a direct effect on many businesses . . . and no single group has had it rougher this summer than housepainters.

Stubborn showers have kept the brush wielders off their ladders and have discouraged drying their interior work.

Despite this setback, the Lowe Brothers paint store at 2697 Sullivant-av is 30 per cent ahead of last year's sales.

Under the aggressive management of youthful "Zeke" Young and his assistant, M.C. Marsh, the store in 1957 marked a 133 per cent increase in sales over the previous year. The Hilltop store exceeded all 49 other Lowe Brothers stores in the nation in percentage sales gain.

Young, father of two small sons, lives with his family at 520 Carpenter-ct. He started service with his company as a part timer while studying law at OSU and Franklin University. Family demands drew him away and he has spent the last five years managing the local store.

'ZEKE' YOUNG

He belongs to the Hilltop Business Association and fishing is his pastime.

Zeke' bright, airy store stocks a complete line of household paints, tools, and some floor materials and unfinished furniture.

Young started out supplying 15 painters. Now his list has grown to 140 regulars . . . many of them oldtimers.

Spending much of his time out of the store, Young contacts builders and painters all over town. He also advertises extensively and is cultivating the goodwill of do-it-yourself homeowners. He offers them complete advice on mixing, matching and brush or roll techniques.

Zeke remarked, "I have never dealt with friendlier groups of people than those who come into my store here." "I want to give them every service I can."

Sky's The Limit For Sunflower On Burgess-av

Six-year-old Jenny Marie Rowland, of 186 S. Burgess-av, is the awed owner of a monumental sunflower nearly 13 feet tall, with a "trunk" measuring over an inch in diameter.

Jenny Marie planted the seed in June. It was one of four given to her by her Sunday School teacher, Mrs. Bloxan, of Hilltop Church of Christ Disciples. One plant died early of a blight, and two others are coming along nicely, but certainly not with the enthusiasm of the 12 foot, 10 inch giant.

Mrs. Herschel Rowland, Jenny Marie's mother, found it necessary to stake the monster with a clothesline prop. The huge plant has now produced a bud, and goodness knows what will happen next.

Roys-av Man Gets Safety Directorship

FRANK E. LADERER

Frank E. Laderer of 790 S. Roys-av has been named director of safety for Nationwide Insurance. He succeeds Harry M. Pontious, who retired Aug. 1.

Laderer started with Nationwide in 1935 and became its first field underwriter in 1940. After organizing the company's engineering, inspection and audit departments he served as its manager until 1952 when he was named chief safety engineer. He had been associate director since 1954.

Laderer is a past president of the Ohio Synod Council of Presbyterian Men. He is a member of the executive committee of the American Society of Safety Engineers and is president of the Penn State Alumni Club of Central Ohio.

He is married to the former Anna Belle Schrock of Columbus. They have three children.

Mt. Carmel To Graduate Nurses

Fifty-second annual commencement of Mt. Carmel Hospital School of Nursing will be held Sunday, Aug. 3, at 3 p.m. at St. Joseph Cathedral.

Rev. Arthur Dimond, chaplain of Mt. Carmel Hospital, will present the graduates and diplomas will be conferred by the Most Reverend Clarence G. Issenmann, Bishop of Columbus. Address will be by Rev. John A. Hart, O.P., president of Aquinas High School.

Seniors have been entertained by the Junior Class at Presutti's Villa, July 9, and by the alumnae at a banquet at Grandview Inn, June 12. On July 22 they were guests of the Sisters of the Holy Cross at a traditional picnic at Mount Carmel Farm.

Baccalaureate Mass will be offered Thursday, July 31, 8 p.m. in Mount Carmel Hospital Chapel by Rev. Arthur Dimond. Graduation breakfast will follow presentation of the Mt. Carmel School of Nursing pin to each graduate nurse and a gift from the Sisters of the Holy Cross.

Msgr. Bennett Applegate, diocesan superintendent of schools will be the speaker.

Seven Locals Are All-Star Selections

Seven area lads have been named to the Gold League All-Star team of the American Legion, which will meet the Blue League All-Stars Sunday in a double-header at Grandview High School. The game will begin at 1:30.

The All-Star team was selected by a committee of team managers and Junior Baseball commission members with Bill Gallagher of Smith-Barratt and Jerry Entigh of Southwood representing the Gold League.

Pirates Take Division Title

West Side Pirates cinched the national division title of the Sunday Amateur Baseball League Sunday by edging Columbus AC 5 to 4. Four runs in the last inning did the trick. They hold an 8-2 record.

In Babe Ruth League play, Columbus Nationals beat Columbus Americans 4-2, taking the championship in Springfield Sunday.

The Nationals will play Medina at 4 p.m. Friday in semi-finals.

Neighborhood Playgrounds Prepare For Play Day, Dramatics Festival

At Glenwood . . .

Pageant Preparation Underway

Aug. 21 is the date set by the Columbus Recreation Department for the annual pageant at Central High School. The musical program combines color and costume to make it the highlight of the summer season.

Glenwood will present the organ grinder and his dancing monkey in the circus scene as its part of the program. Music for the scene is now being selected.

Glenwood's Senior Girls Meet Whetstone Tonight

Glenwood Recreation Center has the only senior girls softball team in its section and is going to the North Side to find competition.

Tonight at 6:30 the localities will meet the senior girls from Whetstone Recreation Center at Glenwood. This will be the first scheduled game for the girls this season.

The intermediate girls teams meet Haunt and Sullivant Gardens this week. The junior girls have yet to meet Hauntz Playground because of the rain and will do so this week and then begin the playoffs.

At Hauntz . . .

Clowns, hobos and even Zorros attended the clown contest at Hauntz playground July 25. Winners were: funniest clown, John Coborn, 517 Nashoba; second, Doug Myers, 518 Nashoba; third, Bobby Kent, 479 Columbian-av.

Best dressed clowns were: first, Trina Smallwood, 528 Hilltonia; second, Mike Henry, 462 Nashoba; third, Mary Hubbard, 640 Wrexham-av.

Arts and Crafts

Arts and crafts classes are held at Hauntz every day, Monday through Friday from 1 to 3 p.m. Basket weaving, gimp, papier mache and painting are some of the crafts the classes have.

Boys' Softball Team Wins

The Hauntz junior boys' softball team remained undefeated as it blasted Sullivant Gardens 15 to 2. Don Van Order was the winning pitcher, giving up five hits in the seven inning game. John Goodin and Carl Runicka with three hits apiece, led the Hauntz hitting attack.

Rain delayed the past week's Little Jet play at the playground. Only one game was played and in this contest the Braves defeated the Aces -12 to 8. George Shaffer was the winning Brave pitcher while Jim Widener was charged with the Aces' loss. John Goodin and Phil Cutlip were the leading batters for the Braves while Darnell Thomas and Widener led the losers.

All of the rain-cancelled games will be played at the end of the season. Check at the playground for further information.

At Westgate . . .

Westgate Playground has a new supervisor to help with the sports program. Marty Clark, previously associated with Sunshine Recreation Center, is in charge of the girls' softball team, tennis, girls' physical fitness program, and general girls' sports activities.

The tennis tournaments at Westgate this week will afford interest to all age levels. The contests will be played the week of July 28 through Aug. 1 and the playoffs for this trea will be the following week. Interested adults may sign up at the courts while the children may sign up with Marty Clark.

All young people interested in the National AAU Swim meet at Maryland Park Pool Aug. 6, either along the lines of diving, individual or team swimming, should contact Jo Courtney immediately.

A physical fitness program (National AAU system) will begin at Westgate this week. Boys and girls of all ages meeting standards in running, throwing and other skills will get an AAU certificate.

Also to begin this week is a Teen Club, sponsored by the boys and girls at Westgate. Meetings will be held on Thursday nights in the new shelter house. Interested persons contact either Marty or Jo for further details.

Practice will begin this week for the annual pageant at Central High School. Participants are children from all over the city. Interested persons may talk with Jo Courtney.

Play Day will be held at Glenwood Recreation Center on Friday, Aug. 1, from 1 until 5 p.m. There will be a carnival atmosphere with games and prizes galore. From 4 until 5 o'clock there will be a drama festival and every playground present will participate. Among the activities will be a treasure hunt, fowl shooting and magnet fishing. Whole families are welcome and may stay for a picnic afterward.

At Burroughs . . .

Spirits of the children at Burroughs were not dampened by the rain last week. Another rocket ship is nearly completed. This one is being made of five-gallon cans.

Highlight this week will be Play Day in which Burroughs is participating at Glenwood. A drama festival will be featured. Games and crafts have been entered into enthusiastically.

The physical fitness program is gaining momentum. Do It Yourself

A woman decided to have the shape of her nose changed. So she called on a beauty surgeon.

"How much will you charge to alter the shape of my nose?" she asked.

"One hundred dollars, madam."

"One hundred dollars," she exploded. "Isn't there something less expensive?"

"Well," replied the surgeon, "you could try walking into a lamp post."

Youthful Chemist Hurt In Basement Explosion

Arthur Loeffler, 16, of 284 S. Powell-av, was injured Thursday night in the basement of his home when a tube of chemicals exploded. He was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for injuries to his face, resulting from flying glass and acid.

Loeffler was experimenting with chlorine dioxide gas. Mounting pressure within the flask apparently caused the explosion.

Hilltoppers On Robbery Scene

Mrs. Azaela M. Wolfe, 833 W. Stephen-dr, found herself victim of two young thieves last Thursday while she worked in the basement shoe department of the J. C. Penney Co., 106 N. High-st.

The youths made a small purchase and handed Mrs. Wolfe a $10 bill. Unable to make change she brought out a special key to a reserve money box in the register.

As one of the men engaged her in conversation, the other took the key from the counter, where it had been placed, opened the money box and removed $295, the entire contents.

The same boys had apparently tried the same plan the previous afternoon without success. They asked Fred Lederer, of 288 S. Huron-av, department manager, for change for a $20 bill, but Lederer had the special key in his pocket at the time.

CSC Ruling Unjust Say City Workhouse Guards

Meredith Brock, 476 Whitethorne-av, and Carl W. Martin, 298 S. Chase-av, both provisional appointees to workhouse guard positions, question Civil Service Commission's right to replace them from special police eligibility lists. Through an attorney they claim the right to take exams, in order to qualify for permanent status.

Civil Service Commission has ruled that because eligibility lists for workhouse guards have been exhausted, new guards must be appointed from the special police lists.

Safety Director Leo L. Phillips has asked for an opinion from City Attorney Russell Leach.

HEIGHTS STUDENTS POPULAR

Teen Combo Manufactures 'Mean Music'

"Havin themselves a ball"—that's the best way to describe the Dixieland Five Combo which sprang up at Franklin Heights High School last pring and has been jumpin' ever since.

On Wednesday evening, Aug. 13, they'll set toes tapping at the Alton Grange meeting.

The combo was formed by Bill Fannin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fannin, 4875 Fisher-rd. Bill blows trumpet. The others are: Danny Boltz, 1526 Demorest-rd, piano; Larry Bradford, 3196 Big Run-rd, 5, clarinet; Jim Whalen, 26 Buena Vista-av, trombone; and Charles Bell, 3636 Alkire-rd, drums.

The boys made a hit at their school band concert April 11 under the wing of director Edward A. Graham. They started their career with old favorites. "Saints Go Marching In," "Just Because," "Basin Street Blues," etc. Now they've expended their repertoire enough for a whole evening of dancing.

Recently they "made the scene" at the Prairie Township Firemen's Fish Fry amateur show and the Lincoln Village July 4 celebration.

All are 16 and reportedly handle their instruments well. Danny, Jim and Larry have been in the Franklin Heights concert band.

Food Markets This Week by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables — Cabbage, sweet corn, new potatoes, celery, cucumbers.

SUMMER VEGETABLE HARVEST

One glance at the vegetable counter will be a morale booster even though heavy rains have hampered the harvest. Local supplies are being supplemented with shipments from distant producing areas. This means you can really be choosey and pick for quality as well as price advantage.

No Substitute for Freshness —When selecting vegetables, look first for freshness. Bright color, crispness, and freedom from bruises or signs of spoilage indicate freshness. Another quality sign, especially in headed vegetables such as head lettuce, cabbage and cauliflower, is weight. Heads should be heavy and solid for their size. Generally speaking, iced or refrigerated leafy and green vegetables will retain their quality better than those not so treated.

Changes in Marketing — Vegetables for commercial use are important to Ohio agriculture. Around 63,000 acres of vegetables are grown commercially each year within the state at a value of nearly $14 million.

The large volume keeps producers on their toes and gives consumers a break. The many growers have to compete for their consumers' vegetable dollar. This means that producers, as well as packers and retailers, look constantly for ways to provide you a better product. Many changes have resulted from this competition — changes important to the consumer in terms of quality, convenience, price and availability. Among these is the trend toward more pre-packaging, new varieties, specialization, pre-cooling and other improved handling methods.

Using Vegetables — An adequate diet should include at least four servings of fruits and vegetables. Careful selection and planning will enable you to provide them for your family. Some vegetables, especially dark green and yellow ones, provide vitamin "A".

To retain nutritive value in fresh vegetables when cooking them, use only a small amount of water, and cook to "tender-crisp", avoiding over-cooking.

Vegetables are not only good sources of nutritive value, but they provide variety, color, flavor and texture to meals. A good time to try some of the vegetables your family is not familiar with is while they are so plentiful.

St. Mary Magdalene Church Scene Of Shannon - Di Girolamo Rites

The double-ring service was read by Rev. William Huber before an altar decorated with white gladiola and white fuiju chrysanthemums.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles N. Shannon of Toms River, New Jersey, wore a gown of hand-clipped chantilly lace over taffeta with fitted bodice and scalloped neckline trimmed with paillettes of sequins and pearls. Short sleeves were scalloped to match the neckline and the bouffant skirt had a scalloped edge extending into a cathedral train.

A princess gown held her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and lilies of the valley centered with a large white orchid.

Mrs. Charles N. Shannon, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids, all sorority sisters of the bride in Phi Mu sorority at Ohio University, were Miss Miss Jo Kropp, State College, Penn.; Miss Shirley Heilman, Mansfield, and Miss Susie Hart, Cleveland.

All were gowned in radiant blue taffeta with crushed taffeta cummerbunds designed with round necklines, brief sleeves and full lantern skirts.

Mr. Anthony Troia of Ravenna, served as best man for Mr. Di Girolamo and ushers were Mr. Ralph Di Girolamo, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Louis Sorboro of Ravenna and James Nelson of Springfield.

A reception and buffet luncheon for 200 relatives and friends followed at Lincoln Lodge. Mrs. Garwick chose a mauve chantilly lace sheath with matching feather bandeau and purse corsage of pink cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Di Girolamo was gowned in Dior blue peau de soie and alencon lace with matching velvet bandeau and wrist corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

Camp Ken- Jockety Is Local Girl Scouts Delight

BUSY WEAVERS—West Jeffersonians Linda McKenzie and Bonnie Sayler are busily at work weaving a unit bulletin board. The boards are made of straight branches and twine. This is one of the many practical things the Scouts learn at Ken-Jockety.

POT O' BEANS. Camp business manager Georgia Courtright and Brownie Scout Susan Rogers, Lincoln Village, join in preparing a bean stew for Susan's unit. Girl Scouts can work up mighty healthy appetites trekking the camp's 70 acre expanse, and make short work of bean stews in evening outdoor [illegible].

The woods between the serene waters of Big Darby Creek and Hubbard-rd near West Jefferson are teeming with activity these days.

Camp Ken-Jockety, which folks familiar with Indian lore say means "[illegible] from the crowd" has a crowd — currently 133 Girl Scouts. Over the summer the camp will host about 580 girls.

Miss Janice Harrison, young camp director and permanent District Director of Ohio Trefoil Girl Scout Council, says that Ken-Jockety is in its 20th year as summer headquarters for central Ohio Scouts.

Among the activities available to the youngsters are hiking, swimming, arts and crafts, clay modeling, woodlore, cookery, singing, and hygiene and first aid instruction.

A small, but modern, swimming pool located on the east bank of Big Darby Creek stands out [illegible] in the heavily wooded area. The log and stone dining hall and administration buildings lend a lodge-like atmosphere to the scene.

Scouts, hardened to the rigors of outdoor life, sleep four to a tent. About 20 girls are assigned to different units in the camp, each unit under the direct supervision of two trained advisors — usually college girls who have had experience in camping and child supervision.

Camp lasts eight weeks each summer, divided into four two-weeks cycles with a new group of Girl Scouts coming in every other weekend.

Miss Harrison mentioned that "homesick" parents could come out to visit their daughters anytime, preferably over weekends.

JUNIOR MERMAIDS. Three young Scouts display a new stroke they learned at camp in the modern and safe swimming pool on the east bank of Big Darby Creek. Each unit at camp has equal access to the pool at least once a day. In the usual order, Dublin's Cindy Ehmann, and Ann Beeton and Cindy Rhodes, both of Westerville, practice their newly-acquired stroke.

ALARM CLOCK. "Li'l Abner" provides scout campers a built-in alarm clock. Each drawn at 5:30 sharp the little goat bleats plaintively, and persistently, from his run to be released and fed. During the day "Li'l Abner has the run of the camp. Here he unconcernedly poses with Unit Leader Meralyn Pelfett and Scout Caroline Rogers, 4777 Amesbury-wy, Lincoln Village.

FIRE-BUILDERS. New Rome's Judy Wagner, left, adds her lungs to unit leader Harriet Roenagle's efforts to get a fire started in preparation for an evening cookout. Scouts comb the woods for dry tinder which makes the job of building the evening fires much easier.

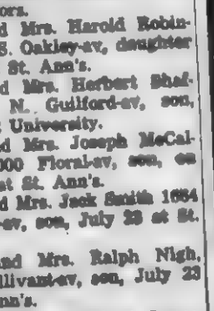
Grove City Parish Plans 2-Day Fete

Dates for the Summer Festival, sponsored by Our Lady Of Perpetual Help Catholic Church in Grove City are Friday and Saturday, Aug. 8 and 9. The church property on N. Broadway is being readied for the affair.

There will be lots to eat under the big tent. Booths for the sale of cakes, fancywork, and religious articles will appeal to the ladies. Men will get a chance to challenge Rick Spires, a professional golfer, for a hole-in-one. A $100 prize is being offered.

Disc jockey Maurice Jackson will be on hand to spin records for teen-age fans, and the youngsters will enjoy carnival rides and pony rides.



There are some people who think a joke must be had to be good.

For Your Thoughts

Question: Do you think the Summit Conference will accomplish more by being held in the UN Building than in private surroundings?

Mrs. Vansel Clark, 1994 W. Mound-st: "The Summit Conference should be held in privacy. There would be too much discussion, leading to rumors, if held in the UN Building."

George J. Dowling, 745 Wedgewood-dr.: "I'm in favor of the conference being held in privacy, for the same reason that DeGaulle expressed. Too many people become involved otherwise, to handle it correctly."

F.W. Jackson, 220 S. Yale-av: "It should definitely be held in the UN Building, with proceedings open to the world. That would be a much more favorable basis."

Mrs. Charles M. School, 539 S. Warren-av: "The UN Building is the place for a such a conference. People have a right to know how it is progressing."

Mrs. Thomas M. Helpin, 2177 Union-av: "The conference would be more successful held privately, than with people present who do not understand the proceedings, anyhow."

Mother, Daughter Reunited; Compare Notes On America

LIKE DAUGHTER — LIKE MOTHER — Mrs. Lina Gerner and her daughter, Mrs. Derrick Cohrs of 618 Nashoba-av, seem to agree that America is both a pleasant place to live

By Ray Sheffer

Americans in general and Hilltop in particular have been praised this week by a German woman who is visiting here during the summer.

"Americans are so friendly! I can't speak English and everyone has been so helpful and understanding," said Mrs. Lina Gerner in German (her daughter translated).

"Hilltop is such a nice, quiet section of Columbus. I love the many tree-lined streets here. I don't feel like I'm in a strange country but rather at a summer resort," added Mrs. Gerner, who lives in Cologne, on the Rhine River in Germany.

She is visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Derrick Cohrs of 618 Nashoba-av. The Cohrs and their daughters, Vicki and Connie, were featured in this paper early in January.

Derrick Cohrs and his family were transferred here late in 1957 from Germany by his employer, Massey-Ferguson, Inc.

The Cohrs family is well adjusted to life here and Connie and Vicki, who entered Hilltop schools in January, are now speaking English with loads of youthful "gees" and "gollys!"

The Cohrs met Mrs. Gerner or "omi," the German word for grandmother, when she arrived in New York in May. She came to the United States via an ocean liner.

The grandmother and family toured New York City briefly and then visited Niagara Falls and the Great Lakes region before coming to Columbus.

Centers, Parks Here "Big"

Mrs. Gerner said the United States isn't really much different than Germany. "We have shopping centers, rose parks, traffic problems and television in Germany too—but here, you have more of them and they are much bigger," she said.

She added, "Cologne is much like New York. Houses are built very close together and yards and gardens are rare. I like Columbus because most homes have backyards and little gardens."

Because of this lack of opportunity for gardening experience, Mrs. Gerner is spending most of her time working in the Cohrs' flower garden. However, she is not familiar with many American flowers. Recently, Mrs. Cohrs discovered her mother had been digging out newly planted flowers for weeds — and leaving the weeds thinking they were flowers!

Mrs. Gerner has visited the Columbus Zoo and the Park of Roses. She has gone on shopping tours downtown with her daughter as well as at Central Point and Great Western shopping centers. She said she was especially thrilled by the "Wonders of the World" on display at Great Western and plans to take pictures of them to show friends in Germany.

The German visitor has toured nearly every free country in Europe and has seen most of the sights Americans would like to see. Yet, she finds the United States an exciting new experience in liveliness. Mrs. Gerner said, "American cities are fast-moving and hurried but the citizens are able to go home to quiet, serene neighborhoods and relax on nice green lawns."

Mrs. Cohrs, who is a writer and was a foreign correspondent during World War II, said her mother finds American newspapers very different.

Newspapers Are Different

Mrs. Gerner pointed out, "In Germany, a story about me would never be printed either in a daily or a weekly paper. Only queens, movie stars and generals ever get into our newspapers! For wedding and engagement announcements or deaths and funerals, the family or friends of the person involved must place a paid advertisement in the newspaper."

Mrs. Gerner's only reproving remark about America concerned children. She said she feels sorry for them because they seem to grow up so fast and miss out on childhood. "Little girls are dressed like dolls with curled hair and lots of petticoats. Girls 16 dress, look and act like they are 20 years old. They look very pretty but I wonder if they aren't missing a lot of the fun in childhood," said Mrs. Gerner.

Having obtained an unlimited visa, she will remain in America until September. She will be permitted to return every year for three years for a six-months visit. She said she plans to do just that.

Mrs. Gerner plans to visit the Smoky Mountains this summer with the Cohrs before returning to Europe.

Really cultured persons never mistake vulgarity for originality.

Attend The Franklin County Fair

JAYCEES TO PUT MAYORS ON SPOT

New Attractions Will Add To Glamour Of County Fair

By Bill Rush

New attractions coupled with the perennial favorite features may make the 45th Franklin County Fair the best in recent years.

The annual event gets underway next Wednesday with four activity packed days planned as the county's finest features pass in review before thousands of expected fair-goers.

Tops among the new features this year will be a boat show with dealers of top models set to display their best. Dr. Waldo Walker, fair director in charge of the show, says Johnson, Evinrude, Scott-Atwater and Mercury dealers will present their newest equipment.

Other new attractions will be a science fair exhibit, an industrial arts display and a rabbit show.

The science fair is the idea of Findley DeWolfe, who is serving his first term as secretary of the Franklin County Agricultural Society.

DeWolfe was fascinated by an exhibit at Hilliards High School and asked the youngsters to come to the fair. If the new attraction proves popular, an expanded version can be expected next year.

For More About The Fair Turn to Page 9 In Today's Hilltop Record

Hilliards Junior Chamber of Commerce's dunk-em machine will probably draw the most county-wide attention.

The Jaycees will put municipal and county officials on the spot—a seat connected to a hinge hanging over gallons of water.

Each municipality has been assigned a specific time when its officials will test the seat. Scheduled to appear Wednesday night are officials of New Rome Dublin, Harrisburg, Hilliards, Grove City and Columbus.

Thursday night guests of the Jaycees will be officials from Gahanna, Worthington, Riverlea, Westerville, New Albany and Minerva Park. Appearing Friday will be officials from Urbancrest, Reynoldsburg, Bexley, Groveport, Hanford Village and Whitehall.

The honored guests Saturday will be officials from Darbydale, Valleyview, Canal Winchester, Lockbourne, Upper Arlington, Grandview and Marble Cliff.

Night harness racing will be featured with eight races slated during each of the four days. Top horses like Hoot's Dream and Scamps Will are expected to test the fairground track.

Top event of the first day will be the horse pulling contest scheduled for the afternoon in front of the grand stand.

A complete program of 4-H and FFA activities are scheduled. High point in the Junior Fair activities will be Wednesday evening when a King and Queen are selected.

Saturday continues to be the traditional Youth Day. The Junior Fair Livestock Auction will be held in the afternoon when 4-H and FFA members offer their prize livestock for sale.

High School bands will perform each day of the fair adding a spark of colorfulness to the midway which will be jammed with amusement rides and novelties.

Other attractions such as the District Ayshire Show, Rural-Arts Talent Show and a tractor rodeo combine with the other features to make this year's fair program crammed with excitement from start to finish.

Fish Story

Just back from an annual pilgrimage to the waters of the French River in Ontario and glad to have been away enjoying northern sunshine rather than local rainfall.

Always the question is asked about "How's the fishing?".

Fishing was good as attested by this true fish story.

A couple of days before our return a boat load of Oklahoma school teachers who regularly visit their cottage on the French river saw a large fish playfully jumping around in the middle of the river near a large rock.

They approached him via outboard but he continued his friendly play. With no fishing tackle in the boat one teacher used her ingenuity and reached over the side of the boat and slammed the fish with a canoe paddle.

She then reached overboard with both hands and pulled him into the boat—a 10 pound Northern Pike!

How's that for fichin'?

Perseverance Pays Off Well For Winner Of Grand Award

By Margie Breckenridge

After eight years of contesting experience, Mrs. John Graham, of 45 S. Harris-av, has hit the big time. She recently won grand prize in a regional Hotpoint contest, covering parts of a three-state area, which offered a "Millionaire's Vacation to Europe for Two" to the lucky winner.

Mrs. Graham and her husband, who is a retail salesman for Moores and Ross Co., had a difficult decision to make.

She says, "With six children to consider, we just couldn't decide at first whether to take the trip or its equivalent in cash. But we finally decided to take the money."

The Graham children are John, 15; Charles, 14; Joseph, 8; Dennis, 4; David, 2; and Judy, 1. Mrs. Graham has been a Hilltop resident all of her life.

Won Newspaper Contest

"One of my first prizes, about eight years ago, was a radio," says Mrs. Graham "This was a prize from a contest put on by the Hilltop Record." It is still in use in her kitchen.

The friendly, attractive home maker added, "Since then, I've entered every contest that I've had the time for, and I've won quite a few prizes."

Among them have been such things as bicycles, roller skates sports equipment and, at one time, a dog, which she has helped her children to win. John and Charles have both appeared on radio and TV programs to accept various prizes.

Mrs. Graham has been able to furnish parts of her home, a comfortable, two-story residence, with some of her prizes. Four years ago she won a handsome living room suite. About the same time, she received a phone call from a New York radio program, "The Phrase That Pays," to which she had sent a card. She came up with the correct response and received a Tappan gas range for her efforts.

Just two weeks before she learned that she had won the grand prize in the recent Hotpoint contest, she received another phone call, this time from WTVN in Columbus. She answered their question correctly, and won a portable TV set.

Sent Two Entries

"I sent in two different entries to the Hotpoint contest" says Mrs. Graham, "but I don't know which one won me the prize." The entry required that a given sentence be completed in 25 words or less.

Besides being profitable, contesting has proved to be a hobby which has also won her many new friends. She often calls people whose names she has seen published as contest winners, and has established continuing friendships with some of them by telephone. Many she has not even met in person.

She has a tip for aspiring winners. "When you enter a contest," she says, "Find out all you can about the product involved. In that way you have a much better chance of coming up with a winning entry."

Bold Thugs Batter, Rob Mrs. Schultz

You never can tell when thouble is going to strike, Mrs. Velma Mae Schultz, 316 S. Roys-av found out Monday night.

Mrs. Schultz was calmly having a bite to eat in her kitchen about 7:20 p.m. when two men in their '20's entered the house, beat her and robbed her of $1050 Mrs. Schultz said the assailants hit her over the head with a gun and crowbar.

She told police they took $100 from her purse, a $150 watch from her wrist and an $800 diamond ring from a case. While they scoured the house for other items the telephone rang. The thugs permitted Mrs. Schultz to talk to her daughter, Mrs. Judy Foulds, and then fled south on Roys-av.

Mrs. Schultz said she had been expecting her son-in-law, Elliott Foulds to arrive earlier and had left her door unlocked. She was treated at Mt. Carmel Hospital for head bruises.

Cub Scout Wing Ding Is Aug. 16

Cub Scouts, their leaders and families from the entire Southwest District will gather at Westgate Park Saturday, Aug. 16, for their third annual "Wing Ding."

According to Chairman Joseph E. Chenault, 262 Whitethorne-av, the event will feature all the fun, food and fellowship reminiscent of an old-fashioned outdoor picnic.

Every family in this area connected with Cub Scouting is invited to bring a food basket and enjoy the program beginning at 2 p.m., Chenault said. Free cold drinks and hot coffee will be provided.

More than 100 prizes will be awarded during the afternoon.

School Board Names Delegate, Orders Fence

Approval of the attendance of Herbert M. Williams, 133 Guernsey-av, director of pupil personnel for the Columbus Board of Education, at the convention of International Association of Pupil Personnell Workers in Detroit Oct. 19 to 24, was given by the board at its meeting last night.

He will also attend the Tri-State meeting to be held in Cleveland Nov. 6 to 8.

Williams, in charge of the many records of pupils required by state law, is also responsible for administration of the compulsary attendance law.

In other action, the board awarded a contract for $1,337 to Cyclone Fence Co. for installation of a woven fence at Binns Elementary.

Western Optimist Club Named Honor Group During Initial Year

During its first year of existance, the club won the honor standing in the rolls of Optimist International.

Crowning this outstanding achievement, members of the club recently presented their first president, Dr. Robert Wylie, with a plaque congratulating him on his work during the past year.

The club had previously presented him with a life membership in the organization. He will soon receive a gold watch from Optimist International confirming him as a distinguished club president.

Activities which the 40-member club undertook to attain the high rating included launching a boys club, starting a new club in Hilliards, maintaining high club interest and supporting an active boys work program.

Supported by the Western Club, the Hilliards Junior Optimist Club flourished with supervised activities planned several nights each week for about 80 boys.

Much of the credit for the progress of the junior club belongs to Hilliards Elementary Principal William A. O'Hara, who actively supervised most of the group's activities.

The Western club also backed the launching of the Hilliards Optimist Club, the first service organization in the village outside of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Activities planned for the future include formation of Junior Optimist Clubs on the Hilltop and in Franklin County.

Parish Homecoming Festival To Feature Food, Fun, Games

A number of new features, added to the traditional St. Aloysius Festival program this year, promise to make the homecoming and social event the most entertaining ever staged by the parish.

Planned for Wednesday evening, Aug. 13, on the school grounds, W. Broad-st at Midland-av, the affair will get under way with a roast beef dinner, served by women of the parish under the direction of Mrs Charles McCarrick, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Evening entertainment includes a variety of carnival games and booths, with refreshments of sandwiches, soft drinks and ice cream available.

A 1958 Chevrolet Impala coupe will be awarded, as well as an old-fashioned lawn swing. Built by parishioner Paul Hoefler, the two-seated swing is suspended on a frame and covered with a striped canopy.

In the event of rain, the festival will be held the following night.

Spilled Gasoline Cause Of Burns

Three members of the Ralph Cassady family suffered burns Saturday when gasoline ignited at their home, 1442 Union-av.

Firemen reported that the father was repairing a lawn mower in the basement of his home, when one of his small daughters overturned a gasoline can. Gasoline fumes spread across the floor and were ignited by a hot water tank pilot light.

Both girls and their father were treated for burns in Mt Carmel hospital and released. Basement damage was estimated at $10.

Short Circuits Destroy Street Light Controls

Electric coils in two streetlight regulators at the municipal light plant, in the rear of 2300 W. Broad-st, short circuited Monday evening and firemen were called to put out the fire.

Damage was estimated at $1000. Street lights were darkened along the north side of Broad-st from Glenwood-av to Central-av.

Under Nature's Own Umbrella

Are You In 'The Know' . . . About National Government?

A survey would probably show that an alarming number of us know little about the structure of our national government. Possibly, high school students and immigrants studying for citizenship are the best informed.

If you'd like a refresher, follow the weekly series of articles on the feature page, written by Archer E. Reilly. Reilly is a prominent Columbus attorney and is Franklin County representative to the Ohio General Assembly.

His articles last spring on state and local government were well received.

Summer Heat Saps Fishing Enthusiasm

Despite lousy fishing conditions the last few weeks several area anglers have entered fish in the Hartley Newspapers Fishing Contest.

Here are a few recent entries: John Ireland, 3210 Eakin-rd — crappie; Pauline Knodel, 1253 Sullivant-av—carp; Tarry Vall, 395 Sycamore—bullhead; Steve Bell, 706 S. Ninth-st, — bullhead; Mary Morrison, Madison Lake — bullhe ad; Junior Ludwig, 96 Shady-av, London—bullhead; Victor Halcomb, Madison Lake — bullhead; Junior gill; Paul B. Borror, Rt. 4, London—bluegill.

The August dog-days of fishing seem to be here, but they affect fishermen more than fish. Bass are conspicious by their absence in this week's list of entries. All the more puzzling is the fact that bass can be taken through the hot weather. Now is the prime time to fish for them on the surface, with loud, splashing lures. Fly rod enthusiasts can catch them on popping bug s that stir up a commotion on the still evening water.

Night Fishing Is Pleasure

Night fishing shouldn't be overlooked either. When it's too hot to sleep, go fishing. And don't pay any attention to what you hear about fish not hitting in the light of the moon. I do most of my night fishing when the moon is full —it's easier to see them. And I also catch fish. Bass and bluegills make up the bulk of the catch, but night stream fishing will produce rock bass and channel catfish.

The trouble right now is to work up enough enthusiasm to go fishing. It's too easy to say "The mosquitoes will carry me away," or perhaps, "I'll get a sun stroke in this heat."

Granted, you will have to take precautions against insects, the heat, poison ivy and the like, but the thought of a jumping bass is mighty attractive to me. Catching bass is particularly exciting at night, for you will hear a strike before you feel it.

I had a fishing experience the first part of August one year which I shall never forget. I was fishing the pockets between waterlilies at night. The snowy blooms had closed and gone to sleep for the night. But their sweet fragrance covered the lake like a fog. The moon was full and there were clouds in the sky. On one cast, just as my surface lure crossed the moonbeam on the water, a largemouth bass struck with a vengeance. He nailed the bait with a water sloshing splash—an explosion.

Landing this fish was an anticlimax, and I gently released him to live again in his waterlily world. It was the strike, just at the right instant, in a particularly beautiful setting, that I shall always remember.

In case this whets your appetite to do a little summer bass fishing, here is an added incentive. The prizes in the bass category of the Hartley Newspapers Fishing Contest are: first, Pflueger Supreme casting reel; second, three dozen lures—Hofmann, Arbogast, and Dene's Gypsies; third, Airex Eldorado reel.

Remember, register your fish at Carner's Boat Dock on Madison Lake. Registration is free, and you can enter as many fish as you like.

Rehearing Asked On Rail Crossing

Request for reconsideration of an application for flasher lights at the Clime-rd B. & O. crossing west of Harrisburg-pk by the State Public Utilities Commission was filed last week by Sam Fusco, Columbus insurance executive.

The original request was turned down because the crossing was not considered dangerous under Ohio law.

Fusco says that since the hearing, V. J. Ullman, executive head of the South Western Schools, has joined him and will testify if a rehearing is granted.

TREES TOPPLED TO MAKE WAY FOR HOSPITAL

MANY STATELY MAPLES that have long graced the front lawns at Columbus State Hospital, 1960 W. Broad-st, are being removed to make way for construction. A 100-bed reception and intensive treatment center, costing $850,000 will soon face Broad-st at the site. VanBuren, Ayers and Blackburn are the architects of this the 31st project in the Ohio Department of Hygiene and Mental Correction's long-range construction program. Four other projects are currently under way among State institutions on the Hilltop. These include 250-bed additions at the Juvenile Diagnostic Center (another 200-bed treatment center is also to be built). At the Columbus State School a 150-bed center is going up, as well as a central food service building.

'Dear Son'

U.S.S. Neversail
Tied up at Norfolk
Sunday afternoon.

DEAR MOM:

Thanks for sending me those letters every week keeping me informed on the goings on at Chitlin' Switch. The rest of the guys always like to read your nice homey letters.

One thing I'll say about the ship is that the chow aboard here is very good. However I did find a fly in my soup the other day and I told the Commissary Officer about it. He told me that it could be easily explained about the fly. It seems that in civilian life the cook used to be a tailor.

My buddy, Sludge, that I was telling you about was feeling tired most of the time and he went to sick bay to see the doctor. The doctor examined him and told him that when he went on liberty instead of chasing girls he ought to get some exercise. The doc suggested that he get out in the open air and try 18 holes or so. Sludge took his advice and goes topside and is learning to play the harmonica on the fantail.

You wrote me a couple of weeks ago that Grandpaw's hearing was getting worse and he can't afford a hearing aid. My Division Officer tried this on his grandpaw and it works fine. Go to the hardware store and buy two feet of plain copper wire. Make a hook in one end of it and stick it in Grandpaw's ear and let the rest dangle outside his shirt front. This won't help his hearing a bit but it makes everybody naturally shout at the old man.

Sludge and I had liberty last Saturday and we went to the USO. We had a nice time talking to all the ladies and girls. I met a nice girl there and we're now going steady. If we ever get married she'd be a great help to Paw. Paw was always talking about fencing in the farm and my new girl, Gangrene, would come in real handy because she could drive the fence posts in with her fists. She weighs 306 pounds. One nice thing about her is you don't notice her double chins at all. Her lower lip covers them.

Sludge goes with her girl friend, Stilletta. We double date a lot. Stilletta is quite the opposite from Gangrene as she only weighs 87½ pounds. (Built like an ironing board.) It was real romantic the way Sludge proposed to her. Sludge said: "Stilletta, let's get married or something." She told him that they'd get married or nothing.

To get back to the ship life, the other day at muster the chief asked if anyone in the gang knew anything about shorthand. I stepped right up and told him that I had taken a commercial course at Chittlin' Switch High and knew shorthand pretty well. The chief told me that he was real pleased and then told me to go down to the galley as a mess cook as they were real shorthanded down there. I've washed so many pots and pans that I've got housemaids knees up to the hips.

I really feel sorry for Sludge. He was telling me that his folks don't get along too good. He says that every time he goes on leave his mother and father do nothing but fight. I told him that you and Paw got along as well as could be expected and all of your married life you both had a sort of "beef stew" romance. You were always beefing and the old man was always stewed.

Well, Mom, guess that I'll end this for now.

Write soon,
Your loving son, Jasen.

Service Station On Route 40 Has Weathered 24 Years

Mention progress and D. B. Tunison knows what you're talking about. He has seen a lot of it from his familiar Sohio filling station at 2545 W. Broad-st in the last 24 years.

"D. B.", as he is known by his friends and seven business associates, has rebuilt his service station four times and has twice seen radical changes in Broad-st.

At one time Route 40 was separated from his door by a deep ditch and bridge-like access . . . now, across the corner from Great Western Shopping Center, it is one of the busiest intersections in the city.

Tunison's station is open 18 hours a day, and a 24-hour wrecker service is maintained. A light-overhaul mechanic is also on duty.

D. B. has managed his place steadily himself, except from 1942 to 1945 when he served with the Army in the South Pacific. His operation has grown from a cold outdoor pit with its hand greasegun to latest in pressurized equipment. At first, his gasoline arrived in 1,000-gallon tankers . . . now it comes in 8200-gallon tandems. Stations have mushroomed all around, but Tunison says his business is holding on well.

"People are getting more particular, though," said D. B. "and we have to keep on the ball. Why it's getting so a windshield cleaning amounts to a wash job . . . the way they are building cars now," he laughed and added, "I count good service and clean facilities the most important thing in satisfying customers."

D. B. Tunison

People Make Life Interesting

Having a business along Route 40 is far from hum drum, D. B. insists. He has weathered six hold-ups . . . one of them rather serious when an assistant was hit on the back of the head with a gun butt. And, a number of famous people have stopped. He recalls meeting Dizzy Dean, Garry Moore, Tom Mix and even Roy Rogers and Trigger.

At times D. B. has had to be the peacemaker. More than once a husband has absent-mindedly driven away, only to find out 20 miles later that his wife was not sleeping on the back seat, but was left waiting at D. B.'s station.

Best business of the season comes during OSU football games. Surprisingly, the State Fair doesn't boost trade a lot . . . "farmers tank up at home," Tunison guessed.

The genial operator has been with Standard Oil since he started. He resides with his wife Helena at 165 N. Roys-av, and loves to hunt and fish often in Canada. He belongs to the Hilltop Business Association, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Coetics, Gasoline Retailers Association and Franklin County Peace Officers.

IDLE MONEY

Benefits No One!

Money serves as a common medium of exchange in trade. It can be used to great advantage throughout the world. Benefits can be made expansive and cumulative when invested in the welfare of youth. Here at the Hilltop "Y" we start with boys of eight, the age when great and lasting impressions can be gained.

Here we have hundreds of father and son combinations, fathers, who want their sons to secure the lasting benefits they received in their earlier years. You can be helpful, too, by putting any idle money to work for the youth of today, the man of tomorrow.

How Much Would "No Advertising" Cost Your Business?

Some businessmen look upon advertising as an expense. When expenses must be cut, the advertising budget is first to come under the knife.

The trouble with that method is—it just won't work. The fact overlooked is that newspaper advertising represents only a fractional part of the cost of goods sold.

Advertising is the instrument which brings the greatest returns when it is intelligently planned.

Advertising becomes expensive when you don't use enough.

It's like failing to lubricate a piece of valuable machinery. You save the cost of the lubricant, but eventually you have to pay the big repair bill—and production losses while the machinery is idle.

FOUNDATION OF NATION

Constitution Was Born After The Revolution

Archer E. Reilly, Jr.
Member State Legislature

This is the first of a series of articles concerning our National Government. They will include a survey of the Constitution, the Presidency, the Congress and the Federal Courts.

The Constitution is the backbone of our national government. Thus, it is a logical point of beginning. Today, we shall consider its background; next week its major provisions and the following week its growth and development.

A. E. Reilly, Jr.

The story of the Constitution begins with the Philadelphia Convention in 1787. This convention did not actually meet to draft a new constitution. Its purpose was to revise the Articles of Confederation under which the Revolutionary War was fought and the country governed during the immediate post war years.

Nevertheless, It was clear to most of the delegates at the convention that the nation could not exist long, as it was then constituted. Among other problems, Congress did not have the power to raise money, regulate commerce or govern the citizens of the country except through the individual states.

The convention was scheduled to meet on the second Monday in May, 1787. However, by that time, only a few delegates had reached Philadelphia. And since it was useless to start before a majority of delegates had arrived, the opening session did not take place until May 25. The sessions were not concluded until more than four months later, on Sept. 39, when 39 delegates signed the completed document.

The convention included men of widely different backgrounds and temperaments. But they had one general experience in common; all had been active in public affairs in their respective states. In fact, half had been members of Congress. They varied widely in age. Benjamin Franklin, the oldest, was 82. Washington was 66, Madison 36 and Hamilton only 30.

These sessions were held in the old brick State House in Philadelphia; probably in a room directly above the one in which the Declaration of Independence was signed. And the average attendance probably did not exceed 30.

George Washington was unanimously chosen to preside. This prevented him from taking an active part in the discussions. Indeed, he addressed the convention only twice; on the opening and closing days. However, his prestige was matched only by Benjamin Franklin and he had little need for speeches to make his influence felt.

The meetings were kept secret to everyone. The only records of the deliberations are James Madison's notes. And what we know about the convention discussions comes mainly from the clear and candid notes, laboriously compiled at the rate of three or four thousand words a day by the scholarly Virginian.

The discussions centered on two plans. The Virginia plan which represented the viewpoint of the larger states. And, the New Jersey plan presented by delegates from the smaller states.

The Virginia plan was introduced first on May 29 in the form of 15 resolutions. It provided for a national executive; a national judiciary; a legislature, with its lower house elected directly by the people and an upper house chosen by the lower persons nominated by the state legislatures. The national government was given vastly increased powers among them the vetoing of state legislation contrary to the constitution or a treaty, and calling forth the militia against any state of the union "failing to fulfill its duty."

This plan met strong resistance from delegates of the smaller states; particularly on the issue of granting representation in proportion to population. So, the smaller states presented a plan of their own.

It was called the New Jersey plan and was introduced on June 15 in the form of nine resolutions by William Paterson of that state. It also called for major changes in the existing system. It allowed Congress to raise money from duties on imports and from stamp taxes; and to regulate commerce. It also invested acts of Co[illegible] with the character of "supreme law of the respective states." Congress, however, was still to consist of but one single house, with all states retaining an equal voice.

The two plans split the convention into two contending groups. The large states vs the small states. Happily it was not necessary for either to have its way completely.

The delegates were practical-minded patriots accustomed to give and take. They expressed their widely divergent views — often heatedly—but having done so, most were not adverse to compromise. Indeed, the document which they constructed was, clause after clause, a product of mutual concession.

However there was essential agreement concerning the general framework of the new government. Thus, supported by the strength of that general agreement, they proceeded to adjust their specific differences and draft the Constitution of the United States.

BIBLE COMMENT

Moral, Spiritual Problems Confront Thoughtful Man

In early times, moral and spiritual problems confronted the thoughtful man. When a murder was committed, it was not only the revulsion of feeling that led to great emphasis on the sanctity of life, but there was the life, also to be considered, of the murderer, himself.

The conception of mercy developed that a man who felt the grievousness of what he had done ought to have some place of refuge where he could be safe from the vengeance of those who demanded a life for a life.

It was from a consideration like this that Abraham prayed for intercession for Sodom. Why should this good man interest himself in the fate of that wicked city?

It was because his brother-in-law, Lot, lived in Sodom. He had pitched his tent in that direction when Abraham had given him his choice of lands. Lot had made a selfish, materialistic and worldly choice, thinking only of getting better soil. He forgot of the environment he was dragging his family into. His fate was involved in that of the doomed city.

Study Abraham's intercessory prayer for it expresses a great sense of spiritual values and a high conception of the real nature and place of God's goodness.

Is the preservation of the life of a few who are righteous more important than the punishment of a great number who are wicked? That is the question underlying Abraham's frank appeal to God.

It is a question that requires a great deal of emphasis today when there is a strong tendency toward mass verdicts and mass judgments and disregard of the just and the innocent.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables — Sweet corn, tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers, peppers.

Fruits—Apples, peaches, cantaloupe, watermelon.

All-American Favorite

Fresh corn-on-the-cob is an All-American favorite among vegetables. The precooled, iced corn you buy on today's market is truly a scientific marvel, besides being a popular treat. The maize grown by pre-historic Indians in Peru was nothing like this. Plant breeders, using modern methods of crop improvement, made sweet corn what it is today.

This month locally grown garden-fresh corn will be at its peak in quality, and probably lowest in price.

Quality Sweet Corn — How sweet corn has been handled from the time it is picked until you drop it into the kettle makes a big difference in its quality. Sugar content is highest in fresh picked corn. Within a matter of hours after picking the sugar content begins to turn to starch. At room temperature, it will lose up to 30 per cent of sweetness in just 24 hours. The golden rule for sweet corn, then, is to keep it cool.

Many producers are icing or hydrocooling (cooling with ice water) sweet corn soon after picking, to cool the cob interior to maintain the sugar content.

Buying Guides — For the best in quality select fresh sweet corn from stores or markets which receive a fresh supply each day, and from those which keep it cool, preferably on ice or in refrigerated cases.

Corn should be free from insect and disease damage. The size and color of the kernels will vary with the variety. Buy only the amount of sweet corn that can be used immediately.

When selecting corn with husks, look for bright, green, snug husks and shiny, dark, silky, moist silks.

If a "window" has been cut in the husk, or it has been husked and picked in transparent containers, look for kernels [illegible] rows, bright, plump, light to medium yellow, and from which milk flows when pressed with the thumb.

CARE — Hurry fresh corn from the garden or market to your refrigerator or to the kettle. The sooner it is used the sweeter it will be. If you must store corn until meal time, wrap it in a damp towel or plastic bag, place it in the refrigerator and husk it just before using.

Suggestions for Using—Corn-on-the-cob, steamed or boiled five to six minutes in water, is probably the favorite of all ways to prepare this vegetable. Husked corn wrapped in aluminum foil, or the unhusked corn roasted in the embers of an outdoor fire, are picnic favorites. To add variety in your menus, include it in casseroles, corn fritters, custards, chowders, soufflés, escalloped dishes.

Freezing Corn — Corn keeps its fresh flavor best when it is frozen off the cob, either whole or cream style. Corn-on-the-cob is more difficult to freeze successfully. Another disadvantage is that it takes up three times as much freezer space as cut corn. Whichever way you freeze your corn, though, be sure that it is freshly picked and has fully developed kernels at the tender milky stage.

If corn in your garden gets ahead of you before you get around to freezing it, you'll have the best results by freezing it cream style.

Big Home Stand Ahead For Columbus Jets

Baseball Clown Jackie Price; Westinghouse Night Slated

Jackie Price, baseball's clown prince, the third annual Westinghouse Night, and seven games against the International League's front running clubs, Montreal and Toronto, will highlight the Columbus Jets upcoming homestand, Aug. 11-17.

Four single games [illegible] Toronto, beginning Monday, Aug. 11, and an ensuing three-game set against [illegible] which concludes with a 3 p.m. single game, Sunday, Aug. 17, comprise the homestand schedule. The Jets are currently on a 16-game road trip that includes stops at Montreal, Toronto, Rochester and Buffalo.

Price and his bagful of tricks will get the homestand underway Aug. 11. His performance is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., a half hour prior to the Jets' clash with Toronto.

Among the many incredible feats developed by Price are a series of catches made while standing on his head, batting while hanging from his heels, upside-down throws and a group which he calls, "Twenty Ways How Not to Hit A [illegible]."

Besides these, he has devised a number of other stunts, such as throwing three baseballs at one time to three different catchers, catching flies while driving a jeep, tossing a baseball out of the park with a sling-shot and bazooka gun and catching fungoes in his shirt or [illegible].

One of his newest stunts involves throwing two baseballs in the air and with one swing of the bat, driving one forward to a waiting fielder and one behind him to a receiver.

With league-leading Montreal providing the opposition on Westinghouse Night, Saturday, Aug. 16, this night again figures to be of the biggest attendance-wise during the home season. Last year, a standing-room-only throng of over 12,000 watched the Jets defeat Buffalo, 5-1.

Among the 26 Westinghouse appliances to be given away to people holding lucky ticket numbers are two refrigerators, a portable dishwasher, a 21-inch television set, a home freezer, two steam irons and two vacuum cleaners.

NEW STONE FIELDHOUSE SERVES HAUNTZ PARK

HAUNTZ FIELD HOUSE—The recently completely field house at Hauntz Park is located on the Columbian-av side of the park, which is south of the 1900 block of Sullivant-av. A 66 by 76 foot hard-surfaced court to the right is also ready for volleyball, basketball and dancing. Th field house is the first of its kind in the city to be constructed of stone and was designed to be compatable with homes in the area. The City Recreation Department, pleased with the attractiveness of the Hauntz structure, plans to build others like it, said a department spokesman. He added that surprisingly, the stone structure cost no more to build.

In the area of sports, the boys' softball team (Intermediate League) has won all of its games so far. The Intermediate Girls have also won all of their games and the Junior Girls won two of their games and lost one. In the Little Jet League the standings are as follows. Minor Leagues — Toronto, Jets, Rochester, and Montreal in that order; Major League — White Sox, Indians, Cardinals, Giants, Yanks, Braves, Redlegs, and Dodgers are running in that order.

Phil Fulton, director of the Little Jet Leagues, announced that Tom Hoffman and Larry Heischman have been chosen as Sports of the Week. This selection was made on the grounds of cooperation, good-sprismanship, enthusiasm, and good all around playing.

The arts and crafts program is offered from 1 until 3 p.m. This week there will be puppets made, newspaper beads, gimp work, crayon and paint wash, plaster of paris and clothes pin dolls to be made at the park.

There are only three more weeks left in the playground summer. This is a very short time in which to enjoy your playground facilities. Have Mixed Volleyball Team

A mixed volleyball team, captained by Ronald Morrow, is being organized at Hauntz. The team plans to play against Holton, Dana, and McKinley in the near future. Any boys or girls, ages 12 through 16, are invited to join.

The Teen Tumblers, Hauntz's intermediate girls' softball team lost to Highland Playground girls in a game July 28. The final score was 19 to 20, Highland's favor. Pitching for Hauntz was Vicki Quinn.

Little Jet Play

The Aces defeated the Jets 5 to 3, in the first Jet game of the week at Hauntz playground. Steve Conrad was the winning pitcher, while Darnell Thomas, Joe Dobos and Conrad provided the hitting power. For the Jets, Jeff Clark, Chuck Beasler, Sam Link and Terry Thomas played good ball in the losing cause. Link was the losing hurler.

Don Van Order was the winning pitcher as the Cards defeated the Reds 10 to 7 in a high-scoring game. Logue, Ranney, and Perez provided the hitting "punch" for the Cards, while Dick Groeninger and Hiram Tanner each supplied triples for the Reds. Ronnie Friend was the losing Red pitcher.

In a close game, the Aces edged the Yanks 5 to 3. Jim Widener was the game's winning pitcher, as he fanned 12 Yanks in the six-inning game. Dave Roman's triple was the "key" hit for the Aces. Mickey Pless with two hits was the standout performer for the Yanks. Pless was also the losing pitcher.

The Yanks came from behind to defeat the Jets 7 to 5 in a close game. Mickey Pless relieved Dan Grenner for the Yanks, and was credited for his third pitching victory of the season. Mike Sip had two key hits for the Yanks. Terry Thomas pitched a good game for the Jets, but his teammates could collect only four hits.

The rainy season has caused postponement of some Little Jet games this season. The following schedule will be used to make up these games:

Tuesday, Aug. 12—Yanks vs. Aces, 12:30.

Tuesday, Aug. 12—Giants vs. Reds, 5:00.

Hauntz Softball Team Wins

The junior boys' softball team remained in first place, in the West Sectional Softball League as they edged out a victory over Sunshine, 4 to 3. Mike Karn was the winning pitcher for Hauntz. Don Echols with two hits, and Van Order's double, led the winners' hitting attack. Hauntz collected seven hits while Sunshine polled nine.

Chicago-av Man Is In Germany

Army Pfc Richard F. Phillips, son of Mrs. Helen Sands, 90 N. Chicago-av, recently participated in a field training exercise with the 8th Infantry Division Artillery in Germany.

Phillips, a clerk in the artillery's Headquarters Battery at Baumholder, entered the army in May 1957, completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kan., and arrived in Europe the following December.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1954 graduate of Central High School and attended Ohio State University.

The New York Yankees each year draw about a quarter million tourists to home games.

Westway VFW Wins Round In 'Y' Slo-Pitch Competition

Westway Post 3441 won the fourth round of the "Y" Slo-Pitch league by beating the Hilltop Lions 9 to 0.

Westway now owns the first and fourth rounds for playoff action. The other two rounds will be decided in the next two weeks as rain dates are made up. In last week's contests Northway Post defeated Hilltop Y's Men, 14 to 3.

Rain has been a very important factor in the Church division. Each team is faced with rain dates to be made up. Managers are requested to set dates whenever possible to get these games made up.

Glenwood Methodist and Hillcrest Baptist are tied in the first round with 3-1 marks. Hillcrest defeated Glenwood in a recent makeup game to draw even. Hillcrest must play Burgess EUB to decide a clear cut first round winner or the need for a playoff game.

In the second round Glenwood Methodist and West Park Methodist are undefeated at this point. Burgess EUB and Westgate EUB each have one loss. Hoge Memorial and Hillcrest have two losses and Westgate Methodist is winless in this round.

Beef Trusters Defeat Mooses

The Glenwood Mooses outhit the Glenwood Beef Trust 9 to 2 but lost in the west senior boys' softball league game to the Beef Trust by a 10-7 count.

A total of six errors by the Mooses and seven walks issued by Pitcher Don Creed proved to be costly to the losers. The winning pitcher Bill Burke, allowed nine hits to two given up by Creed, but he managed to scatter them. The Beef Trust pitcher struck out seven, while the loser fanned 11.

The offensive threat for the Mooses was Carter who had three for five including a single, a double, and a triple. Hoover and Hummel each with a single, collected the only two Beef Trust hits.

First place in the league now firmly belongs to the Beef Trust with a 4-0 mark for the year. The Mooses now stand at two won and two lost.

Parents Banned Unless Special Invite Offered

It was erroneously reported in this paper last week that parents are permitted to visit their children at Girl Scout Camp Ken-Jockety.

According to the camp director, Janice Harrison, parents are allowed to visit only by special invitation. This rule was established due to the disruptive effect parents have on the camp curriculum.

Merchants Sing 'Deep River Blues' As They Bail Out Basements Friday

IT WAS WASH AND SWEAR instead of wash and wear goods that the Davis Dept. Store, Chicago-av and Broad-st, had on its hands last Friday morning. Thursday's 2.18 inches of rain, which brought June-July totals to nearly three times the normal, flooded practically every basement in the area. Here, Joe Davis, inspects his basement where water got as deep as 19 inches. A month earlier the store lost nearly $1000 worth of merchandise by flood.

STOP THE PRESSES! This scene in the job printing department of Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, shows that even a spot on the Hilltop isn't immune from flooding. Linotype night operator Bob Mills (right) discovered 14 inches of water in the basement following Thursday's two-inch downpour. At left is Pressman Bob Cavanaugh. The water damaged about $1,500 worth of paper stocks and hundreds of photographic negatives.

EXCEPT FOR THE 1913 FLOOD it was only the second time that water had filled the basement of Seely's Hardware 1185 W. Broad-st. Emmett Seely, barefoot and managing a smile, urges out water which reached depths of 18 inches in May, six men worked five hours bailing out the basement.

Man's Study Of First Aid Is Rewarding

Smith put his first-aid know-how to use in a hurry and probably kept Richard F. Shirk, 868 Hillcrest-av, from bleeding to death from a severely severed artery.

Shirk was pinned in his car when it was overturned in a two car collision at Safford and Clarendon-ave. Smith crawled into the overturned auto and applied a tourniquet to Shirk's arm. He stayed with the injured man, even as the car was righted. Mt. Carmel Hospital listed Shirk in fair condition Tuesday.

Smith and his wife, Julia, had studied first aid books to prepare themselves for possible emergencies that might crop up during visits to a remote part of Michigan. As a result, Smith was able to apply his knowledge when the need arose right here at home.

Fair Offers $11,500 In Race Purses

Home Talent Stakes Feature On County Fair Race Card

An attractive $11,500 in harness racing purses has been set aside by the Franklin County Agricultural Society for its speed program during the 45th Annual Franklin County Fair to be held at Hilliards, Aug. 13-16.

Post time for harness racing which will feature four races (two heats apiece) each of the four nights is 8 p.m.

Top money races during the first two days of the event will be the Home Talent Colt Stakes open only to horses trained in Ohio. Each of these races will boast purses of $1,000 plus entry fees.

Robert Reece, chairman of the fair's speed committee, said he expected plenty of good horses on hand for the four day program. He hinted that these would not include the top money winners at Hilliards Raceway this summer.

Assisting Reece on the speed committee are Harold Cunningham, R L. Carter, Bailey Bradley, and Findley DeWolf. Dave Wetterman is secretary.

Scheduled for running the first night are two home talent races (a two-year old trot and three-year old pace) plus a 15 trot and 23 pace.

Finishing the home talent races Thursday will be a two year old pace and three year old trot. The night's program will also include a 23 trot and 21 [illegible]

Featured on Friday will be a 21 trot and 15 pace. Rounding out the program will be two races open to trotters and sidewheelers which have not won $1,000 in 1958.

The racing program will conclude at the fair on Saturday night with an 18 and 23 pace and the same program slated for trotters.

The attractive purses are partly made possible by the refund to fairs of a tax on harness racing, according to Reece. The money is to be placed in home talent purses to encourage raising standard bred horses in Ohio.

Draft Horse Pull Is Top Favorite At County Fair

Giant horses will compete for prize money in the Horse Pulling Contest slated for Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 13, of the Franklin County Fair.

A new event at the Franklin County Fair three years ago, the horse pulling contest has become a favorite of the fair-goers and packs the grandstand with one of its biggest crowds.

Pulls will be contested in the lightweight and heavyweight classes. All horses weighing 3201 pounds or over will be considered heavyweight animals with the rest competing in the lightweight division.

The contest will be conducted under the rules of the Buckeye Horse Pulling Association of Ohio, Inc.

The contest involves pulling progressively heavier loads by the competing teams until only one remains. Last year's winner in the heavyweight department was a team driven by Doc Beavers of Grove City.

While driving a team, no driver is permitted to prod, whip or touch horses. Drivers may be eliminated for undue abusive treatment to horses on or off the pulling field.

Hilliards Lunch Room Workers Need X-Rays

Members of the Scioto-Darby Mother's Club who plan to work in either the Hilliards Elementary or the J. W. Reason lunch room this fall are asked to have chest x-rays, according to Mrs. Jack Parks, 4040 Hilliards-Cemetery-rd.

The TB X-Ray Mobile will be at the Franklin County Fair, Aug. 13-16, 5-10 p.m.

Eastern Kiwanis Club Gives Special Awards

Eastern Kiwanis Club will present special awards to the first and second place winners in each of the three divisions of the 4-H Recreation and Rural Arts Program to be held on Thursday night of the fair.

Prizes will include a trophy and $15 and $10 respectively for first and second places.

Free X-Rays To Be Offered During Fair

The Tuberculosis Society's Christmas Seal X-ray cruiser will operate again this year at the Franklin County Fair in Hilliards, August 13-16, from 6 to 10 p.m.

Hilliards' 4-H Club girls are taking over the promotion of the cruiser at the fair as part of their health and safety projects. They will act as hostesses at the cruiser, and circulate throughout the fair passing out tickets admitting anyone over 15 to a free chest check up.

Last year, the TB Society X-rayed 1,114 at the fair, and this year they hope to increase the number.

Kiwanis To Man Fairground Gate

Members of the West Franklin Kiwanis Club will again be manning the gates to the Franklin County Fairgrounds when the annual event opens Aug. 13 for a four day stand.

Admission to the grounds will be 50 cents with a 25 cent charge for automobile parking.

Tickets to the grandstand and bleachers will be 50 cents with box seats for the night race programs selling for one dollar.

Family tickets may be secured for $3. Membership tickets sell for $3 and exhibitor tickets, $2.

PLAN AUCTION

The annual Junior Fair Livestock Auction will be held Friday, Aug. 15, at 4 p.m.

Any FFA, 4-H exhibitor of beef, swine or sheep market animals may sell through the auction.

King, Queen Will Rule Junior Fair At County Event

Highlighting the opening day of the Franklin County Fair next Wednesday will be the crowning of the Junior Fair King and Queen.

Candidates for the honor have been nominated by county 4-H and FFA chapters. Candidates sponsored for queen are members of 4-H Clubs and have completed three years of 4-H work.

Although personal appearance is considered, much of the final standing is determined by a personal interview which will be held on the stage.

Theme of the float parade this year will be "Youth in Science." Fifty dollars will be awarded to the club building the winning float while others will receive $35, $20 and $10 respectively.

The Junior Fair judging schedule follows:

Wednesday — Exhibits. Judging. 4-H Home Economics Demonstrations, afternoon. King and Queen selection, night.

Thursday— Exhibits. Judging. 4-H Nutrition Day. Rural Arts Talent Show, night.

Friday— Poultry Judging. 4-H Clothing. Judging. 4-H Style Revue. Livestock auction, afternoon. Finals in safety speaking and agricultural demonstrations, night.

WOMEN TO COMPETE

Competition in women's work will be held in 12 divisions at the county fair. They are: canning, jam and jelly, pickles, breadstuffs, cut work, cake and candy, clothing, household furnishing, articles from feed sacks, knitting, gift suggestions and ceramics.

GROUNDS READIED — Art Price, chairman of the grounds committee of the Franklin County Agricultural Society, is shown directing work on a new drainage ditch being lain across Weaver Park. The tile will drain an area around the hog barns which was severely flooded during the recent rainstorms. According to Price, the grounds should be in good shape by fair time if the rains slow down at all.

Artistic Children Take Action In City's Anti-Litter Campaign

Hilltop Library was the scene last Wednesday for a practical demonstration of citizens in action. A group of 133 children, participants in the library's Story and Craft Hour, made individually decorated litter bags, as their part in the recently legislated anti-litter campaign.

The children were assisted by Girl Scouts Rita Compton, Ronda Stiles, Sandy Frakes and Shera Richman of Troop 129; and Campfire Girl Mary Alice Schmidt.

Directing the summer-long program is Mrs. William Lakin of 436 N. Murray Hill-dr, Lincoln Village. She formerly taught art at Marion-Franklin High School and since has worked part-time at the library.

Sessions Attract 150

This unique craft program has been enthusiastically received, with as many as 150 youngsters attending. Mrs. Lakin draws on the assistance of local Girl Scout and Campfire Girl groups, members of which take their turns at helping the children with their projects.

Last week's litter bag project was inspired by the recent legislation for litter control. The children made their litter bags from insulated ice cream sacks, donated by the A&P, Big Bear and Sapp's. They attached strong paper handles and brightly-crayoned decorations. "The thick bags are best," said one young man, "because then you can put in wet stuff."

Playlets Teach Lesson

In addition to helping the children, the Scouts put on a humorous skit depicting the terrible habits and eventual reform of a typical "litterbug."

Among other projects carried out in the program has been the making of stuffed birds from paper and yarn, wire mobiles, and designs from nature using everyday objects such as sticks and rocks. Some finished work is on display at th library.

This program is to be continued for another three Wednesday sessions., On the final day, youngsters are scheduled to make space helmets out of ice cream containers. Anyone caring to donate these containers may bring them to the library.

Marine Air Reservists Do Active Duty Stint Right In Their Own Home Town

Sgt. Bernard E. Noland makes an electrical test on high frequency radio equipment used in the control of jet fighter airplanes in flight.

Several Marine Air Reservists of this area didn't have to go far for their annual two-week active duty training. They are taking it at the US Naval Air Station at Port Columbus.

Featured here are three [redacted] of Marine Fighter Squadron 244. In addition to the summer session, the young men train one weekend every month to help provide the nation with a force-in-readiness.

Sergeant Bernard E. Noland, son of Mrs. Earl Noland, 612 Rosh-av entered the Marine Corps in 1953. A veteran of the Korean conflict, he served with the seventh Marines, First Marine Division there. He currently is an electrician with Squadron 244.

In civilian life Sgt. Noland is an analytical chemist with the Jeffery Manufacturing Company.

Serving as aviation mechanics in the reserves are Pfc. Carl E. Caprette, son of Mrs. Gladys Caprette, 512 Larcomb-av and Pfc. David E. Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell, 175 Midland-av.

Caprette is regularly a stock clerk at Big Bear Super Market while Maxwell is a teller at the Ohio National Bank. Both are 1957 graduates of Aquinas High School.

Mrs. Demorest Hurt In Accident

Driving south on the River-rd, her car was struck before the Gloria Inn by a car making a left-hand turn at the intersection.

For Your Thoughts

Question: With auto manufacturers being required now to place uniform price tags on 1959 cars, would you be in favor of the same simple-price policy for other major consumer items?

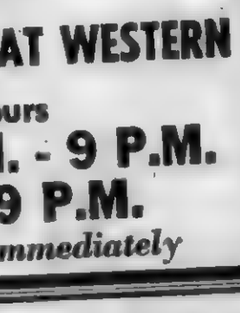
Harold Scott, 80 S. Wayne-av: "I think this policy would point up the honest dealers and help to eliminate the dishonest. As for possible price-jacking by the manufacturers, this seems to me to be six of one, half a dozen of the other. If the dealers won't, manufacturers will."

Mrs. Joseph Auker, 358 S. Terrace-av: "I doubt the advantages of such a policy. It might eliminate competition so that the consumer loses good service and bargain deals. When my husband and I shop, we don't buy from the first place we enter. We take time to compare."

Mrs. John D. Harrow, 597 Chestershire-rd: "It might make it easier for the consumer to shop wisely, because he would be able to judge for himself the real percentage of profit mark-up the dealer is allowing. But, this policy might kill competition."

Mrs. Louise C. Frost, 717 W. State-st: "I don't think this policy would eliminate competition. But it probably would eliminate the shady dealer who pads prices."

Mrs. W. Harold Smith, 527 Nashoba-av: "I think this policy would be a good idea. I don't shop for bargains, I shop for quality. When I buy a brand name item I trust I would like to feel that it is the same price every place. Some dealers who undercut prices do not give very good service, so the 'bargain' may not be a bargain at all."



Condition Still 'Serious' After Cycle Accident

South Sider George Boling, 857½ Jenkins-av, remained in serious condition in Mt. Carmel Hospital Tuesday evening from injuries suffered in an accident Saturday. Boling received head, leg, and internal injuries when an auto struck the motorcycle on which he was riding.

A car driven by Wiel K. Harper, 187 S. 17th-st, turned left from Central-av into Sullivant-av and struck Boling's motorcycle. George H. Gallagher, 72 S. Central-av, a passenger on the motorcycle, was treated for a shoulder injury at the hospital and released. Harper was cited by police for failing to yield the right of way.

'Hire Now' Campaign Starts; Mayor Signs Proclamation

"If each Franklin County employer now subject to BUC requirements employers of three or more) would add or recall one worker to his payroll between now and Sept. 15, approximately 6700 workers would be returned to gainful employment."

So states the "Hire Now" committee of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, local members of which are J. T. Edwards on the J. T. Edwards Co., 1241 McKinley-av, and John Nippert of the Nippert Electric Products Co., 1789 W. Mound-st.

Through the combined efforts of the Ohio State Employment Service, Columbus office, and the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, a campaign has been organized to stimulate employment in Columbus and Franklin County. The committee has adopted the slogan, "Hire Now—If He Works—You Profit."

Recently Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner signed a proclamation calling upon all employers, civic groups and publicity media to co-operate in carrying out this campaign.

Rains Have Brought Up An Unpleasant Subject

The record rainfall and the fact that Columbus people have experienced many flooded basements this year have centered the thinking of a lot of folks on an unpleasant subject yet a very vital one . . . sewers.

For many years we have heard and continue to hear the clamor for expressways and roads . . . probably because of the pleasure we get from riding on them and the fact that we have tangible evidence of dollars rolling down into Columbus town.

But every bit and probably more important is the need for development of sewer and water facilities for our community in Central Ohio.

The very rapid growth of this area has caused the development of problems. It has caused some sewers to become overloaded and has prevented construction in many areas due to the fact that no sewers were available. The same is true of water.

Columbus today has a plentiful supply of good water. But it is high time that we insure this supply for the added population that will surely be here ten years or more from now. And water plants just don't spring up over night.

Sewers, too, don't grow over night and the cost is a mighty terrific item.

Columbus and Central Ohio will be confronted in the next few years with the necessity of spending a lot of money on sewers and development of future water supplies. It is well to start cultivating an attitude that these two items should take a top priority rating in any discussions as to the future welfare of our community.

The current rainy season may have been very good for us!

JACKPOT'S VALUE AT $70 MARK

Value of the "Confederate" money jackpot, increasing steadily each week, has now soared to an impressive $70!

Ten additional insignia, each worth one "Confederate" bill, are printed in ten other copies of this issue.

Insignia, always plainly visible, are printed in distinctively-colored ink on an ad. Subscribers spotting the insignia may redeem the copy of the newspaper for "Confederate" money at Hartley Newspapers' office, 3468 W. Broad-st, before Saturday noon of the week of publication.

Any subscriber whose name appears on our records as having paid in advance or on his carrier boy's route book as a paying customer is eligible to collect "Confederate" money.

All advertisers appearing in the current issue of the newspaper will accept "Confederate" money at face value in payment for any merchandise in their stores.

Employes or carriers of the newspaper and members of their families are excepted.

Hilltop Business Association Presents $5,000 To 'Y' Fund

A gift of $5000 for the building fund of the Hilltop YMCA was voted by the executive committee of the Hilltop Business Association this past week.

It had been previously agreed that all net profits of the 1958 Hilltop Bean Dinner would be given to the 'Y' building fund. Rain came in torrents on the second day of the bean dinner however, and net profits of the affair shrunk to a mere $354.

The executive committee decided on the large gift rather than the small token gift of net profits of the bean dinner, with the stipulation that it be held in reserve and paid upon start of construction of the Hilltop 'Y' building.

The money will provide a combination club room and small chapel in the new building and will be appropriately marked as a gift from the association. It is believed the 'Y' building will be started early next year.

A plaque of appreciation was presented to Gomer Jones of the Sullivant Avenue Airport for his cooperation in allowing the airport to be used for the bean dinner.

FESTIVITIES APLENTY—The Annual Franklin County Fair got underway Wednesday at the Hilliards fairgrounds and will continue until Saturday with four days and nights of crowded activities. A feature of the opening day was the horse pulling contest. Shown above is Ray Stover of Lockbourne who competed in last year's event.

County Fair In Full Swing

Franklin County's annual fair is underway.

The event opened Wednesday morning and continues through Saturday evening with four days and nights of action crammed activities planned.

A featured attraction of the fourty-fifth annual exhibit is the boat show prepared by Dr. Waldo F. Walker, a director of the Franklin County Agricultural Society.

The boat show will feature the latest designs and developments in the small boat field with representatives of Evinrude, Scott-Atwater, Johnson and Mercury set to exhibit their newest models.

Other items that will be making their first appearance at the fair along with the boat show are a science fair exhibit, an industrial arts display and a rabbit show.

The midway as always will be covered with rides and amusements for the less serious-minded fairgoers. An attractive harness racing program will also be conducted during each evening of the affair.

Highlights during the first day of the event were the selection of a Junior Fair King and Queen. Selection as one of the fair's royal couple is a crowning achievement for 4-H and FFA members.

Featured Thursday afternoon will be the 4-H Horse Club Show with members of three clubs from throughout Franklin County competing for horsemanship laurels.

Perhaps the busiest single spot on the fairgrounds will be the Junior Fair tent where activities for 4-H and FFA members will continually attract large gatherings.

Among the attractions will be the Rural Arts Talent Show on Thursday night and the Safety Speaking and 4-H Agricultural Demonstration contests on Friday evening.

Saturday has traditionally been turned over to the youth with festivities arranged throughout the morning and afternoon to climax their annual trek to the county fair.

With the many booths along the midway will be the Jaycee Dunk-em machine sponsored by the Hilliards Junior Chamber of Commerce which invites officials from neighboring communities to take turns on the "hot seat."

Schedule for the remaining days of the fair is:

Wednesday, Aug. 13

Morning — Judging of Junior Fair swine; Junior Fair swine showmanship; Junior Fair meat type hog class; judging Hereford cattle.

Afternoon — Horse pulling

Community Houses Can't Aid Reliefers . . . Bogart

Carl Bogart, director of Gladden Community House, expressed his opinions on the financial plight of the County Welfare Department in a special meeting held Sunday at St. Stevens Community House.

The session was called by officials of the city's community houses who are concerned about the collapse of county welfare funds which threatened a halt of relief payments by Sept. 1.

Many people on relief are expected to go to community houses for aid. However, the community houses complained they are already operating on minimum budgets and have been told to cut costs even more.

Bogart suggested that directors of clubs, civic groups and community houses combine their forces to bring pressure upon county commissioners to not only borrow money to continue general relief but to improve it as well.

City officials Monday offered to aid in county finances suggesting that County Department Director Richard F. Cassidy slice his monthly relief budget from $300,000 to $200,000. This calls for dropping about 25 per cent of the present welfare case load and cutting hospital and medical care payments.

Bogart said most reliefers are already living on a budget of 50 per cent of their minimum needs based on 1934 prices! Most of those attending the Sunday meeting were in agreement that welfare money should not be cut or dropped even if the county has to go in debt.

'Alumni' Invited To Dance

Older teenagers, alumni and folks of college age who are home on vacation are especially invited to the 'teen dance at Westgate Park this Friday night.

Mrs. H. C. Booth, chairman of the youth services committee of Hilltop Community Council, said the music will be provided by former West High Dance band members. As many as a dozen musicians may be on hand, she said.

The program will start at 8:30 p.m. Admission is 75 cents a couple.

Operations Shift By Westinghouse Is Still Rumor

Spokesmen for the local Westinghouse plant have nothing to say concerning reports published recently in a Massachusetts newspaper stating that the company plans to close its Springfield, Mass., plant and move operations to Columbus and Mansfield, O.

Westinghouse President M. W Cresap reportedly told aroused Massachusetts officials that no such decision has been made.

Columbus company officials re-emphasized Cresap's further comment that Westinghouse continually surveys its facilities to make whatever moves are needed for maximum efficiency.

The Springfield plant employs more than 2600 workers in making a wide variety of products.

Parish Festival Set For Tonight

Will St. Aloysius Festival be held tonight, or next week?

It all depends . . .

The scene is set tonight, on the parish grounds W. Broad-st at Midland-av, for the parish's big social event, starting with a roast beef diner at 5 p.m. and ending with the awarding of a 1958 Chevrolet Impala Coupe at 11 p.m.

But . . . if it should rain, the festival will be postponed until next Wednesday.

Two Corporations Join Sullivant Airport Control

Three corporations now maintain the aircraft services of Sullivant Avenue Airport, 2011 Sullivant-av, it was announced this week.

E. Gomer Jones, manager of the 105-acre airport since October, 1937, has issued 12-year leases to the Sullivant Aviation Corporation and AerOhio, Inc., both of which were formed in July.

Jay S. Tritt, 115 Oxley-rd, Lincoln Village, is now general operational manager of the field and is treasurer of Sullivant Aviation. President of the corporation is Harold Yeager, 2687 St. Patrick-dr. Yeager is also president of the Tri-Jay Corp. and vice-president of Tonti Bros., developers. Tritt will oversee the airport's flight school, aircraft sales, rental and charter, sale of fuel and oil, passenger rides and rental of "T" hangars.

AerOhio, Inc., is offering expanded shop facilities for complete aircraft maintenance, repair and inspection. Managing it is Ernest E. Hewett, who until recently was an instructor with the Embry-Riddle Co., an air training school and irregular freight carrier of Miami.

Jones Flying Service, Inc., will continue under the manager of its founder. Jones said he hopes to be freer to do more promotional work for the airport, develop the landing field and add new hangars if necessary.

He added, "I hope the addition of new blood will provide better service and insure permanence of this port so important to West Columbus."

Out-of-Towners Profit

People from out of town know about the positive results of classified ads in the Hilltop Record. Mrs. Paul Gibson, Grove City, wrote, "I sold sliding board on the first call. I'll certainly use your ads whenever I want to sell anything." Mrs J. B. Hill, Rt. 1, Orient, said, "Rented my Ogden-av duplex in two days."

'Dear Son'

Chittlin' Switch
Sunday afternoon,

Dear Jason:

Well, the Hawg Raiser Convention is all over in New York City and your Paw and I had a good time while we were up there. But thank [redacted] we're back among civilized people once again here at the Switch. While I was in the big city I went shopping and bought your sister Prunella one of those strapless evening dresses and she really fills it out. She walked into the Ton Cafe the other night with it on and the hamburgers started to cook on the grill before the counterman lighted the stove..

Ned Poozer's family down in Racoon Junction now number 23. All his kids believe in the stork and last week, Snoddy, his eight-year old lad, ran into the house screaming for his Paw. He had just seen an Air Force plane drop about a hundred paratroopers in their cornfield. Little Snoddy told his father to get his rifle and come running because the stork was now dropping them full grown.

A psychiatrist finnally fixed up old Granny Sludge real fine. You remember how she had an awful fear of telephones. You couldn't get her to go near one. Well, the head shrinker fixed everything great to the tune of a couple of hundred dollars. Granny now answers the telephone whether it rings or not.

As usual, your stupid nephew Cheddar had to repeat Grade 3 again this year. The teacher was reviewing the subject of health and she asked Cheddar what would happen if he were unfortunate enough to have been born with no ears. Cheddar told the teacher that he wouldn't be able to see. Cheddar explained further that if he had no ears his hat would then fall down over his eyes.

That boy Vernon Stench that you used to hang around with down Snodgrass Corners way really is in a predicament. Iona Bulge, the girl he is running around with, wants a big church wedding; his mother wants it to be a military wedding because Vernon was once a mess cook in the Navy; her father wants them to elope and Vernon doesn't want to get married at all.

Iona, by the way, isn't any prize. I doubt if you'd recognize her as she's gotten so fat And she's as conceited as ever I met her on the street the other day and she started bragging about herself as usual. She told me how proud she was that she kept her girlish figure. I told her that she not only kept it, she doubled it.

Write soon.
Your loving,
MOM.

Western Optimist Club

Members of the Western Optimist Club have done a remarkable job since the group was chartered approximately one year ago.

Proof of their hign achievement was made evident recently by Optimist, International which recognized the group as an honor organization. Dr. Robert Wylie, the charter president, was recognized as a distinguished president.

Among the achievements which led to the honor club recognition were the establishment of the Hilliards Optimist Club and formation of a Junior Optimist Club in the same town.

The Junior Optimist Club provided a supervised program for young lads in Hilliards throughout the winter and spring. The Hilliards Optimist Club is active and taking a keen interest in th town's welfare.

That a club should meet the requirements to gain honor status in its first year of organization gives each member of the group something to claim with pride.

With service clubs in the community continually compiling outstanding records, the area cannot help but to feel their beneficial effect in the future.

Membership In 4-H Groups Expected To Hit New High

It is expected that more 4-H boys and girls than ever before will receive county medals this fall in recognition of leadership abilities. The reason is that enrollment in the 4-H leadership program is expected to break the 1957 record high of 140,230 for the 48 states, according to the national committee on boys' and girls' club work.

Club members competing for state honors will receive a fine pen and pencil set—one for a girl and one for a boy. Because leadership activities of these young people reach beyond their local communities and clubs, sectional and national awards have been provided for exceptional achievement.

Eight sectional winners—four boys and four girls — will be delegates to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, next December with expenses paid. Each will also be eligible to try for a $400 college scholarship awarded to the boy and girl selected by a committee of judges for national honors.

In addition, the national winners will be formally presented with a beautiful silver tray appropriately inscribed, and will be invited to visit Washington, D.C., with four other national 4-H champions during 1958 4-H Club Week beginning Feb. 23.

All awards are given by Edward Fess Wilson through the National Committee and the Cooperative Extension Service.

Well Organized Gun Clubs Can Keep Youth Occupied

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

Summer vacations for youngsters often present problems for parents.

All kids are full of active energy that should be channeled into interesting, healthful, and safe activities. "Most youngsters like organized play," says Henry P. Davis, Remington Arms Company. "Practically all boys and a good many girls also like guns and shooting. Whether they use guns in hunting small game or in 'plinking' at targets, the thrill is there and in large measures."

Davis was talking about junior rifle clubs where shooting activities are available under qualified adult supervision. I heartily agree that shooting can be as safe as swimming, baseball, or any other sport. The catch is, that most kids must be acquainted with firearms in the proper manner.

Club Promotes Safety

The Central Ohio Anglers' and Hunters' Club has been carrying out firearm safety instruction at its clubgrounds near West Jefferson for several years. Much of this work is financed with hunting and fishing license writing fees that the club collects as license agent for the state. The club has also started a junior shooting group. Club member Ted Lee, 986 Wilson, and Madison County Game Protector Al Ward will have 20 youngsters in tow later this month at the National Rifle Association Junior Marksmanship School at Camp Perry.

It is amazing the number of kids that one interested sportsmen's club can train in firearms safety. Other Columbus sportsmen's groups have used the outdoor training course and shooting range set up by the Central Ohio Anglers' and Hunters' Club.

If you have a youngster coming of "gun age," now is the time to start his training. Do not wait until you present him a gun on his birthday or on Christmas, or worst of all wait until the first day of hunting season. To find out about qualified training courses contact Harold Green, Firearms Safety, Ohio Division of Wildlife, 15... Dublin-rd, Columbus, phone HU. 8-0021.

Shooting News

A million and a half shells will be fired in the next few days at the Grand American Trapshoot at Vandalia, O. This will be the 36th year for the "Grand," the granddaddy of all trap shoots. Dates are Aug. 18 through 23.

The Annual National Rifle and Pistol Matches are in progress at Camp Perry near Port Clinton, O. The matches got underway on Aug. 7 and will continue through Sept. 6. More than 4,000 marksmen will take part this year. A series of muzzle loading matches are scheduled for this coming weekend.

Westgate Baptist Adds Service

Westgate Baptist Church, 4224 Clime-rd, has added a new service to its schedule of worship.

Complete schedule includes Sunday School at 9:30 a.m., morning worship at 10:30, training union at 6:30 p.m. and evening night prayer meeting is ning worship at 7:30. Wednesday held at 7:30.

Chest Checks Scheduled

Two West Side shopping centers will be visited by the Tuberculosis Society's Christmas Seal X-ray cruisers next week.

Great Western, Monday, and Central Point, Tuesday.

Operating hours are 3 to 9 p.m.

Golden Agers To Exhibit At Hobby Show

An "artists' corner" will be an innovation at this year's Golden Age Hobby Show, planned for Sept. 19 through 21 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts.

Many of the artists whose works are appearing in the show, will create the likenesses of visitors in the form of caricatures, silhouettes, paintings and sketches.

Artists over 60 interested in entering their work in the show or in demonstrating their talents in the "artists' corner," may call one of the local area chairmen for information.

They are, Hilltop area, Mrs. F. S. Jester, 94 S. Westgate-av; Rural-Urban area, Mrs. Nelson Russell, 3480 Cemetery-rd, and Mrs. Samuel Orr, 3495 Cemetery-rd; Westside, Mrs. Charles Clark, 26 Dakota-av.

Area chairmen also announce the exhibits' committee is interested in collections of old pictures of scenes in and around Columbus or of well-known persons from Columbus' history.

Public is invited to the show. All forms of art, handwork and collections of persons 60 years old or over will be exhibited.

Sewing, Hobby Materials Needed By Detention Home

Materials for the craft program at Franklin County Detention Home are in very short supply, according to Doris Ferrel, director.

The home relies on contributions from friends in communities to carry on the work. Especially needed are scraps of lace, ribbon, yarn, thread, felt, any sewing materials, unfinished articles to embroider, crepe paper, old jewelry, lanyard material, plywood, oil paint, used carpenter tools or other odds and ends.

Those wishing to contribute may call Miss Ferrell at CA. 1-6701 or Mrs. Emma Founds, craft teacher, at AX. 9-8007.

Food Markets This Week

By Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Fruits—peaches, apples, melons, canned peaches.

PLENTIFUL AND GOOD

Ohio peaches are on the market. From now until late September you can buy good quality tree-ripened peaches. Growers in all the main [illegible] producing areas of the state report a good crop.

With so many beautiful salads and desserts being pictured in all magazines right now, and all showing peaches, it is easy to get new ideas for using this versatile fresh fruit.

Buying Guides—To get good peaches, look for those that are firm but not hard. Hard peaches are immature, lack sweetness and will not ripen. Soft peaches bruise and spoil easily. The color should be creamy white to creamy yellow. The blush is not important . . . this varies with the variety.

U.S.D.A. surveys of consumer opinions concerning peaches, "too green" has been a common criticism. But government fruit men point out that better growers today leave peaches on the trees until they are firm ripe, and maintain quality by cooling the fruit before and during shipping.

If you enjoy tree-ripened peaches, it is possible to get them. The following gives the approximate time when you will find local varieties at their peak, and are listed in the order of the most suitable use.

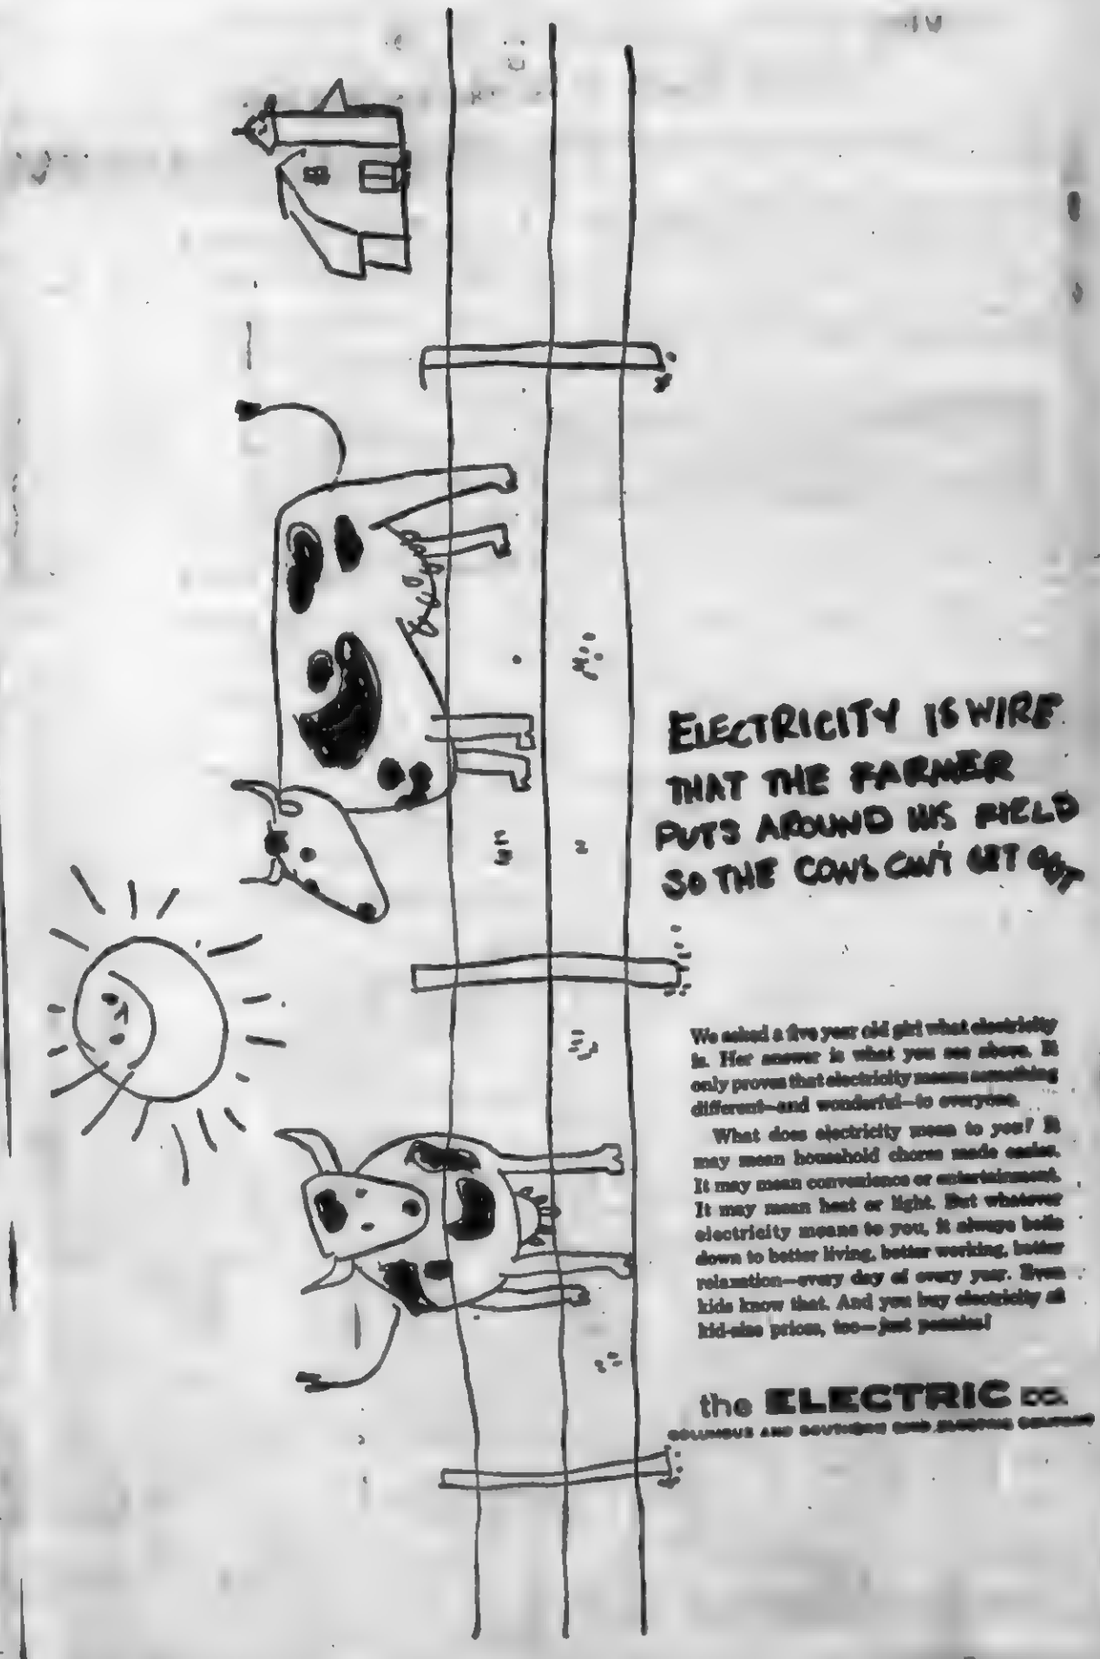
Golden Jubilee — Aug. 14 — can, freeze.

Halehaven—Aug. 22—fresh, can, freeze.

Elberta—Sept. 9—can, freeze, fresh.

Home care — Because ripe peaches are perishable they should be handled carefully and used within a day or two. Ripen under-ripe peaches at room temperature away from direct sunlight. When fully ripe, place peaches in a flat pan one layer deep, and cover with wax paper before storing in the refrigerator.

Uncooked Peach Jam



Homemakers who like something different will be interested in making some uncooked peach jam while [illegible] peaches are available. Since the jam is uncooked, you will enjoy the full flavor of the fresh fruit. You need not wait for a cool day to make this jam—you can make it in comfort no matter what the temperature. You can have it now to add a special touch to warm-weather meals, or you can tuck extra jars into the refrigerator or freezer for good eating all the year long. The recipe was recently developed by U.S.D.A. economists.

If you would like a copy of these recipes, call your Agricultural Extension Service, CA 1-6411, Ext. 454.

We asked a five year old girl what electricity is. Her answer is what you see above. It only proves that electricity means something different—and wonderful—to everyone.

What does electricity mean to you? It may mean household chores made easier. It may mean convenience or entertainment. It may mean heat or light. But whatever electricity means to you, it always boils down to better living, better working, better relaxation—every day of every year. Even kids know that. And you buy electricity at kid-size prices, too—just pennies!

FOUNDATION OF NATION

Signers Of Constitution Had Mixed Emotions

By Archer T. Reilly, Jr.

The Constitution of the United States was signed Sept. 17, 1787, by 39 delegates to the Constitutional Convention, representing 12 states.

The signers had mixed emotions. The venerable and respected Benjamin Franklin expressed a somewhat romantic view when he said: "often and often"; during the sessions he had looked at the sun painted on the President's chair without being able to tell whether it was rising or setting. "Now at length," he added, "I have the happiness to know that it is a rising and not a setting sun."

A. T. Reilly, Jr.

George Washington probably voiced the feelings of most of the delegates when he wrote a nephew shortly after the convention:

"The warmest friends and the best supporters the Constitution has do not contend that it is free from imperfections; I think the people can decide on the alterations and amendments which are necessary. I do not think we are more inspired, have more wisdom or possess more virtue than those who will come after us. The power under the Constitution will always be in the people."

Whatever the views of the other signers may have been, this document has been the basis of American Government for nearly 170 years. Its fundamentals are clear:

The Preamble—"We the people of the United States . . . do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."—establishes the essential principle that our national government is created by and subject to the will of the people. And therefore, has only such powers as are conferred upon it by the people.

The first three Articles of the Constitution establish the fundamental branches of our national government: legislative, executive and judicial. Each is separate yet related to the others. And each serves as a check and balance upon the others.

The states and national government are merged into a federal union. Both maintain their individual sovereignty. Both have relatively separate spheres of activity. However, all are included in one nation. This concept is called Federalism.

Congressional representation is based upon the so-called Connecticut Compromise of the Constitutional Convention. Representation is equal in the Senate and according to population in the House.

Other parts of the Constitution are less clear both as to principle and interpretation. They have been a source of continual discussion and development.

The Commerce Clause which grants Congress "power to regulate commerce among the several states" might not be noticed in a casual reading of the Constitution. However, it has been extended to include national regulation over virtually any activity which affects interstate commerce.

This clause is the basis for the major federal boards and commissions such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the National Labor Relations Board, and the Federal Communications Commission.

The Constitution says "the Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States." This is a rather mild-appearing sentence. However, it includes the much debated general welfare clause.

And it is loaded with enormous implications. Among other issues is the basis for the national Social Security program, various aid projects and the power to wage war.

The Constitution provides for a national judiciary. But it does not spell out the concept of judicial review—the power of a court to rule upon the constitutionality of a law. A great chief justice, John Marshall, with remarkable ingenuity, managed to imply this power by interpretation of the Constitution.

The power itself is practically unquestioned in modern constitutional theory. But various Supreme Court decisions have been a source of vigorous discussion throughout our national history.

The Constitution grants the President the power to negotiate treaties with the consent of the Senate and to enter into executive agreements. This too has been a source of discussion from Thomas Jefferson's time to the present.

It is significant that the document did not include a Bill of Rights. This was included in the first ten amendments as a compromise growing out of the struggle over ratification.

Clearness of expression has been called one of the chief attributes of the Constitution. However, it is a clarity of expression rather than exact meaning. Therefore, it has been subject to continual interpretation and development.

BIBLE COMMENT

Isaac Built Peace With Aggressors

Isaac, the son of Abraham, in one respect at least, emulated his father in his love of peace and the practical way in which he sought it.

Abraham had dug wells, very necessary for the maintenance of life and for their herds of cattle. Their traditional enemies, the Philistines, filled the wells up after Abraham's death. When Isaac's servants dug more wells, the herdsmen of Gerar fought with those of Isaac, saying, "The water is ours."

Peacefully disposed Isaac dug another well and the Philistines took that also. But when Isaac went to another place and dug still another well, they left him unmolested.

Isaac prospered so greatly that his enemies evidently became alarmed and they went to him seeking a peace treaty. Isaac accepted their proposal and they left him.

It is good today to read this story of peace and study how one man brought it about by his self-sacrificing attitude even when his enemies were trying to use him shamefully.

Not all instances in the Bible have turned out so well. There were times when the Israelites had to fight their enemies relentlessly, just as we today know we would be compelled to fight ruthlessly aggressors who would destroy the very foundations of our lives.

Nevertheless, it is good to remember that there have been many occasions when good has overcome evil. Although aggressors have to be stopped, this can be done ultimately only by the triumph of good over evil.

We need more than treaties. We need the character that keeps them, and that character is not found among the sort that destroys wells. The builders of civilization must have protection if peace and prosperity are to have their place in humanity's future.

Says an Advertising Authority

"As advertising agency people, it is our first and foremost consideration in purchasing media to try and get the maximum return for every client dollar spent.

"I don't subscribe to the thought that the way to get maximum return on the client dollar is necessarily that of buying as much circulation as possible. Rather, it is my feeling that the all-important thing to look for when purchasing print media, is READERSHIP. What good does it do to carefully weigh one milline against another, only to end up buying a lot of circulation and a minimum of readership?

"For years, I have carefully watched and studied readership of weekly newspapers and made a number of mental and statistical comparisons between their readership and other mediums that are circulated for the hundreds of thousands.

"It is my opinion, although not officially documented, that subscribers of weekly newspapers will come closer to being cover-to-cover readers than any other print medium available."

"National and state-wide news is available from many number of sources — but there is only one source for local news in a condensed and readable form, and that is the LOCAL newspaper."

—Alan R. McGinnis, chairman of the board of Kleu-Van-Pietersom-Dunlap, largest advertising agency in Wisconsin.

Jim Graham Attends Shoefitters' School

Jim Graham of Harry Graham Shoes, 2384-86 W. Broad-st, attended a school in shoefitting, held last week at the Neil House, sponsored by the William Scholl Manufacturing Co.

Special attention was given to the fitting of children's shoes. It was pointed out by the instructors that improperly fitted shoes can cause permanent damage to youngsters' feet, according to Graham.

It takes a lot of patience to improve the human race, and it also takes a lot of time.

Sixty-one City Playgrounds Active In Pageantry At Central, August 21

THESE WEST SIDE AND HILLTOP GIRLS will add sparkle to the annual all-city playground pageant Thursday, Aug. 21, at Central High chool. Sixty-one playgrounds will have part in the program which involves more than 1500 children. Admission is free to the public. The show starts at 7:30 p.m. In this scene Sunshine Recreation Center girls practice a patriotic routine. They are, left to right, kneeling, Tootie Moren, 161 S. Souder; Pat Clever, 74 N. Harris; Sandy Bragg, 255 S. Skidmore; Sandy Gunckle, 422 . Richardson, and Carol Betz, 320 S. Central. Standing, left to right, Nancy Lewis and Sheri Lewis, 260 S. Second; Dianne Taylor, 92 S. Princeton; Charlotte Wendell, 805 Pierce; Linda Angeletti, 482 S. Cypress; and Julie Parsons, 1229½ Sullivant.

At Dana . . .

"Ole King Cole" will be in the limelight on Aug. 21, when the children present his coronation in the annual pageant. Jerry Thompson will be the king. His guard will consist of Bill Chamberlain, Robert Simpson, John Nicholson, Daniel Simpson, Terry Breckenridge, Marvin Ivory, Charles Sump, David Henson, John Henson, Gary Chamberlain, Wilbert Ivory and Danny Kile.

The talent show took place as scheduled with over 20 boys and girls participating. Many parents were present. Some of the highlights of the event were: Karen Weibert singing "Lollipop," Ernest Humphrey's tumbling stunts, Sally and Charmaine Miller singing "This Little Light of HMine." Several presented a short play entitled "Cinderella." The players were Karen Weikert, Gloria Kimber, Ruth Ellen Craig, Sally Miller, Karen Barth, Gary Barth, Paulette Kinsell, and Charles Ivory. A visitor from Detroit, John Carfarelli, presented his "Great Dumsenger" act with the help of Terry Breckenridge and Ernest Smith. Anita and Billy Price sang "Peter, James and John." Nancy Baber performed tricks and Ernest Smith told jokes. John Nicholson was the emcee.

Anybody for a tug of war? This activity has picked up at Dana. The boys can now hold their own but the girls still have a slight edge. Wonder what next week will bring?

Food Bill

Highlanders Win Second In Olympics

Highland upheld the standard for the Hilltop playgrounds by placing second among the City playgrounds in the Junior Olympics last week.

Highland made 60 points with 38 children competing. Among the first place winners were Larry Graves, 50-yd. dash; 300 shuttle relay—boys, Donald Rickey, Larry Graves, Bill Arnold and Steven Cheek; 220-yard relay—boys, Richard Neeley, Sylvester Jackson, Dorcus Clayton and Robert Williams. There were others who placed second, third and fourth.

Highland will be represented in the pageant. The children will put on an Oriental rug vendor's scene.

Highland's intermediate girl's are the softball champions of the west district. Tournament playoffs begin this week. Highland girls will play their first tournament game this week.

At McKinley . . .

Playground was represented by three participants in the Jr. Olympics track and field events. Saturday's meet was held at the Ohio State University stadium.

Robert Morrow, Ruth Strickler, and Janis Jackson entered such events as the 50-yard dashes and the softball throw. Janis Jackson placed sixth in the 50-yard dash finals.

Softball teams at McKinley suffered losses last week against Sullivant Gardens and Westgate teams. Westgate won 16-8 and Sullivant Gardens scored 7 over McKinley's 4.

Arts and crafts will center around the making of props and costumes for the pageant. Circus animals and clown costumes are being designed by the children.

Gals Suggest Tough Tigers Really Pansies

How tough are the Tigers? That's the question being posed by the mothers, sisters and sweethearts of youngsters playing on the Valleyview Tiger baseball club.
And they mean to find out.
A formal challenge has been issued to the Tigers to muster a team for a game within two weeks on a Friday or Monday evening, according to Mrs. Donald R. Johnson, 2643 Elliott-rd.
Tiger manager Jim Leach, 320 Eldon-av, hasn't yet decided whether to risk his highly talented charges in the scrap.
But just in case the Tigers don't think the opposition will be stiff, just listen to what one girl added,
"It won't be a softball game, I'me telling you."

Hilltop Lions Win Round In 'Y' Slo-Pitch

The Hilltop Lions club gained a 5-4 victory over Northway post last week to gain undisputed possession of the second round in the club division of the 'Y' slo-pitch league.

Westway Post defeated the Y's Men 10-2. The Lions Club can also cinch the third round by defeating the Y's Mens club next week. Y's men own only one victory in the league, this at the expense of the Lions Club.

The church division second round could be decided this week as Glenwood Methodist and West Park Methodist tangle with each showing no losses. Burgess EUB is still in contention showing only one loss in the second round.

Westgate EUB and Hoge Memorial each own one victory in this round while Hillcrest Baptist and Westgate Methodist have not gained victories.

Westgate Methodist played an excellent game against Glenwood last week but dropped the verdict in the late innings. The final score was 5-2. Burgess EUB defeated Hillcrest 16-13 and West Park squeaked by Westgate EUB by a score of 9-7.

Interchange Opening Held Without Fanfare

The first of several cloverleafs, or interchanges, soon to ring the city was officially completed Monday.

No special ceremony was planned to mark the finish of the Spring-Sandusky-st interchange. The project was begun in Dec. 1955.

Bad weather slowed the work considerably said F.M. Williams, division 10 engineer of the State Highway department.

Workman Hurt In Plunge From Mound St. Bridge

Pickup In Employment Seen In Factories Here

Factory employment in the West area took on a more optimistic note this week as Ternstedt began a recall of 640 workers.

Paul L. Jones, resident manager, said 140 employes returned Monday and an estimated 500 more would be on the job by Aug. 18. With the completion of its 1959 auto model changeovers, General Motors reported it will recall more than 100,000 hourly workers in the nation by October.

At the new International Harvester Co. parts depot, [illegible] Sullivant-av, an average of eight to ten men are being added to the pay roll every week. J. R. Christy, assistant plant manager, said the force now numbers slightly over 100 and will probably grow to 200 by January. Applications are being graded and new men called as needed, he said.

Christy said the company is still shooting for an official opening on Sept. 1. It may be delayed a couple of weeks, however; pending a complete stocking of parts. The depot will supply implement, truck and appliance parts to 17 districts in five states. Six to ten truckloads are arriving weekly. A series of public, press and dealer meetings will be arranged when the work is finished, Christy said.

Employment at Westinghouse is remaining the same for the time being, a company spokesman indicated.

Now...Diploma Goes With First Haircut

"TRIM 'ER CLOSE on the sides, Rocky." Little John Joseph Duggan, 2½, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Duggan, 885 Wiltshire-rd, watches in the mirror as his first baby curls drop from the careful scissors of Rocco Latero.

DIPLOMA which a Hilltop barber, Bud Exso gives out with each first haircut.

What's the most important day in a fellow's life? That first tooth . . . first day of school . . . first shave . . . the trip down the aisle?

It's hard to answer that one, but many parents get a little dewey-eyed the day Junior gets his first haircut.

Barber C.L. "Bud" Exso, 14 N. Harris-av, knows this full well and has done something to mark that "graduation from babyhood." He gives a diploma with every first haircut.

No matter whether Junior leaves the chair beaming or blubbering, he still rates. On Barber Exso's brightly colored certificated is the declaration that the youngster has been graduated from babyhood "having bravely submitted to the shears of our barber and received his first haircut." Taped to th seal in the corner is that frist precious lock of hair.

Exso is convinced that this "sheepskin of the shears" is an excellent sendoff into the future.

"HEY, NOT BAD . . . if I do say so myself!" Now, 100 per cent boy, young Master Duggan critically appraises his first haircut.

Hilltop Lions Win Round In 'Y' Slo-Pitch

The Hilltop Lions club gained a 5-4 victory over Northway post last week to gain undisputed possession of the second round in the club division of the 'Y' slo-pitch league.

Westway Post defeated the Y's Men 10-2. The Lions Club can also cinch the third round by defeating the Y's Mens club next week. Y's men own only one victory in the league, this at the expense of the Lions Club.

The church division second round could be decided this week as Glenwood Methodist and West Park Methodist tangle with each showing no losses. Burgess EUB is still in contention showing only one loss in the second round.

Westgate EUB and Hoge Memorial each own one victory in this round while Hillcrest Baptist and Westgate Methodist have not gained victories.

Westgate Methodist played an excellent game against Glenwood last week but dropped the verdict in the late innings. The final score was 5-2. Burgess EUB defeated Hillcrest 16-13 and West Park squeaked by Westgate EUB by a score of 9-7.

Interchange Opening Held Without Fanfare

The first of several cloverleafs, or interchanges, soon to ring the city was officially completed Monday.

No special ceremony was planned to mark the finish of the Spring-Sandusky-st interchange. The project was begun in Dec. 1958.

Bad weather slowed the work considerably said F.M. Williams, division 10 engineer of the State Highway department.

Workman Hurt In Plunge From Mound St. Bridge

Roger Williams, 37 of Asheville, injured when he fell from the Mound-st bridge, Monday, into knee-deep water of the Scioto River, was listed in "fair" condition in Mt. Carmel yesterday.

Williams had dropped from a rope used to lower himself to a tree he was trimming near the bridge. He completed the trimming and was pulling himself up when his grip slipped.

Fire department emergency squadmen pulled him from the river and took him to Mt. Carmel.

An employe of the Ruckman and Hanson Construction Co. of Ft. Wayne, Ind., he and other workers had been clearing brush from the island in the middle of the river in advance of surveyors for the Mound-st section of the innerbelt system.

Pickup In Employment Seen In Factories Here

Factory employment in the West area took on a more optimistic note this week as Ternstedt began a recall of 640 workers.

Paul L. Jones, resident manager, said 140 employes returned Monday and an estimated 500 more would be on the job by Aug. 18. With the completion of its 1960 auto model changeovers, General Motors reported it will recall more than 100,000 hourly workers in the nation by October.

At the new International Harvester Co. parts depot, 3600 Sullivant-av, an average of eight to ten men are being added to the pay roll every week. J. R. Christy, assistant plant manager, said the force now numbers slightly over 100 and will probably grow to 200 by January. Applications are being graded and new men called as needed, he said.

Christy said the company is still shooting for an official opening on Sept. 1. It may be delayed a couple of weeks, however, pending a complete stocking of parts. The depot will supply implement, truck and appliance parts to 17 districts in five states. Six to ten truckloads are arriving weekly. A series of public, press and dealer meetings will be arranged when the work is finished, Christy said.

Employment at Westinghouse is remaining the same for the time being, a company spokesman indicated.

"No man is an island"

The really important moments of a lifetime

Are moments shared with your family

These are the hours you remember

They are the ones which linger longest in the memory of your children.

Surely one of the greatest gifts within your power to give a child is your belief in God. And what more natural way to do it than by worshiping with your family each week at your church or synagogue. As they find God, so will your own faith grow.

Joining together in worship is more than an act of faith. It's a link with the future ... a point upon which you and your family can build a better tomorrow.

Give them a Faith to live by  Worship with them this week

Troop Holds Swim

Atending were Scoutmasters Ikie Dep'Efantie and Marvin Wright, and Scouters Brad Wilson, Bob Brothers, Mike Poe, Joe Tilly, Billy May, Glen Sansbury, Gary Sansbury, and Bob [illegible].

Troop 14 would like to welcome as prospective members all boys over 11 years of age. Those interested may contact Glen Sansbury, BR. 46171, or go to the Church of the Savior, 1074 W. Broad-st, (next to the Richer Dairy) and Thursday after 7 p.m. Glen Sansbury, troop historian.

Stinson Wins Dog Show

Tommy Stinson, a member of Troop 89, won first place in the "junior handler's" division of the Heart of Ohio Great Dane Show held Aug. 3, by the Central Ohio Great Dane Club. Tommy received a trophy. The most unusual part of the contest was that Tommy didn't even use his own dog—the Dane belonged to Norman Myers, an explorer in the troop.

Linda Rockhold daughter of troop committeeman Collins Rockhold, won first in the girl's division of the same event. The Rockholds live at 1820 Littlea-av.

Picnic Successful

The picnic held Sunday by the parents' auxiliary of troop, pack and Post 235 was a success, with about 60 people present. There was plenty of food and entertainment was provided with a series of lively contests.

Winners of the three-legged race were Post Advisor "Big Jim" Demorest aand his son; Chic Smith won the Boy Scout sack race and the peanut toss; Mr. Ringhauser and Mrs. Martin won the broom throw; and Jim Demorest won the sack race for Explorers.

The "dads" won the father-and-son baseball game.

Practice Morse Code

Morse Code is the big interest in Troop 348 this month. John Leonard, Jr., has made code cards for the boys to use in troop meetings, with the theory that the code will be easier to learn if the troop makes a game of it.

Troop member Larry Bradford is bringing a telegraph set to the next meeting for more serious code practice.

Faith is a knowledge of the benevolence of God toward us, and a certain persuasion of His veracity. —John Calvin

Nine students from the Hilltop were among 14 from the city who were graduated Aug. 8 from General Motors Institute at Flint, Mich. All were sponsored at the engineering college by the Columbus Ternstedt plant.

Receiving graduating certificates representing proficiency acquired through four years of cooperative college level training were James J. Bailey, 3029 Sullivant-av; Harley L. Lyons, 70 S. Terrace-av; Lowell Edward Noland, 67 Midland-av; Charles E. Paugh, 245 N. Burgess-av; Danny D. Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clary Elliott, 223 S. Huron-av; and Art Rosemeier, 171 Guernsey-av (who was featured in last week's paper.)

The cooperative educational program, in which the Ternstedt Plant is sponsoring 28 students at present, is characterized by alternate periods of formal schooling at GMI and work in the various sections of the local plant.

"In this manner the students have an opportunity to secure a sound professional education and at the same time receive experience in the varied challenging activities," said P. L. Jones, resident manager. More than 70 per cent of GMI graduates have remained with General Motors, the company reported.

Localites Named To Health Council

Robert H. Davis, M.M.D., 70 S. Sylvan-av, and Miss Mary A. Farris, R.N., 602 Chesterahire-rd, have been appointed to the Metropolitan Health Committee of United Community Council.

Within the Metropolitan Health Committee, representatives of health agencies, medical and allied fields and interested citizens work together to improve health conditions in Columbus and Franklin County.

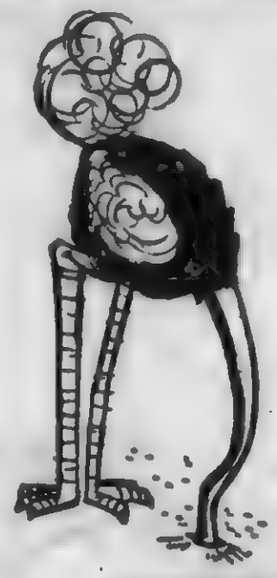
The committee recommends health projects, studies and policies to the priorities and research committee and trustees of United Community Council.

Aisel Injured In Crash

Carl E. Aisel, 607 Whitehorne-av, suffered stomach bruises Sunday afternoon when his auto smacked into slow-moving traffic on Route 161 near Sawmill-rd.

One of the cars then careened across the road and struck the lead jeep of an Ohio National Guard convoy. Four of the passengers in the three-car tangle required hospital treatment.

Wilson Finishes Basic



Army Pvt. William H. Wilson, 24, whose wife, Gloria, lives at 4115 Sexton-dr, recently completed eight weeks of basic combat training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Your Youth

By Al Hollowell and Brad Martin

Approximately 25 boys turned out for the Hilltop YMCA Summer Fun Club track meet at West Broad Street School last Wednesday morning. Thursday afternoon 20 boys took to the water at the Central "Y" for a "splash party."

Friday, 30 boys took part in a "hobo hike"—each dressed in hobo costume and carrying his lunch. The prize for the best hobo costume went to Bob Briggs and following in close order were Steve Hedges, Jim Porterm, Joe Kaderly and Charles Bergman.

The Hilltop Y's ten-acre lot on Valleyview-dr has been the site of much activity this past week. Monday, Aug. 4, the Yankees won from the Red Sox, 9-7 in the first exhibition game between teams in the Hilltop "Y" Little Nine baseball league.

Several of the players had their parents out to watch them play. Both teams played very well, so that all present enjoyed the game.

This past Monday the Cubs and Braves were scheduled to show their talents in an evening game on the "Y's" Valleyview diamond. Friday the Whitesox and the Tigers are scheduled to play an exhibition game there, too. The purpose of these 6 p.m. games is to allow parents and other interested adults to see the boys in the Hilltop "Y" baseball program play ball, and to make use of the property on which the "Y" will build in the future. Members of the Hilltop "Y's" Men's Club have been mowing away each evening this past week to make the area look like a regular park.

Each Saturday morning Al Hollowell, along with several interested dads, works with boys seven and eight years old in what is known as a "skeeter league" on the Valleyview lot. As work continues on the development of the "Y" lot it is expected that more events will be scheduled there.

Schedule for the week follows:

Wednesday, Aug. 12—Little 9 baseball—West High, 9 a.m.; "Y" Rubberneck Tour—meet at "Y" 9:30 a.m.; "Y" Slo-Pitch—Club Division—Westgate, 6 p.m.; "Y" Indian Guides—Mingo, Seneca, Huron, Comanche Tribes, 7:30 p.m. "Y" Movies—Westgate Park 7:30 p.m.

PLAYGROUND NOTES

At Glenwood . . .

Little Jets Busy

Because of favorable weather, a full schedule of games was played at Glenwood Recreation Center this past week.

At the conclusion of Thursday's games the Reds and the Yanks were tied for first place with a 7 and 3 record. There is also a third place tie between the Hawks and the Aces. Both teams have a 5 and 5 win-loss record. The Cubs have a 4 and 6 record which puts them ahead of the sixth place Cards who own a 2 and 8 record.

All Little Jet players are reminded that games now begin at 12:15 and 2 p.m. All boys must report promptly for their games during the final two weeks of play.

Ken Bradley is still the leading hitter, but is followed closely by Creamer, J. Ball, J. Pennington and Billy Smith.

Glenwood Mooses Lose

The Glenwood Mooses lost to the senior boys softball team from Ninth Avenue playground by a 18-9 score in the West Senior Boys' League. The winning pitcher was Huston and Don Creed the loser.

Carter had two hits for the losers.

In their second game of the week, the Mooses soundly defeated Kingswood Playground 27 to 1.

Don Creed was winning pitcher. Featheroff and Richards, each with 5 for 5, had a perfect day at the plate for the winners.

Trust Loses to Sullivant

Sullivant Garden senior boys softball team handed the Glenwood Beef Trust their first loss by a 13-8 score.

Bill Burke, pitching for the losers, allowed 11 hits, walked six batters and struck out four. The winner, Stinson, gave up eight hits, fanned two and walked three.

Hummel and Gilliland had two hits for three times at bat for the losers, while Radcliff and Stinston were the offensive threats for the winners with three for four and one for one respectively.

Earlier last week, the Beef Trust trounced Burroughs Playground 23-4. Bill Burke, is winning his fifth consecutive game, fanned 14 batters, walked five and yielded only five hits. Losing pitcher was L. Smith.

Hummel was the leading Trust hitter.

With a mark of 5-1, the Beef Trust is in second place in the league. First place belongs to Sullivant Gardens, sporting a 6-1 total for the season.

At Hauntz . . .

Hobby Show Friday

The children of Hauntz Playground are planning a hobby show on Friday, Aug. 15, at 3 p.m. All participating will have their hobbies on display. Awards will be given three place winners in the most original, best organized, funniest and best "all around" hobby and largest hobbies. All boys and girls are welcome to take part. Refreshments will be served.

Clubs Set Swim Party

Guys and Dolls Club and Teen Club are having a swimming party and wiener roast Thursday, Aug. 14, 3 p.m. at Indian Village Camp. All members are to meet at Hauntz playground at 2 p.m. Thursday.

The Braves trounced the Reds 12 to 4 in the first Little Jet game of the week at Hauntz playground. George Shaffer was the winning pitcher for the Braves, striking out 12 and allowing only six hits. John Goodin and Rodger Johnson had two hits apiece for the Braves. Danny Scholz' two hits led the [illegible].

The Aces defeated the Giants 12 to 8. Trailing 8 to 2 going into the fourth inning, Steve Conrad, Dave Romans, Jim Widener and Jim Lilley sparked the Aces to a 10 to 8 lead.

The Cards, behind the two-hit pitching of Jack Logue, defeated the Jets 12 to 2. Logue was also the team's leading hitter, collecting four hits in four trips. Sam Link and Charles Beesler collected one hit apiece for the jets.

In one of the "tightest" games of the season, the Yanks edged the Giants two to 1. Carl Ruzicka was the losing Giant pitcher, striking out 12 batsmen. Ruzicka had a no hit game going, with two outs in the last inning and his team leading 1 to 0. He walked a Yank batter and then Mickey Pless homered down the right field line to give the Yanks their margin of victory. Ruzicka's heartbreaking loss was the Giants' sixth of the season, compared to one victory.

In a crucial game, the Cards downed the Braves 4 to 2. The loss virtualy eliminated the Braves from the championship race, while the Cards remain in a three-team tie for first position. Don Van Order was the winning Card pitcher, while Jack Logue supplied the hitting power. John Goodin was charged with the loss.

League standings with only one week of play remaining are:

Cards	7	2
Yanks	6	2
[illegible]	6	3
[illegible]	4	4
[illegible]	3	6
Jets	2	8
Giants	1	6

All players are asked to check at the field-house to find out when their make-up games are scheduled.

The Hauntz Junior Boys' softball team defeated the Holton squad 5 to 2, for their seventh straight victory. The win gave the loveal playground the championship of the West Sectional League.

School Builders In Frenzied Race Against Time

Hilltop's tremendous school building and expansion program, designed to keep pace with the community's rapidly increasing population as well as absorb children from newly-annexed areas, has made a gigantic stride forward during the summer months.

New elementary and junior high school buildings are under construction, aditional rooms are being added to an existing elementary school, boundaries have been moved and school districts re-defined to meet the sudden demand for greatly-enlarged school facilities.

In order to be ready for the increased enrollment with a smoothly-functioning program before opening day on Sept. 3, schools must receive registrations of all students next week.

Principals and staff members will be on duty all week, beginning Monday, Aug. 25, to enroll students.

Lindbergh Opening Uncertain

Apprehensive school officials, with one eye on the calendar and the other on frenzied building activities, expressed doubt for the completion of Lindbergh School, 2541 Lindbergh-dr, in time for September enrollment.

Although plans were completed early in the spring, actual construction couldn't get under way until after June 9, when the State Board of Education finally approved transfer of the district from Southwestern School jurisdiction to the city system.

Weeks of rain and bad weather offered further delays.

C. L. Dumaree, assistant superintendent of schools, said the board will withhold a final decision until the middle of next week, when an inspection will be made of construction progress.

The school was planned to accommodate children living in the eastern portion of Binns Elementary district, freeing desks and seats at Binns for youngsters living in Georgian Heights.

Tentative plans, subject to change next week, call for classes in grades kindergarten through third to be held at Lindbergh, starting when school opens. Grades four, five and six will attend Binns until the building is completed.

Opening date at Lindbergh might be postponed for a few days. In the event it is not ready for occupancy within a short while after Sept. 3, children will be assigned to nearby schools.

West Mound

A six-room addition to West Mound Street School, designed to absorb children living in the annexed Res-Rainbow area, is expected to be finished by school opening date, and new students should be enrolled there.

The enlargement, third since the school was opened in September, 1952, brings the total number of classrooms to 22.

Lions' Family Picnic Slated This Thursday

West Franklin Man Assumes Command Of Naval Reserve

Lt. Howard W. Trabue, 28-year-old descendant of a pioneer West Franklin County family, will become commander of the Columbus Naval Reserve training center Wednesday night.

In a special relieving ceremony at the center at 240 N. Sandusky-st, Lt. Trabue will assume the duties of Commander Raymond F. Willott, who is retiring after 30 years of service. An inspection of Surface Division 4-95 will be conducted This and a second division training here consist of about 200 Central Ohio reservists. They hold the top second and third highest efficiency ratings in the nation.

Lt. Trabue is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George G. Trabue, 2271 McKinley-av. His parents and a brother, George, maintain a farm which was an original Virginia Military district grant to the family.

Lt. Trabue enlisted in the Naval Reserve program at West High School in 1947, at the advice of math teacher Irvin Cammarn. He was called to active duty during the Korean War and served as seaman aboard a destroyer.

He was graduated from the College of Agriculture at OSU in 1953 and received his commission. In the following two years he served aboard the carrier USS Coral Sea and received an efficiency citation while chief engineer on the USS Cavalier, an assault transport.

Lt. Trabue, his wife, Nancy, and two sons live at 54 E. Norwich-av.

The new commander is enthusiastic in his praise for the Naval Reserve program. He stated concern that the reserve has never filled its quota of candidates for Annapolis. "The opportunities are great, and I hope to encourage more young men to try for it," Lt. Trabue said.

Rites Are Today For C. Rockhold

Funeral services for Charles Rockhold, 67, of 1849 W. Moound-st, Columbus realtor for 38 years, were to be held Wednesday, 2 p.m. at Schoedinger Hilltop Chapel.

He died Sunday at Grant Hospital.

An honorary life member of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, he was a member of the Columbus Real Estate Board, Ohio and National Association of Real Estate Boards, Christopher Club and Ambassador Club.

Surviving are his wife, Eva and two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie J. McCloskey of Fort Campbell, Ky., and Mrs. Neva L. Bayes of Columbus.

Burial will be in Green Lawn Cemetery.

School Site Considered By Board

Columbus School Board, at its meeting yesterday afternoon, selected a tentative site in the area south of Georgian Heights as a location for an elementary school.

The tract, including about eight acres, is vacant land bounded on the north by Sexton-dr, on the east by Savannah-dr and on the west by Georgian-dr. Southern boundary is a parellel line not more than 1000 feet south of Sexton-dr.

The site would be used for a school if the need for one in that area becomes apparent in the future.

The board's choice of the site will be referred to the city planning commission for approval and, if the commission agrees with the selection, the school board will officially announce the location.

In other action, the board awarded a series of contracts totaling $43,287.15 for industrial arts equipment.

Joint contracts, covering equipment needed for Westmoor and Johnson Park Junior High Schools, were awarded to Ornamental Products, Tools and Supply Shop, Morehouse Supply House, Reynolds Machinery Co., Brodhead-Garrett Co., Folding Equipment Co., Freeman Supply Co., Seating Engineering Co., and Industrial Machinery.

High School Plan Denied

Immediate construction of a new Catholic High School on diocese-owned property between Mound-st and Eakin-rd, Brinker and Salisbury was emphatically denied last week by a spokesman from Bishop Clarence G. Issenmann's office.

Widespread rumors that a high school would be built on the site in the near future may have been based on recent weed-removing activities.

In response to complaints from nearby residents, the diocese ordered the lot cleared of unsightly weeds.

Parish House Is Underway

A new parish house, under construction between St. Magdalene Church and School, is expected to be finished by early next year.

The three-story structure, built of Tennessee stone, the same material used in St. Mary Magdalene Church, will serve as a residence for Rev. Raymond Bauschard, pastor, and assistant priests of the parish.

Ramsey, Cross and Abbott are the architects.

Construction on the new Brookshire Methodist Church, to be built at the southern end of Hague-av, is expected to get under way in a few weeks. Contracts for the building will be awarded this week. Designed for easy conversion into a parsonage when a large church is built, the L-shaped, white stucco structure will house a sanctuary seating 168 in the main section, with entrance lobby, choir room and small meeting room in the wing. Sunday School rooms, rest rooms and the kitchen will be located in the basement. Mel K. Armbrust is the architect.

Brookshire Church-Parsonage Plan Will Begin Soon On S. Hague Avenue

An expenditure of church-building ideas, followed in recent years by a number of newly-established congregations, is being adopted by members of Brookshire Methodist Church.

Plans are completed for the construction of their building at the southern end of Hague-av. Designed to accommodate the church's present worship and social program, the structure can easily be converted into a parsonage when they build their planned, large church building.

Contracts will be awarded this week and construction will get underway soon on the $25,000 L-shaped building. The building is expected to be finished by Thanksgiving.

Has Gift-st Roots

Brookshire congregation, now meeting at Binns Elementary School, includes many members of the old Gift Street Methodist Church.

Gift Street closed, and the building was sold in the fall of 1956. A change in the neighborhood, from residential to business and the resultant loss of financial support as members moved away, made it impossible for the historical old church to continue at that location.

The new Brookshire building, to be located on the northeast corner of the church property, leaves plenty of room for the addition of a large church building on the nearly ten-acre tract. Members hope to begin construction on the church in about two years.

At that time, the first building will be converted, easily and with little expense, into a parsonage.

The main section, planned as a sanctuary, will be adapted into three bedrooms, den, living room, dining room and kitchen. The wing, designed for entrance lobby, choir room and meeting room, will become a two-car garage.

Worship services and Sunday School classes are now held at Binns Elementary School at 9:30 a.m. Membership in the church is 125.

Anyone in the community is invited to attend.

Rev. W. Herbert Manton, medical student at Ohio State University, in preparation for a career as medical missionary, is pastor of the church.

Dr. E. L. Motter, retired minister and former pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church, is assistant pastor.

Roland G. Sunker is chairman of the building committee.

Sgt. Draper Succumbs At German Post

Services for Sgt. Charles W. Draper, 40, of 171 S. Hague-av, were held Saturday at the Jerry Spears Funeral Home.

Sgt. Draper

He died on Aug. 2 at New Ulm, Ger., where he was stationed with the U. S. Army, following a heart attack. He had been in Germany only six weeks at the time of his death.

A recent graduate of Army Finance School in Indianapolis, Ind., he had been stationed in New Jersey before his overseas assignment. An army career man, he had served 15 years.

Surviving are his wife, Shirley; two sisters, Mrs. Orpha Gibson of 171 S. Hague-av, and Mrs. Eddie Berg of 109 S. Westgate-av.

Dr. Joseph Shellhaas, pastor of Glenwood Methodist Church, officiated at the funeral service. He was buried, with military honors, at Sunset Cemetery.

Mt. Carmel Gets Federal Aid For Psychiatric Unit

The hospital received a $160,000 federal grant Friday under the Hill-Burton Act, announced Ralph W. Dwork, state health director.

The new facility will be the second psychiatric unit added to a local city hospital. It will consist of a seventh and eighth floor addition to Mt. Carmel's east wing, facing State-st. Acute, short term patients will be served by the unit.

Expert Will Describe Details Of New Vocational Course

An expert in a comparatively new field — distributive education — will speak at the Thursday noon meeting of the Hilltop Kiwanis Club. He is Dr. William B. Logan of the OSU Department of Education. His topic will be "The Star Salesman."

Accompanying Dr. Logan will be several top city public school officials.

Distributive education, the specialized training of students in retail, wholesale and service occupations, will be added to the West High School curriculum this fall. It has been part of the vocational program at Central High for five years and was introduced at Whitehall a year ago.

Many local businessmen will assist the program by providing on-the-job opportunities in coordination with selected subjects at school.

Dr. Logan received his Phd degree at OSU in 1952. He directs the graduate and undergraduate course in DE there and also conducts short-term workshops for managers and salesmen in merchandising and service organizations.

He is the author of a book on sales work and has edited many widely-read vocational articles.

Dr. William B. Logan

Squadron Commander

Lt. Col. Walter W. Thompson, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Watkins, 254 N. Warren-av, is the new commander of an air force squadron at Palm Beach, Fla.

THE DAYS DWINDLE DOWN . . .

PRECIOUS are these last few days of vacation before school starts. And, 'most every boy we know is intently making the most of them. Things like mowing lawns, doing dishes, or walking the baby just have to wait while some frantic fishin', swimmin' and ball playin' are done. Center of interest in this summer silhouette is Scott Spencer, nine-year-old pupil of St. Aloysius School. Scott's dad, Willis W. Spencer, 423 S. Ogden-av, took his picture at Thomas Park along the Scioto. The print won a first prize in West Side Camera Club competition.

Fling At Weekly Newspaper Sparked Clay Printing Firm

John Clay

Clay Printing, 193 S. Ogden-av, is a father-son enterprise that has been thriving on the Hilltop for the last 16 years.

Henry Clay and his son, John, turn out a steady flow of job work which includes cards, programs, menus, rosters, handbills and direct mail pieces. Their equipment includes three presses and the necessary stitching and folding equipment.

The senior Clay has not always been a printer. Altogether he logged 20 years with the Jeffrey Manufacturing Co., most of the time as a price estimator.

In 1939 he decided to try something entirely different. He went to Laurelville, O., and revived the defunct Border News. He called his paper the Scenic Border News and printed it weekly for four years. The war changed things and Clay moved back to Columbus with some of the press equipment and set up a part-time business on Ogden-av. It has grown ever since. The Clays say they do not solicit business. Much of it is repeat work . . . some from as far away as Laurelville.

John returned from the Naval Air Corps and started the full-time business with his dad. In the meantime John acquired a degree from OSU's College of Commerce and was named to Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce honorary.

He is president of the Hilltop Community Council, belongs to the Hilltop Y's Men, and Hilltop Business Association. The father of two children, he and his family live at 325 N. Warren-av.

Henry and his wife live at the rear of the print shop. They spend much of their spare time at their cottage at Leib's Island, Buckeye Lake. John belongs to Knights of Pythias, DOKK, and with his son is a member of Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church, Redmen at Hilliards and the Masons.

Joe Murphy, Hilltop prescription pharmacist, is celebrating his store's anniversary this coming week with money-saving specials for faithful customers and friends.

"Broad-Hague Drugs have established a reputation of accurate and prompt filling of all prescriptions and maintains a delivery service in the Hilltop area for your convenience," said Murphy.

New Park Offers Advantages

May we add our "amen" to the forthright suggestions advanced last week by a committee of outdoors experts who have just finished a 23-day survey of 25 Central Ohio children's camps.

In all too many cases, the committee found, the wonders of nature in these camps are snubbed in preference to beanbags or baseball. Such diversion is to be had at any supervised city playground all summer, the report stated.

We do not wish to pooh-pooh the work of the city playgrounds . . . quite the contrary. The pages of Hartley Newspapers have always promoted programs of wholesome recreation for youngsters.

But to the child who has never known the thrill of hearing an owl's lament, of searching out the habitat of the tiny salamander, or seeing the sun rise over a pine . . . we think our camps owe something more.

Capable leadership can be quickly trained. There are many persons eager to help, if given a little guidance.

The committee's proposal to establish a leadership and camp counselor's training center at one of the metropolitan parks is a commendable one. The United Community Council's money would be well spent on such a program.

Why not include the center in planning for the 111-acre Big Darby Creek Park, work on which began just a week ago.

Lastly, we commend the committee's suggestion that such a center be named after Judith E. Keonce, young Eastmoor school teacher and 4-H camp counselor who drowned this summer while trying to rescue a young camper.

Her enthusiasm for the out-of-doors was profound and radiated to all who knew her. In one year in Columbus, she introduced hundreds of young people to a fascinating new world just beyond the city's concrete.

We salute the "back to nature for Camps" recommendations of Walter A. Tucker, Robert Fankhouser, Joseph Wall, Ruth Shellenberger, and Robert Holmes.

For Your Thoughts

Question: Do you think being arrested and fined for discarding papers on the street, as provided in the new litter law, is justified

Mrs. William D. Evans, 91 N. Guilford-av: "I think the law is wonderful and I'm very much in favor of making the city more beautiful. I have reminded people, especially youngsters, that I've seen throwing away paper of the new law."

Mrs. Charles W. Frieze, 51 N. Ogden-av: "It will certainly help keep the city clean, and I believe most people are happy to cooperate with such a law."

Mrs. B. G. Leidinger, 565 Neshabe-av: "I don't object to people being fined for littering the streets, in deliberate cases. If paper accidentally blows out of a car, or a man absent-mindedly tosses away a cigarette, they shouldn't be punished."

Mrs. Robert H. Rich, 3326 Race-st: "It's a very good law. People should be arrested for violating it. We just returned from Florida, and all the way back we saw signs in other states warning people that it was a violation to litter streets and highways."

Mrs. Lyle D. Shover, 630 Chestershire: "I think it's all right to fine people for this offense. It's terrible to throw litter around the way some people do. The city will be so much nicer if the law is enforced."

FOUNDATION OF NATION

Proposed New Government Involved A Bitter Struggle

Archer E. Reilly, Jr.
Member State Legislature

Drafting the Constitution was but one step in bringing it to life. Approval by the separate states was also necessary. This involved a bitter struggle.

A. E. Reilly, Jr.

First, the drafters sent the finished draft to the dying Continental Congress, which shortly thereafter, on September 28, 1788, sent it to the state legislatures for ratification. The legislatures, in turn, authorized the choice of delegates to attend state conventions for the purpost of ratifying the proposed constitution.

The controversies of the convention were automatically removed to the country at large. From New England to Georgia the proposed new government was the prime topic of discussion.

There were objections. Men like Patrick Henry of Virginia and Samuel Adams of Massachusetts, imbued with the Revolutionary concepts of liberty, objected to what they considered an undue centralization of authority.

Others thought the plan did not provide for enough centralization. Many northerners believed too much had been conceded to the South; while many southerners took an opposite view. Large inland elements—small farmers, backwoodsmen, pioneers—feared the effects of the commercial powers given to Congress.

Men of property wondered about the new taxing power. And everywhere there were complaints about the omission of a Bill of Rights protecting the liberties of individual citizens.

Nevertheless, ratification by the various states proceeded at a steady pace. Delaware came under the federal roof first, on Dec. 7, 1787. And by June 1788 nine states (the minimum number required) had ratified. There were exceptionally bitter battles in Massachusetts and Virginia. But the supporters of the Constitution were eventually successful.

However, New York had still not acted. It was obviously a pivotal state without which the Union would be a mere debating society. It finally did ratify after a strenuous struggle. The New York ratification forces were led by Alexander Hamilton. His leadership was singular. Among many other devices, he conceived the idea of publishing a systematic survey of the Constitution in the form of public letters to the New York newspapers. For this task he secured the help of John Jay, a fellow New Yorker, and James Madison.

This trio wrote a series of 85 articles, signed Publius, which had a decisive effect on the New York outcome. These articles were later put together in book form as "The Federalist." It has now gone through 29 editions, and is still the classic exposition of the Constitution.

The New York Convention at last ratified on July 26, 1788. In April of 1789 the new government was formed with the Congress assembled and Washington inaugurated as the first President. The Constitution since then has served as a charter for the growth of the United States into the leading nation of the world.

It has been amended 23 times; which has lengthened its text by one-half. Moreover, many of its phases have been beginning points for further development. Indeed the Constitution's flexibility has been one of its chief characteristics.

Constitutional development has been gradual, rather than drastic. As times have changed, it has been modified by four principal influences:

By amendment. The first 10 amendments were included shortly after its adoption and represent the Bill of Rights. The others have involved federal court jurisdiction; methods of electing presidents and senators, slavery, due process of law, the income tax, prohibition, women's suffrage, and a limitation upon presidential terms.

By statute. The Constitution has been developed into a living document by innumerable statutes which the Congress has passed in order to complete the framework of government.

By judicial interpretation. The courts, through their decisions, have created a body of "constitutional law." The doctrines of implied powers, inherent powers, the sanctity of contracts and many others have virtually remade parts of the Constitution.

By custom. Finally, the Constitution has been modified by custom. The anti-third term tradition, the president's cabinet, and "senatorial courtesy" are examples, among many others, which reflect the influences of custom.

Nevertheless after giving due consideration to changes and refinements, the Constitution has remained basically the same document that was drafted at Philadelphia and ratified by the original states.

Bible Comment

Big Sinners Sometimes Turn Saints

With all Jacob's evil tendencies and qualities, there was that in him on which something substantial could be built. This provides the greatest contrast with his brother, Esau.

Good natured, easy going Esau was the more likable of the two but how could anything stable or permanent be built upon him? He showed little sense of values or capacity for responsibility and was completely weak where Jacob was strong.

This shows what the vision of God may do with men who have positive force and strength, though there may be a great deal wanting in their conduct. Take a man of worldly ambition whose thoughts are taken up with material success and who is willing to exert great energy and undergo privation to get what he wants.

Give that man the vision of something more worthwhile. Above all, let him see God and the standards of success that Christ showed in His life. Then, such a man may become a tremendous power for good. St. Paul is certainly an excellent example.

It has been said that the greatest sinners make the greatest saints. Though this is obviously not always so.

This symbolism has taken hold very strongly in the world's literature and in its religious life. Jacob's Ladder is the typical means of communication between earth and heaven. The vision that Jacob had has become intimately associated with the experience that is possible for every Christian who seeks God's guidance and God's help.

In 2½ hours at Orchard Beach in the Bronx, N.Y., 7,136 Jehovah's witnesses were baptized, making them ministers of the movement.

Weeklies Get Tribute From Pastor Peale

Carmel, N. Y. – Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, noted churchman and pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church in New York believes "...that the weekly newspaper is one of the greatest institutions in America."

Dr. Peale made the statement when he acted as one of the judges in an essay contest conducted by the Carmel Putnam County Courier.

He said:

"Half the population of the United States read these papers. I have talked with national advertisers who told me of the great respect they have for this type of paper as an instrument through which one can reach the buying public. "It would be impossible to fully estimate the influence of the weekly newspaper in American life—an influence traceable to its intimate contact with hometown people. It is a blend of the homey and intimate life of the community with the broader problems of local government."

Wing-Ding Successful

Leaders of the third annual "Wing-Ding" at Westgate Park last Saturday reported the event to be the most successful yet. About 350 people, including Cub Scouts, leaders and parents of Cubs were present.

Prizes, donated by local merchants, were given out for various contests at the district-wide, picnic-type event.

To Be in New District

Pack 21 will be in the new Central District to be organized Sept. 1, it was learned this week. All of the Scouting Units on the lower West Side will probably join Pack 21 in this new district.

Pack 21 will have regular weekly den meetings when school starts, according to Cubmaster Allen Wemyss. During the summer, the Pack has been holding den meetings every other week.

Make Final Preparation

Final preparations are being made by the Explorers of Post 235 for their three-day trip on the Kentucky Lincoln Trail, to be taken in two weeks. The members of the post are extending their fudge sale, collecting newspapers, and selling fishing worms in order to get money for necessary camping equipment.

A practice camping trip will be taken by the post this week end, at Mount Sterling.

Ohio consumers drink more milk per capita than the national average.

Any subscriber who finds this insignia stamped on an ad in this copy of this newspaper, should take it to the office of Hartley Newspapers before Saturday at noon. It will be redeemed for $75 in "Confederate" currency which can be used to make purchases at any local business establishment advertising in this issue.

This insignia has a value of $1. Follow the same procedure for "cashing in" as outlined above.

Robinson Co. Is Returning To Broad St.

Harold Wilson

A well-known former Hilltop business firm has returned to this community. The C. C. Robinson Co., electrical appliance dealers, have opened for business at Powell-av and W. Broad-st, across the street from Big Bear.

Vice-president and general manager of the firm is Harold Wilson who has held this position for several years since the death of C. C. "Chuck" Robinson. The store has been located during the past 20 years at Gay and Third-st, but is moving because of loss of lease.

About eight years ago the Robinson firm operated a branch store at Wayne and Broad-sts.

The new store is open daily from 6 to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will be open for full-time operation about Nov. 1.

Four In Family Hurt In Crash

Four members of a Hilltop family were hospitalized Sunday with injuries received in a three-car crash on Route 40 west.

Mrs. Lavina Asbeck, 232 Nashobe-av, was most seriously hurt with chest and possible internal injuries. Her son, Billy, and daughter, Marilyn, received head injuries. All three were listed in fair condition Tuesday evening by Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Robert C. Eckhardt of the same address, another son of Mrs. Asbeck, suffered a broken nose. He was released from the hospital Tuesday.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Eva Reed, 639 Linwood-av, was attempting to make a left turn from Route 40. Her eastbound car was struck from the rear by one driven by Lionel H. Martin, 1112 Mt. Vernon-av. The Reed car was impelled across the center divider, into the westbound auto carrying the Asbecks and Eckhardt.

Mrs. Reed, who sustained chest injuries, was in fair condition in Mt. Carmel Tuesday.

view-dr near Hague-av, is expected to be ready for occupancy by Feb. 1.

When the school is completed its enrollment will include seventh graders living in the present West Junior High district, in addition to those living south of Sullivant along the west side of Demorest-rd to the city limits, and west around Georgian Heights.

Pupils in grades eight and nine, west of Demorest and south of Sullivant, will continue to attend Hilltonia.

Eighth and ninth graders now attending West will finish their junior high years there. The area will gradually be absorbed by Westmoor and, it is hoped, West will eventually house senior high classes only.

Hilltonia Junior High

Students expecting to attend Hilltonia Junior High for the first time this year may register at the school, any day next week.

Newly-defined Hilltonia School district, starting at Sullivant and Demorest-ave, extends east on Sullivant to Richardson; north to Fremont; east on Fremont and Logan to Wheatland; north on Wheatland to Broad; east to Columbian; south on Columbian to Sullivant; east on Sullivant to Larcomb; south to Springmont; east to Townsend; south to Thomas; east to Nelson; south to Reeb; on south to Mound; east on Mound to the intersection of Mound and Columbus corporation line west along the corporation line to the intersection of Demorest, and back to Demorest and Sullivant-ave.

West Junior-Senior High

Students moving into West Junior, Senior High School district since last June should report to the school next week for registration and selection of their subjects.

Those living in Georgian Heights need not register, since Robert Darrow, principal, completed their enrollment in June, in anticipation of their attendance at West.

Highland Avenue

Boundary changes of Highland Avenue School District, planned to lessen pressure on the overcrowded school, were approved last spring. Highland rented classroom space at Glenwood Methodist Church last year to provide room for enrolled students.

Several blocks, bounded by Logan, Perviance, Clarendon and Sullivant-av, were transferred to John Burroughs district.

John Burroughs

New John Burroughs territory includes the area beginning 100 feet south of Ray-st and 100 feet west of Oakley-av, continues south to Logan-st, east to the middle of Highland-av and Perviance and east on to Clarendon; south on Clarendon to Sullivant-av and west to the old line just west of Oakley-av.

A series of meetings for Columbus school principals and teachers, including sessions for principals, an institute and a general meeting for all members of the professional staff and an orientation program for teachers will begin next Wednesday.

Columbus Man Called "King Of Muskies"

Has Wrestled 173 Fighters From French River Since '23

By C. C. Hartley

If Allah does not deduct from the alloted days of man those hours spent in fishing, Roy Wolfe who is now 77 by the calendar, certainly has many days ahead.

Roy, who calls Columbus his home town, has been fishing since he was a youngster. In the last more than 30 years he has probably done more fishing than a dozen ordinary fishermen might expect to do in a lifetime.

Known as the "Muskie King of the French River," Roy Wolfe did his first fishing in the French River in Ontario back in 1923. At that time he asked a hotel man in Sturgeon Falls if he knew a good place to fish for muskies. The man advised that he should "visit the French."

He did as he was advised and left word to have someone pick him up again three days. His first day of fishing resulted in his landing an 18-pound muskie in Twilight Bay. He immediately sent back word by an Indian that he would stay three weeks.

During these early years he was a member of the Huffman-Wolfe Co., Columbus heating and ventilating firm. He anxiously awaited summer vacation time and for three years camped around the French River in tents. His party included three Indian guides and a cook..

The fever grew on him so he bought a cottage on Keystone Island where he continued to vacation for ten summers.

In the fall of 1945 he retired from business and that year bought his present French River Cottage known as "El-Roy" which sits high on the side of [illegible] Island with a view of all traffic that takes the main channel in the French.

Every summer since 1945 has ben spent at El-Roy cottage and summer for Roy Wolfe is about a six months season.

Makes Every Day Count

This year, at age 77, just as he has done for so many years, he was about the first white man to enter the river, arriving at his cottage on May 11 just after the ice melted. Last year he stayed on until the ice began to freeze in the bays, Nov. 18.

He spends his winters at Callendar, 22 miles across Lake Nipissing and makes the trip across in his 16-foot open boat powered by a 15 hp. outboard motor, making the trip in about two hours.

Roy has experienced the thrill of catching a muskie 174 times! Many fishermen try for years with no such luck.

On July 8 this year No. 174 was landed and weighed in at 23 pounds. The week before he had caught his second one this season, an 18 pounder. His largest one weighed 44 pounds and was 54 inches long! He doesn't keep a record of the small ones . . . those weighing under 10 pounds. He caught one male muskie weighing 41 pounds and was over five feet long. . . . but it is really play to him.

The title of "Muskie King of the French River, has come to Roy as a result of untiring effort . . . but it is really play to him.

Muskie fishing has become something of a science with Roy Wolfe. It is by no means just guess work. He knows, for example, that if the wind is from the east or if the barometer is dropping he might as well stay [illegible]

Two weeks ago he consented to take me on one of his trips. It was an overcast day, high winds from the west and appeared to be an ideal day for muskie fishing.

But the hard-to-catch muskie just doesn't jump into your boat even if the weather is on your side. He is a tampermental cuss and has ideas of his own. On this particular day we had a nice four-hour boat ride trolling all the way, but the catch consisted of just one three-pound pickerel who thought the almost 12-inch lonk piwie minnow looked good.

Roy advises that muskies just aren't found everywhere. But he did explain that he knows of about 25 or 30 spots where they are. And it is these spots he repeatedly visits, inviting prospects to be the next on on his honor roll.

Typical French River waters which Wolfe fishes throughout ice-free season every year.

Generally these muskie spots are off rocky shores or shoals which provide him a likely spot in which to sun himself. And nearby are weed beds where the pickerel and other smaller fish come to feed on perch. This makes a convenient place for him to get his dinner.

Trolls Next to Rocks

Roy trolls rather fast and gets as close to the rocks as possible zigging in and around to give action to his lure being pulled about 30 yards behind the boat. Another 100 yards of 50-pound test line remains on the real so he will have plenty to allow Mr. Muskie enough "rope to hang himself."

For the past seven years I've been trying to connect with one of the big boys but so far have been successful with only the youngsters. But if the big one comes along I feel the instruction I've received from Roy Wolfe on how to land him will be most valuable.

"When he hits, jerk hard on your line to set the hook," advises Roy. "If you aren't in open water it is advisable to get the boat headed that way if possible. Then turn off the motor and lift it so Mr. Muskie can't get the line across a propeller blade and saw his way to freedom."

"Then reel slowly . . . if he wants more line let him have it. Keep trying to wear him down. Try to avoid letting him get under your boat, thus taking away one more chance of breaking your line.

"Play him slowly and gently up to the boat, keeping his head in water until you have jockeyed him into the position where you can apply the "persuader." This is a small ball bat, a must in Roy Wolfe's fishing equipment.

When the big fish has been hit across the head with the ball bat he generally becomes calm as a kitten and thus allows an opportunity to reach over with a gaff hook and lift him into the boat.

No stringer for Roy. All his fish are placed in a battered old oblong wash tub carried at all times in his boat for the past 16 years.

Best time to catch Muskie? Roy believes the last week of June and until the second week of July, then again from Aug. 20 until as late as you can fish into October. Those weeks in between are when the king of the game fish gets a new set of teeth and he generally heads for deeper water and doesn't care much about pursuing food.

Muskies travel in pairs, sometimes for many years. Roy has caught one and a year later picked up his mate in the same spot. Often they will follow the lure within a foot but never take it. When this happens Roy advises that you go back later and at a faster speed. Maybe this time he will take it.

"If you don't catch him today keep calling on him. Someday you will find him home," says Roy.

For and About Local Women

By BETTY DAFT

Mrs. Mollie Garrett, 324 N. Warren-av, will happily display a youthfully short hair of hair at her 94th birthday party Aug. 28. Recalling that her own mother had her first hair cut at age 94, Mrs. Garrett had her own waist-length hair cut for first time last week.

Four Generations Will Honor Mrs. Garrett's 94th Birthday

Five letters a day keep the doctor away . . . Mrs. Mollie Garrett, 324 N. Warren-av, has no time for illnesses or infirmities. Ninety-four on Aug. 28, she keeps in close touch with relatives, her 22 grandchildren and many friends, with regular correspondence.

Five letters a day, including some to such far away places as California, Idaho, Texas and Canada, is her usual quota. She also receives about that many each day.

The widow of Fire Capt. Charles F. Garrett, killed in 1922 and mother of the late Battalion Fire Chief Charles F. Garrett, jr., 356 S. Richardson-av, who died last Aug. 27 after nearly 50 years' service, she is also the mother of seven, grandmother of 32, great-grandmother of 20 and great-great grandmother of two.

Illness has no place in her busy days, filled with shopping, cooking and light household duties. Her daughter, Mrs. Harley Johnson with whom she has lived since her husband's death describes her mother's active life, with "she has never been really seriously ill in the 33 years she has been with me."

ELECTRICITY TURNS ON LAMPS AND STUFF . . .

This is what electricity means to a typical five-year-old.
Now what's your grown-up definition of it?
Think about it. Electricity makes work around the house more pleasant. It brings you convenience and entertainment. It heats and lights your home. Electricity means bet living, better working, better relaxation—every day of every year.
Next time you turn on "lamps and stuff", think of how much electricity does for everyone. And yet you buy it at a cost even a youngster can understand.

Travelers' Safe Arrival Ends Suspense Of Anxious Waiting

The safe arrival home of Margaret and Jean Armour, 80 E. Ogden-av last Thursday, was the signal for a collective sigh of relief from many of their friends.

Knowing the sisters were due to arrive in New York on a transatlantic flight from Scotland, news of the Dutch airliner crash was a cause of grave concern for their safety.

Not knowing which airline they had chosen, friends listened with mounting anxiety to first reports of the tragedy with the news that the plane had stopped in Scotland, and two Ohio women were on board.

The Armours, safely aboard a British airliner, knew nothing of the tragic accident until they had safely reached New York.

The daughters of James Armour, native of Scotland, the two joined their father in his homeland for a two weeks visit with relatives and a tour of the country.

Although this is their first trip, their father has returned regularly. In Scotland since last month, he will be home the middle of September.

Margaret, director of Bookmobile service of the Columbus Public Library and Jean, an employe of the Columbus Academy of Medicine, found a new understanding of Scots' strong home ties. Both are already looking forward to another visit.

Margaret, describing Scotland as "just beautiful, as romantic and lovely as I had always imagined," was impressed with the flowers planted everywhere.

Loch Lomond, famed land of Roy Roy; the country where Sir Walter Scott lived and wrote and the Scots' beloved Bobbie Burns' country were among high lights.

A matter of amusement to the two were their hosts' apologies for Scotland's particularly wet summer. Margaret said, "after the rain we had on the Hilltop during June, we felt right at home."

Charles Laughton, playing in the "The Party," was a memorable feature of their short visit in London.

An added thrill was the coincidence of the Scotch Guards appearance with a Bagpipe Band during the changing of the guard in the traditional Buckingham Palace ceremony.

Style, Hot Water Booster Added To New Dishwasher

Columbus Westinghouse plant this week unveiled its new concept in portable dishwasher styling. One highlight is a back panel that has a control center and tilt-down detergent storage bin. A hot water booster guarantees 140-degree water every wash and rinse. Large ball-bearing casters provide for kitchen convenience. Its capacity is a complete service for 10, or a service for six, plus pots and pans.

Aladdin's Lamp Will Set Pageant's Pace

Days and weeks of preparation will draw to an exciting close this Thursday evening when 1500 children from 61 city playgrounds present a pageant at Central High School auditorium. The public is invited to the free production which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

"Open Sesame" will be the theme. Kenneth Thompson, athletic director of Whetstone Recreation Center will act as "Aladdin" and use his magic lamp to change the acts.

There will be eight acts, split into eight or ten scenes, featuring songs, dancing and pantomime. The youngsters have built their own props and costumes for this 10th annual event, said Mrs. Mary Ellekle, coordinator.

Following are reviews of the week's activities from playgrounds in this area:

At Glenwood . . .

Going into the final two days of play at Glenwood Recreation Center there is a tie for first place in the Little Jet League. The Hawks and the Reds share the spot with 9 and 5 records. Both teams have one game remaining to play.

Yanks are third with 8 and 7. Fourth place Aces hold a 6 and 6. They still have two games to play and one to finish (a tie).

The Cubs are in fifth at 5 and 9 and the Cards are 3 and 8.

The five leading hitters in the league are Jerry Bradley .842, Ken Bradley .677, Newman .640, J. Pennington .571, and James Ball .550. Other top hitters are listed on the Little Jet Bulletin Board at the Center.

Beef Trust Defeated

Ninth Avenue playground defeated the Glenwood Beef Trust 13 to 6, eliminating Glenwood senior boys' team from the top spot.

Ninth Avenue now plays Sullivant Gardens for the West Sectional championship and the right to represent the west section of the city in the recreation department's city-wide tournament.

Bill Burke, the Beef Trust's starting pitcher, gave up two runs on three hits and two walks and struck out two batters in the four innings. Robbins and Gilliland, who shared the pitching chores for the Beef Trust in the three innings, allowed 10 runs on seven hits, three walks and fanned two.

D. Starner, the starter for the winners, yielded seven runs on five hits, walked three and struck out three in the three innings he pitched. His brother, R. Starner, was credited with the win. He gave up only one run on one hit, walked two and struck out two in the last four innings.

Offensive play for the Beef Trust was highlighted by Tom Arthur's home run and Pete Caborn's two hits for four at bat. The big gun for Ninth Avenue was Hart who had three hits for four times at bat.

Each team was charged with six errors. The Beef Trust's final won-lost record for the year is 3-3.

The Cards trounced the Aces 18 to 7 in a high-scoring game. Payne, Van Order, Logue and Bellamy led the winners in hitting. Steve Conrad homered for the losers.

However, the Cards were defeated by the Giants the following night 7 to 6. Carl Ruzicka was once again the winning hurler and struck out 18 Cards. Wayne Redmon's double was the big blow for the Giants.

Franklin Township Trustees Ask Voters Lower Fire Levy

In a year when almost all taxes are on the increase, residents of Franklin Township will have an opportunity to vote on a special tax that is being replaced by a full mill.

The unusual situation arises with the expiration of a three-mill fire levy at the end of this year and the proposed renewal of only two mills to continue the same program.

Election officials have said that it will very likely be the only one of its kind in Franklin County.

The Franklin Township Trustees recently adopted a resolution placing the decreased renewal on the ballot for another five-year period. The issue will affect all of Franklin Township with the exception of Valleyview.

Township officials explain the decrease in millage needed to operate the fire department in two ways.

Most capital improvements (buildings and and equipment) were paid for out of the higher tax rate.

Secondly, volunteer firemen contribute many hours to the work of the department without pay and full-time men have been willing to work for modest pay at a time when many wage rates have been increasing.

The Franklin Township Fire Department was put in full-time operation during the summer of 1951. It is headed by Chief James C. Moffitt.

Golden Eagles Slate Weekend Archery Shoot

A 56 target archery shoot, sponsored by the Golden Eagles Archers, will be held at their Alkire-rd range Sunday, Aug. 24.

IDLE MONEY
Benefits No One!

Money serves as a common medium of exchange in trade. It can be used to great advantage throughout the world. Benefits can be made expansive and cumulative when invested in the welfare of youth. Here at the Hilltop "Y" we start with boys of eight, the age when great and lasting impressions can be gained.

Here we have hundreds of father and son combinations, fathers, who want their sons to secure the lasting benefits they received in their earlier years. You can be helpful, too, by putting any idle money to work for the youth of today, the men of tomorrow.

Going West Isn't Easy, They Found

If you think the way Westward trip wasn't easy for the pioneers, consider the present-day plight of two West Side boys.

Charles Krack, Jr., 15, and his brother, William, 12, 227 West Park-av, made news this week when they tried to get to Texas but were turned back by a Kansas sheriff.

Dreaming of doing a little ranching in Texas they began hitchhiking. Their $6 grass-mowing money dwindled down to 65 cents in five days' time. Motorists, mission houses and other friends helped along the way but the sheriff was their undoing.

It was probably a swift and silent trip back from Kansas in the Krack family auto, Monday.

Night Blaze Strikes Home

Mrs. Amy Tracy and her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Candiff, were routed from their 1173 Thomas-av home when a $3500 fire swept through it early Saturday.

Both were uninjured but were treated for shock at Mt. Carmel hospital. Fireman Lt. John Gaal of 463 Hinman-av, was also treated for a cut on the wrist, caused by flying glass.

The fire, of undetermined origin, burned up from a basement stairway and spread through the two-story, six-room house.

The Tigers are really growling.

And they will be ready to prove the difference between pansies and Tigers, on Labor Day.

Jim Leach, 520 Eldon-av, manager and coach of the Valleyview Little League Tigers, has accepted an invitation to pit his charges against a team composed of mothers, sisters and sweethearts of youngsters playing on the Tigers team.

A doubleheader has been scheduled for Labor Day. The challenge was made by Mrs. Donald Johnson, 2643 Elliottrd.

Manager Leach has made only one condition:

"That the mothers, sisters and sweethearts will not whip, cut off allowances, stop feeding or otherwise abuse" his players after the game is over and the Tigers have proved their superiority.

AREA'S FIRST METROPOLITAN PARK STARTED

HOPING TO PRESERVE the beauties of nature for the present and future generations, the Columbus Metropolitan Park Board last Wednesday began the development of Darby Creek Metropolitan park. Consisting of 111 acres, it is situated on Koebel-Guydam-rd at Alkire-rd. More than half of it is wooded. Similar in many ways to Blacklick Woods park, a number of planned features are visible on the map. Clearing, drainage and road work will be done this winter until more funds are made available, said Walter A. Tucker, board director-secretary.

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables—tomatoes, sweet corn, potatoes, peppers, summer squash.

Fruits—Peaches, apples, frozen lemonade, canned citrus juices, canned applesauce.

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ridened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending on variety

Fairly well formed — when serving sliced or whole.

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

ADDITIONAL MARKET NEWS

The peach season is here. Weather conditions have made them large and of good quality. Golden Jubilee and Halehaven are the local varieties now in good supply. Golden Jubilees are excellent for canning and Halehavens are good for freezing.

A bumper crop of apples is scheduled to reach the market soon. Local varieties now available are mostly Duchess, Williams Red, and Wealthy.

Sweet corn remains plentiful and of good quality. Keep sweet corn cool and eat as soon as possible after harvest, to retain high quality.

Fast Action Is Ordered On Site Choice, Design

Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office space.

Following this they will look over desirable locations in the city. According to Darold L. Greek, attorney and chairman of the commission, the near West Side still seems to be highly favored. He said much will be left up to the architects in the next few weeks but noted that his group has already considered locations from the state institution lands east to just behind Central High School.

May Expand Civic Center

Two years ago, soon after formation of the commission, a group attended General Assembly and recommended placement of the building between Broad and Town-sts and Belle-st and railroad tracks to the west.

He said the commission would welcome in the meantime letters from civic minded groups or individuals stating their views on extending the city's civic center in this direction. Greek maintains his office at 44 E. Broad-st.

The State Office Commission is a five-member board and has been given broad powers to acquire land, approve plans and construct the building. It has ordered quick work on the project. The commission expects its first reports from the engineers in a month or so and hopes to have selection and design accomplished by early spring. For a number of years the City Planning Commission and Columbus Chamber of Commerce have hoped to see the building added to Columbus' impressive civic center.

Five 166th Infantry Guard Units Assigned To Sullivant-av Armory

- Headquarters, 166th Regiment — commanded by Capt. Fred R. Immelt, Templeton-rd.
- Headquarters company, First Battalion — Capt. William C. Shaffer, 2089 Dennis-av. (Capt. Shaffer is the son of Carl E. Shaffer, 79 N. Westgate-av. He is a 1945 graduate of West High and is employed by Bell Telephone Co.)
- Company A — Capt. Hugh E. Clements, 970 Lockbourne-rd.
- Service Company — Capt. Carlos W. Guisinger, 1404 W. Third-st (who is also assistant superintendent of the Ohio State Arsenal.)
- Medical company — Maj. Robert A. Vogel, Marengo, O.

Remaining units of the 166th are scattered in cities mainly in Southeastern Ohio. Infantry regiment headquarters will remain at Ft. Hayes under Col. Oliver H. Gibson.

The Sullivant-av armory has facilities to serve a wide range of military and civic activities, said Maj. Joseph E. McCann of the AJ office. Among these are offices on two floors, convertible classrooms, kitchen, indoor small arms rifle range of four firing points, 75 by 118 foot drill floor (suitable also for gym or dancing), several supply rooms complete with dehumidifying vaults, and a spacious parking lot.

For Public Use Too

"The armory should be a valuable asset to the community," said Maj. McCann. "As soon as guard training schedules are worked out we should be able to offer the facilities to a number of civilian groups. Scouts, a young marksmen's club, flower clubs and many others will be able to engage the armory at nominal cost. A board of representatives from each military unit will decide on such policies. Warrent Officer Walter Donough, administrative assistant, will keep regular office hours in the building and receive the public.

At present the 166th units are drilling four nights a week. This may be cut back to three because of increased space, McCann said.

The armory will be storehouse for much equipment, including personal clothing, bedding and mess items for all the men. Heavier material will include radios, individual arms, recoilless rifles, office furniture and administrative vehicles which will be parked in a fenced enclosure.

Food Markets This Week by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables—tomatoes, sweet corn, potatoes, peppers, summer squash.

Other Foods—ground beef, chuck roast, rib roast, rib-end pork roast, medium and small [illegible]

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ripened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending on variety

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

ADDITIONAL MARKET NEWS

The peach season is here. Weather conditions have made them large and of good quality. Golden Jubilee and Halehaven are the local varieties now in good supply. Golden Jubilees are excellent for canning and Halehavens are good for freezing.

A bumper crop of apples is scheduled to reach the market soon. Local varieties now available are mostly Duchess, Williams Red, and Wealthy.

Sweet corn remains plentiful and of good quality. Keep sweet corn cool and eat as soon as possible after harvest, to retain high quality.

Fast Action Is Ordered On Site Choice, Design

Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office space.

Following this they will look over desirable locations in the city. According to Darold L. Greek, attorney and chairman of the commission, the near West Side still seems to be highly favored. He said much will be left up to the architects in the next few weeks but noted that his group has already considered locations from the state institution lands east to just behind Central High School.

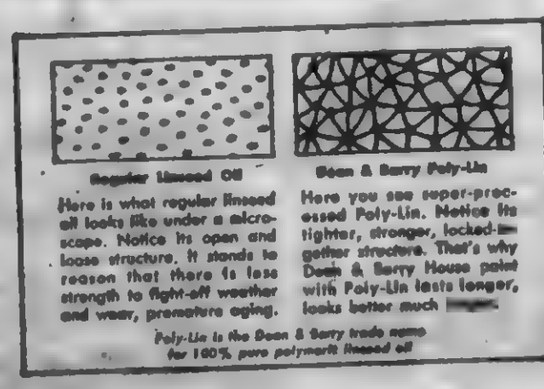
makes your home look like a million



now Poly-Lin discovery keeps paint jobs looking much better longer

Poly-Lin is the wonderful new super-processed linseed oil that gives Dean & Barry house paint extra beauty, extra durability. And this means a scientifically improved house paint that fights-off premature aging and dull-out, keeps its good looks far longer to save important dollars for you.

Here's Why: The structure of regular linseed oil used in conventional house paints is loose and open. It lacks the necessary strength to give maximum resistance to weather and wear. Not so with Poly-Lin. Here the linseed oil is super-processed to give it a tighter, stronger, tougher structure.

That's why Dean & Barry house paint makes your home look like a million and keeps it looking better far longer. Good news, too: There's no extra cost for the extra beauty and longer life Poly-Lin gives. Now available in a much wider range of new and modern colors. See for yourself soon—or ask your painter-decorator to come in.

Regular Linseed Oil

Here is what regular linseed oil looks like under a microscope. Notice its open and loose structure. It stands to reason that there is less strength to fight-off weather and wear, premature aging.

Remaining units of the 166th are scattered in cities mainly in Southeastern Ohio. Infantry regiment headquarters will remain at Ft. Hayes under Col. Oliver H. Gibson.

The Sullivant-av armory has facilities to serve a wide range of military and civic activities, said Maj. Joseph E. McCann of the AJ office. Among these are offices on two floors, convertible classrooms, kitchen, indoor small arms rifle range of four firing points, 75 by 118 foot drill floor (suitable also for gym or dancing), several supply rooms complete with dehumidifying vaults, and a spacious parking lot.

For Public Use Too

"The armory should be a valuable asset to the community," said Maj. McCann. "As soon as guard training schedules are worked out we should be able to offer the facilities to a number of civilian groups. Scouts, a young marksmen's club, flower clubs and many others will be able to engage the armory at nominal cost. A board of representatives from each military unit will decide on such policies. Warrent Officer Walter Donough, administrative assistant, will keep regular office hours in the building and receive the public.

At present the 166th units are drilling four nights a week. This may be cut back to three because of increased space, McCann said.

The armory will be storehouse for much equipment, including personal clothing, bedding and mess items for all the men. Heavier material will include radios, individual arms, recoilless rifles, office furniture and administrative vehicles which will be parked in a fenced enclosure.

AREA'S FIRST METROPOLITAN PARK STARTED

HOPING TO PRESERVE the beauties of nature for the present and future generations, the Columbus Metropolitan Park Board last Wednesday began the development of Darby Creek Metropolitan park. Consisting of 111 acres, it is situated on Koebel-Suydam-rd at Alkire-rd. More than half of it is wooded. Similar in many ways to Blacklick Woods park, a number of planned features are visible on the map. Clearing, drainage and road work will be done this winter until [illegible]. said Walter A. [illegible]

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables—tomatoes, sweet corn, potatoes, peppers, summer squash.

Fruits—Peaches, apples, frozen lemonade, canned citrus juices, canned applesauce.

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ripened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending on maturity

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

ADDITIONAL MARKET NEWS

The peach season is here. Weather conditions have made them large and of good quality. Golden Jubilee and Halehaven are the local varieties now in good supply. Golden Jubilees are excellent for canning and Halehavens are good for freezing.

A bumper crop of apples is scheduled to reach the market soon. Local varieties now available are mostly Duchess, Williams Red, and Wealthy.

Sweet corn remains plentiful and of good quality. Keep sweet corn cool and eat as soon as possible after harvest, to retain high quality.

Career Opportunity For Youth Called Best In World History

HILLTOP RECORD—Wednesday, Aug. 26, 1959—Sec. 1

Career opportunities for the united have reached a peak in the history of the nation and of the world and the future holds the promise of even better prospects for every child who will go back to school this fall.

More good jobs are looking for people to fill them than there are properly educated and trained people who are looking for jobs. The demand will accelerate over time as the frontiers of science are expanded, and the standard of living in America is raised still higher.

This is true at every level of human activity and in every field of employment, whether it be business, industry, consumer services, the professions, art or education itself.

So great is the need in all fields that special inducements are offered young graduates of colleges and high schools, including "earning while learning" positions.

Though for long, far seeing executives of important industries have been sending scouts to colleges in search of talent, the invasion reached its peak this past year.

And at the high school level, local businessmen in many cities have engaged in urging teen agers who may not plan on going to college, to stay at home and go to work for home town business. Although the greatest number of career opportunities appear to be in the field of engineering and science, expansion of business has created heavy demand for talent to be trained for executive positions. More need for good advertising men and women has sent publications and agencies on a search for bright young folks.

The mechanically inclined youngsters who love to tinker with cars and who can dream of nothing more exciting than becoming experts in automobile maintenance have jobs waiting for them. Those who enjoy association with merchandise and people can have careers in selling. The demand for office workers makes way for more and more secretaries.

While business and industry seek specially trained people for some jobs and uniquely talented ones for others, there is a growing emphasis on the cultural background of the individuals they hire. This places more than ordinary emphasis on schooling in the arts, history and the social sciences.

HAVE APPETITE APPEAL

Home-packed lunches have more appetite appeal if foods with contrasting flavors and textures are included. Crunchy vegetable sticks and juicy, sweet fruits contrast well with cottage cheese nut sandwiches and crisp cookies.

Fast Action Is Ordered On Site Choice, Design

Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office [illegible].

Following this they will look over desirable locations in the city. According to Darold L. Greek, attorney and chairman of the commission, the near West Side still seems to be highly favored. He said much will be left up to the architects in the next few weeks but noted that his group has already considered locations from the state institution lands east to just behind Central High School.

May Expand Civic Center

Two years ago, soon after formation of the commission, a group attended General Assembly and recommended placement of the building between Broad and Town-sts and Belle-st and railroad tracks to the west.

He said the commission would welcome in the meantime letters from civic minded groups or individuals stating their views on extending the city's civic center in this direction. Greek maintains his office at 44 E. Broad-st.

The State Office Commission is a five-member board and has been given broad powers to acquire land, approve plans and construct the building. It has ordered quick work on the project. The commission expects its first reports from the engineers in a month or so and hopes to have selection and design accomplished by early spring. For a number of years the City Planning Commission and Columbus Chamber of Commerce have hoped to see the building added to Columbus' impressive civic center.

Parents Urged To Help Child Develop Legible Handwriting

Active aupot of parents in a concerted effort to help set children on the correct path toward good and legible penmanship is urged as the opening of the new school term approaches.

The urge comes from the Handwriting Foundation, actively supported by businessmen as weill as educators, in a renewal of a continuing crusade to encourage a greater awareness of the importance of handwriting in all walks of life.

Almost unlimited instances of inconvenience, irritation and actual loss of time and vast sums of money, in addition to obvious career handicaps, can be cited to stress the universial importance of good, clear handwriting.

School papers written in long hand, though accurate and well phrased, sometimes suffer because teacher finds it difficult to decipher them. Lower grades result. Job oppotunities sometimes are lost because of poor penmanship. Letters and packages go astray and telephone messages cannot be deciphered.

The Handwriting Foundation goes beyond the point of urging awareness of the problem. It has a scholarship program available to assist hard working teachers who bear down on the matter. It published a booklet entitled the "Second R," in which six simple steps to legible writing—principles that will be useful to parents as well as the children—are set forth.

Parents can help their school age children by following through at home in support of teachers who stress instruction in handwriting.

A good plan is to make it an informal project, utilizing the booklet which is available free by writing the Handwriting Foundation.

Foundation surveys have shown that the best way to improve handwriting quickly — and most everyone can do this —is to write slowly. Fast scrawls lead to trouble. Legibility is paramount. Individual style of writing can be maintained and should be.

It should always be remembered that someone else must be able to read what you have written.

WATCH FOR WET FEET

A wary eye should be kept out by mother for wet shoes, which most school children have a tendency to ignore. A change should be ordered immediately as a health measure and the wet shoes should be dried, preferably on shoe trees and away from the heat.

Remember, school children are to be seen, not hurt.

Food Markets This Week by Mrs. Estelle B. Franks

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ridened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending on variety

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

Remaining units of the 166th are scattered in cities mainly in Southeastern Ohio. Infantry regiment headquarters will remain at Ft. Hayes under Col. Oliver H. Gibson.

The Sullivant-av armory has facilities to serve a wide range of military and civic activities, said Maj. Joseph E. McCann of the AJ office. Among these are offices on two floors, convertible classrooms, kitchen, indoor small arms rifle range of four firing points, 75 by 115 foot drill floor (suitable also for gym or dancing), several supply rooms complete with dehumidifying vaults, and a spacious parking lot.

For Public Use Too

"The armory should be a valuable asset to the community," said Maj. McCann. "As soon as guard training schedules are worked out we should be able to offer the facilities to a number of civilian groups. Scouts, a young marksmen's club, flower clubs and many others will be able to engage the armory at nominal cost. A board of representatives from each military unit will decide on such policies. Warrent Officer Walter Donough, administrative assistant, will keep regular office hours in the building and receive the public.

At present the 166th units are drilling four nights a week. This may be cut back to three because of increased space, McCann said.

The armory will be storehouse for much equipment, including personal clothing, bedding and mess items for all the men. Heavier material will include radios, individual arms, recoilless rifles, office furniture and administrative vehicles which will be parked in a fenced enclosure.

AREA'S FIRST METROPOLITAN PARK STARTED

HOPING TO PRESERVE the beauties of nature for the present and future generations, the Columbus Metropolitan Park Board last Wednesday began the development of Darby Creek Metropolitan park. Consisting of 111 acres, it is situated on Koebel-Suydam-rd at Alkire-rd. More than half of it is wooded. Similar in many ways to Blacklick Woods park, a number of planned features are visible on the map. Clearing, drainage and road work will be done this winter until

Food Markets This Week

by Mrs Estelle B Franks

Vegetables—tomatoes, sweet corn, potatoes, peppers, summer squash.

Fruits—Peaches, apples, frozen lemonade, canned citrus juices, canned applesauce.

Other Foods—ground beef, chuck roast, rib roast, rib-end pork roast, medium and small

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ridened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending on variety

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

ADDITIONAL MARKET NEWS

The peach season is here. Weather conditions have made them large and of good quality. Golden Jubilee and Halehaven are the local varieties now in good supply. Golden Jubilees are excellent for canning and Halehavens are good for freezing.

Wednesday, Aug. 28

A bumper crop of apples is scheduled to reach the market soon. Local varieties now available are mostly Duchess, Williams Red, and Wealthy.

Sweet corn remains plentiful and of good quality. Keep sweet corn cool and eat as soon as possible after harvest, to retain high quality.

Well-Planned Shopping Helps In Choice Of School Clothes

By Beryl Tucker
Fashion Ed., Parents Magazine

Shop with a plan, and you'll find your child's back-to-chool wardrobe will show the happy results. Make a list of the items that will be needed, not forgetting that your child will require dress-up clothes as well as school clothes.

Deciding upon a color scheme that enhanches his or her coloring allows for a mixing and matching of separates. Togetherness has become the essence of being well dressed regardless of age. This does not mean that everything must be in the same fabric or color, but the overall effect should be one of harmony.

Allow time for shopping with your childrpn, so that your purchases will not be made hurriedly, unwisely. Extra trips for returns are time consuming, irritating.

Don't close your mind to new fabrics and fashions, and read the tags attached to apparel carefully. Your eyes may deceive you, for today woolens are often washable corduroys are crease resistant, cotton knits are shrink and stretch-proof.

If your first shopping trip is with a daughter, why not first look at coats, a major expenditure on the clothes budget. Perhaps you'll favor one of the handsome new tweeds, which are often as suitable for dress-up occasions as they are for school. Undoubtedly, the coat will be double-breasted, have some sort of interesting back belt detail.

For Rough and Tumble

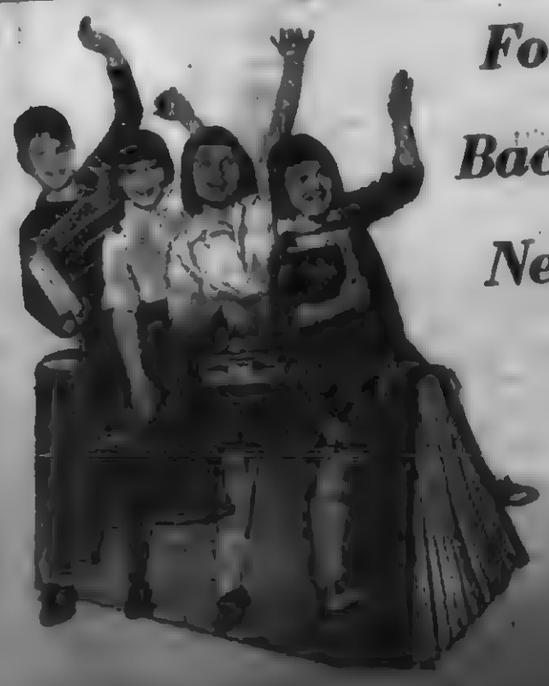
For rough and tumble, use, buy one of the poplin jackets that are water repellant, perhaps with a separate liner for cold weather wear. Add a pair of separate downhill pants and you have a smart ski suit.

Since many of the tooling tweeds have a light ground with multicolor nubs, consider one or two of these tones as the color basis for buying her dresses and separates. Some of the tweeds are laced with the hues of autumn leaves. Others are black and white, look wonderful with vivid reds.

Consider the practicality and good looks of a jumper style dress which has a separate little jacket or sweater which makes it suitable for early fall days. The Empire silhouette with its emphasis on a high rise line at the bust has been charmingly interpreted in both tailored and dressy dresses.

Separates will be prominent in every young department with everything from jackets to slacks available in coordinated groups. There'll be washable wools teamed with Tyrolean inspired cotton prints in suspender style skirts, neat little blouses, waist-length jackets with attached hoods that show print lining.

Many of the separates will have a boyish air, trim lines, interesting belt detail with corduroy an important fabric.



Shoes and accessories in rich leather tones highlight the well mannered look of back to school apparel.

Fast Action Is Ordered On Site Choice, Design

Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office space.

Correct Fit, Most Important Step Toward New School Term

The August trip to the shoe store to get your child well shod for school is apt to be a trial. It's important to keep a cool head, however, since a great deal of you child's future comfort and well-being depends upon the shoes he wears while his feet are growing. Here, then, are some tips:

Don't let them be lured by gifts of comic books into buying shoes that don't fit. Keep their attention on the shoes.

Foot doctors recommend shoes with leather soles as well as leather uppers because they have microscopic pores through which perspiration can evaporate, keeping feet warmer in a cold temperature, cooler when it's hot.

This is especially important for children going from steam-heated classrooms to play in the out-of-doors. Sudden change such as this will breed sniffles if circulation of feet and hands is poor.

Even when you succeed in this you must remember that you cannot rely altogether upon their word that the shoe is comfortable. Children have a much higher pain threshold than adults and will stand up in a shoe that crushes their bones like a medieval torture and say it feels fine.

Feel to see that there is plenty of room for all the toes and at least three-quarters of an inch between the longest toes and the tip of the shoe. Also check the out rule, of course, but on the average, children need shoes every two months up to the age of the shoes still fit. There is no width at the widest part of the shoe.

Check frequently to see that 10; after that every two or three months.

ADD LOOKS, WEAR

Washable leathers are adding good looks and extra wear to children's back-to-school clothes. Coats and dresses are often trimmed with leather buttons and piping. Leather sleeve patches are a practical addition to jackets.

ENCOURAGE GROOMING

Good grooming habits should start early. A simple "manicure set" of emery board and orange stick encourages grammar graders to keep their fingernails clean and neat.

BULLETIN—FOR ALL

Every school child from beginner to college student can make good use of a bulletin board in his or her room. It may be of the thumb tack variety or of the newer peg-board style.

One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office space.

Following this they will look over desirable locations in the city. According to Derold I. Greek attorney and chairman of the commission, the near West Side still seems to be highly favored. He said much will be left up to the architects in the next few weeks but noted that his group has already considered locations from the state institution lands east to just behind Central High School.

May Expand Civic Center

Two years ago, soon after formation of the commission, a group attended General Assembly and recommended placement of the building between Broad and Town-sts and Belle-st and railroad tracks to the east.

He said the commission would welcome in the meantime letters from civic minded groups or individuals stating their views on extending the city's civic center in this direction. Greek maintains his office at 44 E. Broad-st.

The State Office Commission is a five-member board and has been given broad powers to acquire land, approve plans and construct the building. It has ordered quick work on the project. The commission expects its first reports from the engineers in a month or so and hopes to have selection and design accomplished by early spring. For a number of years the City Planning Commission and Columbus Chamber of Commerce have hoped to see the building added to Columbus' impressive civic center.

- Headquarters company, First Battalion — Capt. William G. Shaffer, 2089 Deaune-av. (Capt. Shaffer is the son of Carl E. Shaffer, 79 N. Westgate-av. He is a 1945 graduate of West High and is employed by Bell Telephone Co.)
- Company A — Capt. Hugh E. Clements, 979 Lechbourne-rd.
- Service Company — Capt. Carlos W. Guisinger, 1404 W. Third-st (who is also assistant superintendent of the Ohio State Arsenal.)
- Medical company — Maj. Robert A. Vogel, Marengo, O.

Remaining units of the 166th are scattered in cities mainly in Southeastern Ohio. Infantry regiment headquarters will remain at Ft. Hayes under Col. Oliver H. Gibson.

The Sullivant-av armory has facilities to serve a wide range of military and civic activities, said Maj. Joseph E. McCann of the AJ office. Among these are offices on two floors, convertible classrooms, kitchen, indoor small arms rifle range of four firing points, 75 by 119 foot drill floor (suitable also for gym or dancing), several supply rooms complete with dehumidifying vaults, and a spacious parking lot.

For Public Use Too

"The armory should be a valuable asset to the community," said Maj. McCann. "As soon as guard training schedules are worked out we should be able to offer the facilities to a number of civilian groups. Scouts, a young marksmen's club, flower clubs and many others will be able to engage the armory at nominal cost. A board of representatives from each military unit will decide on such policies. Warrent Officer Walter Donough, administrative assistant, will keep regular office hours in the building and receive the public.

At present the 166th units are drilling four nights a week. This may be cut back to three because of increased space, McCann said.

The armory will be storehouse for much equipment, including personal clothing, bedding and mess items for all the men. Heavier materiel will include radios, individual arms, recoilless rifles, office furniture and administrative vehicles which will be parked in a fenced enclosure.

AREA'S FIRST METROPOLITAN PARK STARTED

HOPING TO PRESERVE the beauties of nature for the present and future generations, the Columbus Metropolitan Park Board last Wednesday began the developemen tof Darby Creek Metropolitan park. Consisting of 111 acres, it is situated on Koebel-Snydem-rd at Alkire-rd. More than half of it is wooded. Similar in many ways to Blacklick Woods park, a number of planned features are visible on the map. Clearing, drainage and road work will be done this winter until

Food Markets This Week by Mrs Estelle B. Franks

Vegetables—tomatoes, sweet corn, potatoes, peppers, summer squash.

Fruits—Peaches, apples, frozen lemonade, canned citrus juices, canned applesauce.

Field-Ripened Tomatoes

August is the time when you can cut tomato slices thicker and serve fresh tomatoes often. True, we can buy fresh tomatoes the year around these days, but during August and early September vine-ridened field-grown tomatoes are at their best in color and eating quality, and the cost lowest.

Wet weather this summer has retarded locally-grown tomatoes, but they are increasing now in volume and quality is improving. This is the time to can tomatoes and tomato juice to use when the peak season is past.

For Best Value—Look for tomatoes that are:

Firm but well ripened—to insure flavor

Free from blemishes—to reduce waste

Of good color—depending

Tomatoes of irregular shape may be used for wedges or pulp or juice. Plan on three to four servings from one pound of tomatoes. A bushel of tomatoes will make 15 to 20 quarts when canned.

Tomato Tips — To maintain high quality for several days keep vine-ripened tomatoes at 50 to 55 degrees F. in a cool dry place such as a cool basement.

If tomatoes have not been allowed to color on the plant to the firm-ripe stage, keep them at room temperature until full color develops, and then store them at a lower temperature. Do not place them in direct sunlight. They sunburn just as people do. Refrigerate tomatoes just before using. Tomatoes stored in the refrigerator lose their characteristic flavor and develop a flat taste.

Valued Most for Vitamin C—tomatoes make an important nutritive contribution to our diets. One medium-sized tomato eaten raw provides almost half of the vitamin "C" recommended daily, and about one-third of the day's vitamin "A" allowance. Reports indicate that field-ripened tomatoes are higher in vitamin "C" because of receiving additional sunlight while ripening. Fresh tomatoes have higher food value, although they do retain a good share of their vitamins when canned or cooked.

ADDITIONAL MARKET NEWS

The peach season is here. Weather conditions have made them large and of good quality. Golden Jubilee and Halehaven are the local varieties now in good supply. Golden Jubilees are excellent for canning and Halehavens are good for freezing.

A bumper crop of apples is scheduled to reach the market soon. Local varieties now available are mostly Duchess, Williams Red, and Wealthy.

Sweet corn remains plentiful and of good quality. Keep sweet corn cool and eat as soon as possible after harvest, to retain high quality.

New School Term Brings Youth, Parent Challenge

Parents of all the children are confronted with a stimulating challenge this year, to match the enthusiasm of the youngsters themselves in planning for the start of another new school term which is scheduled to begin in just a few short weeks.

The challenge is the natural outgrowth of the persistant program of emphasis over the past 10 or 15 years, on the importance of education, as a matter of self interest and duty to the nation.

This, together with the progress educators have made in converting school time activities from routine drudgery to exciting adventure, has made a profound impression on all age groups.

Whereas once, upon a time the approach of a new term was greeted with petulant reluctance, and occasionally with open defiance from youth impatient to get out on their own in the adult world, boys and girls now show not only a sincere eagerness for more schooling; they actually begin making plans for the new term before the old one has ended.

Involved in the planning of teenagers and the collee bound —whose numbers mount to record peaks this year—are serious accumulation of new wardrobes and needed school supplies.

Beginners and grade schoolers, happily infected by the new trend, and stimulated by a world of exciting new subjects being taught in exciting new ways, also are looking forward to the new term.

Resurgence of family life during the past 15 years with its annually mounting birth rates, means enrollments will surge forward at all age levels everywhere again this year. More than 3,000,000 beginners start school anew annually now. Fewer children drop out. A flood tide of teen agers reaches the high school age this year. Far more want to go to college than can be taken care of.

School authorities are now putting the finishing touches on their plans to receive and instruct the youngsters. Their task is not an easy once New school construc tions fails to keep pace with demand for classrooms. Need for more new teachers taxes the number graduating into the profession.

Thus, a combination of circumstances, in addition to the welcome eagerness of the children themselves for more learning, conspire to multiply the challenge for parents, which is at one and the same time personal and a family and a community problem.

And all this calls for a family conference right now — in which the children should participate— so that their aspirations, and the responsibilities parents must undertake for getting them ready to go back to school, may be merged before time speeds by to destroy the opportunity for careful, thoughtful preparation.

This special section is planned to help parents and children alike to a wealth of information both will need in planning to get ready for the return to learning.

First on the agenda is probably the last thing the youngsters themselves would think of—their physical conditions. What better time than now, before school starts, for the annual check-up by the family physician, for a visit to the dentist, for an examination of the eyes or fitting of new glasses.

Then there are back to school wardrobes to be replenished, and here parents are in for a pleasant surprise. The children themselves, all over the country, are taking the initiative in leading a reform movement that means a shift from the sloppy fads of the past to neatness and good grooming.

This trend is being hailed by parents and educators alike for the fact that it is in keeping with the objectives of education instead of contrary to them.

Selecting school clothes for the children now, instead of waiting until the last minute rush sets in, is in the full spirit of the new approach to family life which grants children the right of participation in making decisions affecting them. The children are available now to go along for fittings and to have a voice in selection.

The need for school time supplies such as school bags, notebooks, pens and pencils — all really more than classroom needs —can be best filled most efficiently now rather than waiting until later.

Because children grow so rapidly the time to check on brother's or sister's own room is before, not after school starts. Part of their learning is having well equipped rooms of their own for study as well as sleeping, and also to take care of.

School children need adequate restful beds, a desk at which to work in privacy, cabinets and shelves for their personal possessions, and a decor that will make them proud when their schoolmates visit for a gab fest or to spend the night.

Posters Will Teach Children Safe Ways to Walk to School

There is a powerful cumulative message of traffic safety for youngsters in a series of posters that local automobile clubs will distribute to schools this fall.

They are all directed at cultivating safe walking habits, considered by AAA spokesmen the single most important factor in protection from traffic hazards.

First of the series asks the children to "Help Your Safety Patrol," the growing corps of boys and girls enlisted as monitors.

Members of the school patrols, to be recognized by the white Sam Browne belts they wear, or by the yellow slickers in which the dress during wet weather, also need cooperation of motorists.

Posters to follow month by month will remind the children to "Watch for Turning Cars," and to "Look All Ways Before Crossing." They will urge them to "Walk on the Left Facing Traffic."

Among still other points they will stress are: "Keep From Between Parked Cars" and "Cross Only at Corners."

For bad weather and late hours of the school days, the posters will urge "Be Extra Alert on Rainy Days" and "Wear White After Dark."

Fast Action Is Ordered On Site Choice, Design

Three architectural firms are expected to lower their transits over the West Side in the next few weeks as they strongly consider several sites for a new $15 million state office building.

The firms, one of them from this city (Tully and Hobbs) were selected less than a week ago by a special State Office Building Commission. They were ordered to launch into an immediate appraisal of space requirements for a building to house some 700,000 square feet of office space.

Following this they will look over desirable locations in the city. According to Derold L. Greek, attorney and chairman of the commission, the near West Side still seems to be highly favored. He said much will be left up to the architects in the next few weeks but noted that his group has already considered locations from the state institution lands east to just behind Central High School.

May Expand Civic Center

Two years ago, soon after formation of the commission, a group attended General Assembly and recommended placement of the building between Broad and Town-sts and Belle-et and railroad tracks to the west. About 15 acres will be required.

Greek told Hartley Newspapers that his commission will first wait for a report from the architects. "Then we plan a couple of public hearings," he said, "and will be open to suggestions from anyone."

He said the commission would welcome in the meantime letters from civic minded groups or individuals stating their views on extending the city's civic center in this direction. Greek maintains his office at 44 E. Broad-st.

The State Office Commission is a five-member board and has been given broad powers to acquire land, approve plans and construct the building. It has ordered quick work on the project. The commission expects its first reports from the engineers in a month or so and hopes to have selection and design accomplished by early spring. For a number of years the City Planning Commission and Columbus Chamber of Commerce have hoped to see the building added to Columbus' impressive civic center.

Five 166th Infantry Guard Units Assigned To Sullivant-av Armory

The troops are moving West this week . . . 360 officers and men of the 166th Infantry Regiment, Ohio National Guard, are changing their base of operations from Ft. Hayes to the new Sullivant Avenue Armory at 4094 W. Sullivant-av.

Five units, all part of a regiment of 20 units this week received orders for transfer from Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, state adjutant general. The 166th returned Sunday from a two-week summer training stint at Camp Breckenridge, Ky.

Their new $400,000 home has just been completed. Financed by 75 per cent federal and 25 per cent state money, it was started July 16, 1957. A formal public dedication is planned sometime this fall, after all equipment and offices have been established.

Units Identified

The adjutant general's office said the following units will make up the full complement of the armory under Lt. Col. Joseph E. Tritschler, commander of the First Battalion:

- Headquarters, 166th Regiment — commanded by Capt. Fred R. Immell, Templeton-rd.
- Headquarters company, First Battalion — Capt. William G. Shaffer, 3088 Denune-av. (Capt. Shaffer is the son of Carl E. Shaffer, 72 N. Westgate-av. He is a 1945 graduate of West High and is employed by Bell Telephone Co.)
- Company A — Capt. Hugh E. Clements, 979 Lockbourne-rd.
- Service Company — Capt. Carlos W. Guisinger, 1404 W. Third-st (who is also assistant superintendent of the Ohio State Arsenal.)
- Medical company — Maj. Robert A. Vogel, Marengo, O.

Remaining units of the 166th are scattered in cities mainly in Southeastern Ohio. Infantry regiment headquarters will remain at Ft. Hayes under Col. Oliver H. Gibson.

The Sullivant-av armory has facilities to serve a wide range of military and civic activities, said Maj. Joseph E. McCann of the AJ office. Among these are offices on two floors, convertible classrooms, kitchen, indoor small arms rifle range of four firing points, 75 by 115 foot drill floor (suitable also for gym or dancing), several supply rooms complete with dehumidifying vaults, and a spacious parking lot.

For Public Use Too

"The armory should be a valuable asset to the community," said Maj. McCann. "As soon as guard training schedules are worked out we should be able to offer the facilities to a number of civilian groups. Scouts, a young marksmen's club, flower clubs and many others will be able to engage the armory at nominal cost. A board of representatives from each military unit will decide on such policies. Warrant Officer Walter Donough, administrative assistant, will keep regular office hours in the building and receive the public.

At present the 166th units are drilling four nights a week. This may be cut back to three because of increased space, McCann said.

The armory will be storehouse for much equipment, including personal clothing, bedding and mess items for all the men. Heavier material will include radios, individual arms, recoilless rifles, office furniture and administrative vehicles which will be parked in a fenced enclosure.

Rev. Dean To Retire From Active Ministry

Rev. J. L. Dean, pastor of Hilltop Community Church for the past 18 years, will preach the last sermon of his active ministry Sunday morning.

A full time pastor since 1940, Rev. Dean, now 67, had been a lay preacher, serving small, nearby pastorates while employed as a dental technician, for most of his adult life.

First pastor of Hilltop Community, he assumed his duties with the church in 1940, when the congregation was meeting in a storeroom at 3060 W. Broad-st.

Since that time, a church of Indiana limestone and brick has been built at 179 N. Hurons-av, and was dedicated, debt-free in 1953.

Hilltop Community Church espouses is on missions, and the congregation supports a missionary in Hong Kong, and also contributes to the Oriental and Inter-American Missionary Society.

Rev. Dean, in 1955, toured the church's South American mission fields, visiting Columbia, Ecuador, Peru and Brazil and traveling by air, jeep, train and canoe.

Mrs. Dean, also a minister, has worked with her husband throughout the years, occasionally filling the pulpit on Sunday morning. In 1941, while Rev. Dean was recuperating from a heart attack, she served as minister of the church for two months.

Of Pioneer Stock

A member of a Hilltop pioneer family who settled in the community 64 years ago, Rev. Dean recalls his father farming the land from Broad to Sullivant, and from Clarendon to Whitethorne-ave.

Rev. and Mrs. Dean and son, Paul, will live south of Delaware. He is looking forward to retirement years filled with fishing in the nearby Olentangy, and engagements for week-end meetings and as supply pastor.

Rev. J. L. Dean

The family was also honored by 28 of their neighbors Saturday, Aug. 16, at a party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Davis, 171 N. Roys-av. Mrs. George Hoover and Mrs. Charles Price assisted as hostesses.

In addition to their son, Paul, living at home, the Deans are parents of another son, Lawrence of Fisher-rd, and two daughters, Mrs. William Meddock, wife of a Methodist pastor in Greenfield, Ind., and Mrs. A. B. King, wife of the pastor of Soul's Haven Community Church in Delaware. They also have 11 grandchildren.

INJURED IN FALL

Two-year-old Cynthia Higgins, 674 Wedgewood-dr, received head injuries in a fall early Tuesday evening, and was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital for treatment by police emergency squadmen.

Lindbergh Kids Reprieved; School Will Open Sept. 15

Back-to-school date, set for Sept. 3 in Columbus schools, will be delayed by a week and a half for those assigned to the new Lindbergh district. Harried school officials, checking daily progress of the new Lindbergh Elementary, 2561 Lindbergh-dr, have announced the opening date will be postponed until Monday, Sept. 15.

Despite every effort to complete the building on time, construction, off to a delayed start in June and slowed down by weeks of rain, will not be finished by Sept. 3.

Youngsters reaping the extra vacation days are all elementary students in the eastern portion of the regular Binns School District, as well as children in kindergarten through third grade living in Georgian Heights area.

Children in grades kindergarten through sixth living in the area bounded on the north by Eakin-rd, on the east and south by Columbus corporation lines and, on the west, by a line 100 feet east of Harris-av, will attend Lindbergh.

Those in kindergarten through third grade, living in Georgian Heights will also attend Lindbergh.

Georgian Heights youngsters in grades four through six are assigned to Binns Elementary, and will start to school on Sept. 3.

Bus Service Provided

School buses will transport all elementary, junior and senior high school students to their schools, since there is no transportation in the area, and no safe way to walk.

A school bus, equipped with loudspeaker, will travel through the Heights area Tuesday, Sept. 2, announcing bus schedules.

Registration of all children expecting to attend Lindbergh School should be made this week at West Mound Street School. James Toffi, principal of West Mound and Lindbergh, is on duty at the school to enroll students.

Francis Rudy of the Columbus School Board, said a path will be provided for children from Symington, the last paved street to Lindbergh School. Spaats also will be paved later in the year, as will Eureka-blvd.

The path, one-half block west of Eureka-blvd, will continue to offer safe passage for children until the concrete base is poured on Eureka. When completed, another path will be provided from Eureka-blvd to the school.

Georgian Heights Residents Will Ask For City Bus Route

Trustees of the Georgian Heights Civic Association are leading an effort to extend bus service to some 1600 families in the newly annexed western extremes of the city.

Ernest E. Gresh, 683 Frenchdr, one of Georgian Heights' 15 trustees, said his group hopes to meet with City Utilities Director Ferd Pickens about the second week of September to discuss the area's transportation problems.

Georgian Heights, just west of Sullivant Airport, was annexed last February. The need for mass transportation was one of the major concerns of petitioners at that time. Before then, planning for extension of bus lines was difficult because other annexations did not bring all of Sullivant-av into the city.

With the Heights addition, all of Sullivant to Georgesville-rd was included.

There are about 400 houses in Heights alone. Westgate Manor adds about 800 units to the figure and a new development is going up next to Manor property.

Some real estate salesmen complain that the bus issue has been of concern to many prospective property buyers.

Gresh said he has had assurances from Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, Council President W. Wesley Llewelyn and Director Pickens that the problem would get prompt attention.

Westinghouse, Some GM Workers Receive More Pay

Several thousand Westinghouse workers and a few General Motors employes here are due for a pay raise as the result of an increase in the nation's cost-of-living index.

Local Westinghouse workers, all of whom are paid weekly, will see their cent-an-hour-raise this week. The ninth such increase since Aug. 1956, pay rates are now 18 per cent above those existing when a five-year contract was signed in 1955.

Relatively few Ternstedt employes will get cost of living allowances. This is because UAW and IUE unions and General Motors have failed to agree on a contract, halting such benefits under the GM wage formula.

In Our Opinion

Editorials

Planners . . . Now Is The Time!

Labor Day is upon us . . . and after that comes work. Plenty of it for most of us.

There is some mighty important work in prospect soon in the immediate West Side. The three things we have in mind are: 1. the proposed extension of Grandview-av south across Broad-st and possible connection with the Sandusky-st Expressway; 2. the selection of a site for two multi-million dollar State Office Buildings. 3. The construction of some new state buildings on Columbus State Hospital land.

Now is the time . . . this month . . . for some collective, progressive thinking on the part of planners, city and state.

As any West area resident knows, we've long needed a good access to the city's North Side. Ask any frustrated trucker coming in from Cincinnati.

The state will soon start building a central garage, motor transport offices and highway department testing laboratory on State Hospital land near Central-av and Broad-st.

Just south of Broad-st lies open land, relatively unused by the Columbus State School, which we believe would be an ideal site for the new State Office Building. If preliminary ideas of city planning engineers materialize, a spacious triangle of land would be isolated at the southeast corner of Broad and Central. Why not locate there? State offices would be served beautifully by three highways.

Likewise, we agree with planners that the state service buildings to the north could well tie in with the Grandview-av extension.

The Grandview link with the expressway will be expensive. Crossing the railroads and building an interchange at McKinley-av (which is the proposed incoming route of the East-West Freeway) will cost up in millions.

Planners believe that Federal money will be forthcoming since the link will serve as an access to the freeway. If this is true, we hope that city and state will spend their share of the money wisely.

A cooperative meeting NOW . . . before the distracting days of the November election, before bids are let for new state buildings, and before the State Office Building Commission chooses a site could give birth to more real progress in Columbus' West Side.

VFW Wins First Playoff In Slo Pitch

Hilltop Lions lost a close one to Westway VFW in the first of a two-out-of-three playoff for the club championship in the "Y" Slo-Pitch League. The final score was 12 to 8. They resume play next Wednesday at Westgate Park at 6 p.m.

Glenwood Methodist wrapped up the second round title in the church division by defeating Westgate EUB. Glenwood had a record of six wins and no losses in the second round.

In this week's games Hillcrest Baptist meets Burgess EUB in an important makeup game held over from the first round. A victory by Burgess would give the Glenwood Methodist team the first round title and the church championship. A victory by Hillcrest puts them in a tie with Glenwood and a playoff for first round honors will be played.

OUR NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

Eyes Of The World Focus On President

By Archer B. Reilly, Jr.
State Representative

The Presidency of the United States is the most important position in the world. The first note that strikes the eye in any consideration of the Presidency is the overwhelming variety of duties placed upon its incumbent.

A. B. Reilly, Jr.

To begin with, the President is chief of state — the ceremonial head of our national government. In this role he is the public representative of the American people.

The President's responsibility in this country parallels the long list of public duties discharged by the Queen in England, the President of the Republic of France or the Governor-General in Canada.

And in the President's case the list is even longer because he is not a king or the agent of one; and therefore, cannot strictly control the extent of his ceremonial obligations.

The task of chief of state may often seem trivial. But, they cannot be overlooked by any president who wants to stay in power and in personal touch with the people.

Moreover, despite the rigors of the role, no President can fail to recognize that all of his powers are given a new dimension of authority by the fact that his office is the symbol of the greatest nation in the world.

Throughout the years foreign dignitaries, military leaders, public personages, political figures and critics have felt and reacted to the persuasive power of the Presidency when in its presence.

The President's regular everyday role is that of chief executive. Aside from the members of Congress only two officials connected with our national government are elected by the people—the President and Vice-President. All others are appointed. And the top policy making appointments are made by the President.

Notwithstanding the fact that he actually appoints only a small fraction of the two and a third million people in the national administration, he has no authority of greater importance. As Hamilton wrote in the Federalist, "The true test of a good government is its aptitude and tendency to produce a good administration."

The executive power also involves great practical political significance. For it not only includes control over administrative policy, but also considerable influence upon legislation, as a result of conferring or withholding offices sought by senators or representatives for their constituents.

The President is also our primary agent in foreign affairs. Although authority in this field is shared with Congress, the Constitution, laws, customs and the practices of other states have combined to put the President in the foreground of foreign affairs.

This area is divided into two sectors; the formulation of policy; and the conduct of affairs. While the policy function is a joint undertaking with Congress, it may be significant that the Monroe Doctrine — our most honored policy — is named for a president.

The daily conduct of foreign affairs, involving the transaction of business with foreign nations is, as Jefferson once wrote, "executive altogether."

The State Department conducts its activities in the name of the President, and he is in executive command of every procedure through which our regular foreign relations are conducted.

The President has numerous other roles. He is commander in chief. He plays a decisive part in making legislation. He influences judicial policy. He is the leader of his party. And he is the chief spokesman and representative of the national government. All of these functions will be considered next week in rounding out the manifold phases of the office.

From any viewpoint and at any stage of consideration of this tremendous job, one fact emerges; it is essentially a one-man job. The man who holds it can never escape making the ultimate decisions.

One President is said to have summarized his task by keeping a sign on his desk which read "buck passing stops here." That is blunt, but true. For, after all the facts are gathered and digested, the President as one lone individual must take the ultimate responsibility.

Bible Comment

Sin's Scars Stay After Forgiveness

Jacob, himself an old trickster and deceiver, was getting fed up with similar treatment from his father-in-law, Laban. He had put up with it only because of his deep love for his wife, Rachel.

Finally Jacob decided to return to his homeland. With his company and possessions he left secretly but an enraged Laban overtook him and demanded the return of some idols that Rachel had taken.

Appeased as to the loss of his gods, Laban made a treaty of peace with Jacob, who was facing what he thought to be the greatest danger of all. As he neared home, word came that his brother Esau was approaching with a great company of men.

For Jacob had long ago deceived the young and easy-going Esau of his birthright.

It stands to Jacob's credit that he was far more concerned about the others in his company than for himself in case of a hostile reception by Esau and his men.

We have the spectacle of a guilty conscience, and a recollection of grevious wrong done a brother, in conflict with the conquering force of a purpose to do what is in his power to retrieve a bad situation. It is striking evidence of the way that the consequences of sin remain long after a sinner has repented or even after he has been forgiven.

As it turned out, Jacob had nothing to fear. Esau also had improved with the years. From a careless, easy-going man he had become a man of substance. He received his brother with joy and without the slightest reproach concerning the ancient wrong that had been done him.

"One of the great mysteries of life is how the boy we were sure wasn't good enough to marry our daughter can be the father of the smartest grandchild in the world."

BIG BREAKFAST AGE

That boy or girl in the family who is headed for school this fall may need a heartier breakfast than he has been eating. Surveys show that breakfast has become the neglected meal, often because the family living schedule has moved to a late shift — late dinners, late TV, and other entertainment which leads to late sleeping in the morning. These surveys also show that teenagers are the worst offenders.

In a recent talk on the teenager and his food, Dr. Ruth Leverton, Institute of Home Economics, U.S. Department of Agriculture, points out some valuable research facts that I would like to pass on to you. She says that as boys and girls reach adolescence their nutritional needs are higher than ever before. Boys need more food than at any other age, and girls more than at most other times of their lives. Enjoying a substantial breakfast starts the right pattern of eating for a day.

Nutritionally, there is no substitute for a good breakfast, as many nutrition surveys of teenagers show, stated Dr. Leverton. It is difficult or impossible for young people to make up at other meals, or between-meal snacks, the food missed at breakfast. In a recent study of teen-age girls she found that those who skipped breakfast cut their diets down to 60% of their calcium and vitamin "C" needs, and 10% of their iron and thiamine quotas. Among these girls the breakfast skippers were more likely to eat snacks between meals, and these snacks usually were sweets or other high-calorie foods. Thus, by going without breakfast they ran short on important vitamins and minerals and had as many or more calories than the breakfast eaters.

Nutritionists agree that one way to stimulate lagging morning appetites is to make the breakfast a bright and attractive meal. Seasonal low-cost fruits are your best friends — peaches, pears, apples, grapes and cantaloupes. Vary the breakfast breads or cereals instead of having toast every morning. Add egg or other protein, and milk, and you have given those young people a good start for the day.

Remember, too, a little extra morning sleep is no exchange for a good meal. Breakfast is a health investment in which both teenagers and parents should cooperate.

INDUSTRIAL USE OF NATURAL GAS BEGAN IN JOHN GRISWELL'S SALT WORKS

IN 1840, JOHN GRISWELL, THE IMAGINATIVE OWNER OF A SALT REFINING PLANT IN CENTERVILLE, PA., PIPED IN NATURAL GAS TO USE AS AN INEXPENSIVE AND EFFICIENT FUEL IN THE EVAPORATION OF BRINE.

NOW, ONE-FIFTH OF ALL THE INDUSTRIAL USERS OF NATURAL GAS IN THE UNITED STATES ARE LOCATED HERE IN AMERICA'S ORIGINAL NATURAL GASLAND— WHERE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WORK AT GOOD JOBS IN INDUSTRIES THAT MAKE EXCELLENT USE OF THIS CONVENIENT, LOW-COST FUEL. LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL IN GRAND WINDUP

Playground Reports

Organized activity at city playgrounds drew to a close here this week.

Little League baseball teams, delayed earlier in the summer because of rain, stepped up their playoffs to beat the first sounding of school bells.

A packed house was recorded at Central High School auditorium last Thursday as the last official event of the season, a mammoth pageant, was presented. Children from 61 playgrounds took part.

Following are reports from two local centers this week:

At Hauntz . . .

The 1958 summer playground season ended last Friday evening at 8 p.m. Many enjoyable moments were spent by all at Hauntz Playgrounds during this time.

New facilities were constructed last winter and were used for the first time this summer. These include the field house, improved baseball diamond and hard surfaced areas. Hundreds of children in the Springmont-Columbian Avenue area were served by them.

Children from Hauntz were awarded certificates of achievement for the honors they collected in the following activities: second place in the Lantern Parade; 11th in the city track meet, and the junior boys softball team finished as runners-up for the city championship.

The playground leaders this past summer, Bob Kern and Millie Green, voiced their appreciation to all the parents and children for their excellent cooperation.

Twelve Enter Pageant

Twelve boys and girls from Hauntz Playground participated in the citywide pageant at Central High on Aug. 21st. The group did a Russian dance to the music of "Trepak" from the "Nutcracker Suite."

Cards Win Little Jet Title

The Yanks came from behind and defeated the Braves 9 to 8, to remain in a first place tie in the Hauntz Little Jet League. Both the Yanks and the Cards ended their regular season schedule with identical records of 9 victories and 3 defeats.

Mickey Pless was the winning pitcher in the Yank-Braves game, while his team mates Ken Snider and Richard Fink collected a triple apiece, Snider also had a home run. John Goodin suffered the loss for the Braves, giving up six hits and fanning 18 in the seven inning game. He also collected a home run.

Bantam Football To Begin Thursday at Sunshine Center

Sunshine Recreation Center has issued its first call for young fellows who would like to play football.

A session open to all boys 12 and under has been set for 6 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 28. The center is located at Sandusky and Sullivant-ave.

Leagues will be patterned after Little Jet baseball, in that every boy will get to play at least one quarter each game, said Mel Dodge, Sunshine director.

Required equipment will consist of helmet, shoulder pads, and tennis shoes. A limited amount of equipment is available at the center, said Dodge.

At Glenwood . . .

Give Organ Grinder

For their part in the all-city pageant, sponsored by the recreation department, Glenwood Recreation presented an organ grinder and his four dancing "monkeys."

The monkeys sported yellow and red costumes and carried red and yellow striped canes; they also wore hats to match thir costumes. Portraying the monkeys were Donna and Sam Tufts, Dorothy and Kay Devereaux. The organ grinder was Mike Charles.

The program was held at Central High School and the auditorium was literally filled with young performers and friends who had come to see the show. Bright colored costumes and scenery were highlighted. Performers from playgrounds all over the city had parts in this the last big event of the summer season.

Little Jet Results

Little Jet baseball at Glenwood Recreation Center ended last Wednesday. Going into the final day of play there was the possibility of a four way tie for first place. However, the fourth-place Yanks lost to the first-place Reds thus ending the play. The final Little Jet standings are as follows:

	W.	L.
Reds	10	5
Aces	9	6
Hawks	9	6
Yanks	8	7
Cubs	5	10
Cards	4	11

The Aces won five of their last six games including four straight the final week, but they were still unable to overhaul the first place Reds. The last surge was a hotter playing percentage than that of the first place Reds, but the Reds had built up too large a lead for the Aces to overcome.

Loan Firm Manager Fires At Fleeing Daylight Bandit

William Burns, manager of Buckeye Finance Co., 1245 W. Broad-st, fired seven shots after the speeding car of a bandit who had robbed his firm of an undetermined amount of cash, Monday afternoon.

One of the shots narrowly missed Mrs. Herman Price, 43 of 39 S. Princeton-av, and Mrs. Richard Hartman, 22 of 53 S. Princeton-av, who were sitting on their front porches.

The robber, described by police as weighing 170 pounds, about five feet eight inches tall and wearing a light blue suit with a blue straw hat, entered the firm office about 3:24 p.m., and asked to talk with an interviewer about a loan.

Clarence Cropper, 31 of 101 N. Washington-av, Delaware, an employe of the firm, sat down with him in a booth at the rear of the office. The bandit pointed a gun at Cropper, handed him a brief case and ordered him to fill it.

As the two left the booth, Cropper told Burns of the situation, and the three walked to the cash drawer. Cropper said he held the case while Burns took bills from the drawer.

The robber fled through a rear door and Burns grabbed a .45 from a drawer and ran after him.

Burns, 40 of 2430 Steele-av, began firing when the bandit ignored his order to get out of the car, parked on Princeton-av, south of the loan company.

The first shot hit the window, the bandit car swerved, and then sped south on Princeton with Burns pumping bullets after him.

His car was described as a 1957 or 1958 Oldsmobile or Ford with a blue bottom and light-colored top.

Grandview-av Link Ideas Under Study

Sketches prepared by the City Planning Department showing a proposal to extend Grandview-av south to Broad-st, with a possible curve eastward to the Sandusky-st Expressway, are now under study by state officials.

The ideas were submitted to Gov. C. William O'Neill, representatives of the highway and public works departments and railroad officials in a downtown meeting last week.

The project would involve elaborate engineering at McKinley-av and under the Pennsylvania Railroad.

State officials earlier indicated their interest in cooperating with the planning, especially since they went to build a garage, office and laboratory yet this year on Columbus State Hospital land next to the extension.

When thou hast eaten and art full, then thou shalt bless the Lord thy God for the good land which he hath given thee. —(Deuteronomy 8, 10.)

'STAR SALESMEN' IS GOAL

Distributive Education Class At West To Have 31 Students

GIVING A FIRM BOOST to the new vocational course in merchandising at West High School are (left to right), Jack Merriman, co-operating merchant; Dr. William B. Logan, DE expert of OSU; O. D. Lehman, West teacher coordinator; Miss Marguerite M. Lees, state supervisor of the DE program; Robert F. Darrow, West principal, and C. L. Dumaree, assistant superintendent, in charge of administration Columbus Board of Education.

"For the most part, people have forgotten how to sell!"

Local businessmen were told this Thursday by Dr. William B. Logan of the OSU Department of Education Dr. Logan directs the distributive education courses at the university and is helping to implement the new vocational course in selling at West High School this fall.

"Selling has seen a life of ease since 1940," Logan continued," but now the community has need for some star salesmen. The new course at West can turn out such people."

Dr. Logan said that while DE is basically educational it will help the community to solve some of its business problems by instilling good sales technique in selected young people.

Enrollment in the new vocational class here stands tentatively at 31 pupils. They have been interviewed and screened throughout the summer and some are already on their work stations. Under the plan, high school juniors and seniors attend regular classes two or three periods and spend the rest of the day in a store or shop.

Key man in bringing together student and merchant will be O. D. Lehman, long-time coach and driver education instructor at West. Lehman, a resident of 685 Binns-blvd, has an extensive background in retailing and teaching.

He recently attended the annual Distributive Education Conference at Zanesville, a three-day gathering of teacher-coordinators from all over Ohio. Successful programs of other cities were studied and evaluated. Such courses already are in force at Central High School and at Whitehall.

"If you operate a filling station, a restaurant, wholesale drug firm, dress shop, dry cleaning business or any other service, the DE program may have something to offer both you and a young person trying to enter the business world," said Co-ordinator Lehman, "If interested, direct your calls to me at West High School, BR. 4-1197, and I'll be glad to talk it over with you."

Northern Pike...Catch of the Week!

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
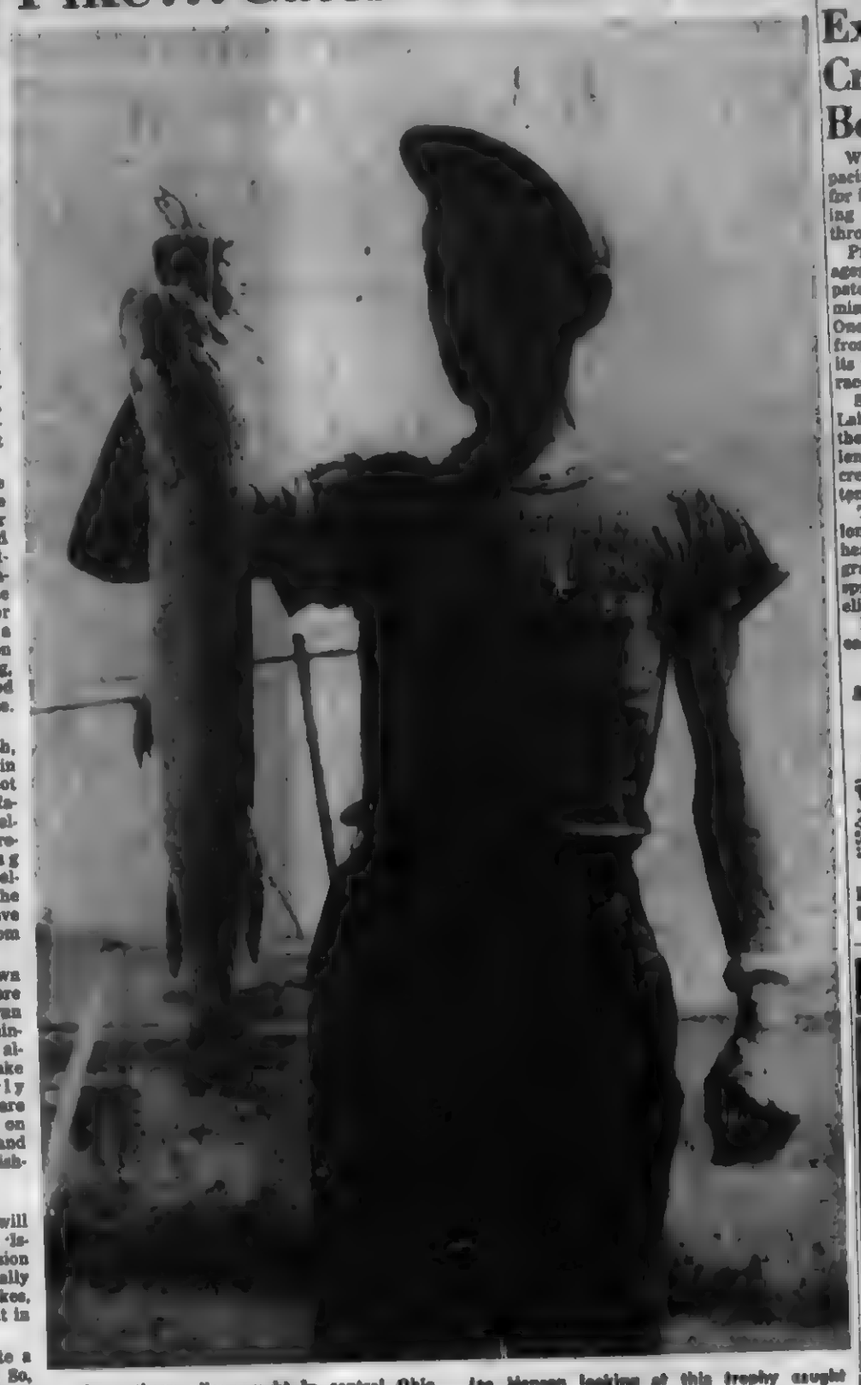
By ROD COCHRAN

Joseph B. Hanson, 244 Short-st, West Jefferson, caught a real rarity the other day at Lake Forrest — a northern pike.

Pike are not native to this section of Ohio, so it creates quite a stir among anglers when one is taken in local waters. This fish was included in a shipment of fish from Lake Erie that was stocked in Lake Forrest last spring. Mr. Forrest, proprietor of the popular fishing lake near West Jefferson, said that several of these "tigers" have been stocked but they are hard to catch.

Joe Hanson caught his pike on a piece of nightcrawler. He fishes the lake frequently for catfish, and uses soft craws and nightcrawlers for bait. Expecting a chunky catfish, he was understandably surprised when he pulled this mean-looking critter to the top. The pike put up a vicious fight, and after Hanson got a good look at its long, needle-sharp teeth he figured he was lucky to land the prize.

Familiar To Canadians



Pike are excellent sport fish, as anyone who travels much in Canada knows. They are not sought after as much as the famous muskellunge, a close relative, but they have built a respectable reputation among northern anglers. They are relatively easy to catch in the north country, and they have saved many a fishing trip from being a total loss.

Here in Ohio they are known to only a few fishermen. There is a pretty good spawning run of pike in some streams draining into Lake Erie. They are also found in some of the Lake Erie marshes, particularly around Sandusky Bay. They are extremely difficult to catch on hook and line, however, and present a real challenge to fishermen.

Stocked Experimentally

Once in a while a pike will be caught around the Bass Islands in Lake Erie. The Division of Wildlife is experimentally stocking pike in inland lakes, and several have been caught in Lake St. Marys.

In this area they are quite a curiosity and a real trophy. So, congratulations to Joe Hanson for his catch of the week!

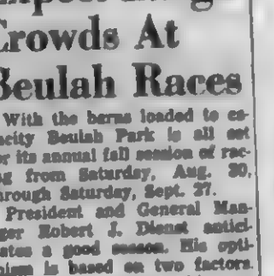
Expect Large Crowds At Beulah Races



With the barns loaded to capacity Beulah Park is all set for its annual fall session of racing from Saturday, Aug. 30, through Saturday, Sept. 27.

President and General Manager Robert J. Dienst anticipates a good season. His optimism is based on two factors. One that the central Ohio area from which Beulah Park draws its patronage has not been overraced.

Secondly he feels that with a Labor Day holiday included in the 28 days there is an excellent chance for a decided increase in mutuel play and attendance.

The inaugural purse, a six furlong dash worth $2,000, will headline the opening day program and there are 15 or 20 top sprinters on the grounds and eligible for this dash.

Racing will get under way each afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

"The grass next door may look greener, but it's just as hard to cut."

Her tiered veil of French illusion was caught to a lace and pearl coronet and she carried a white prayer book topped with white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Betty Lee Powell, maid of honor, wore a sheath of grotto blue satin designed with an overskirt of matching tulle. She carried a bouquet of fugi mums and wore a headdress of matching flowers.

Bridesmaids, Miss Loretta Hudgins and Miss Billie Barnes, were gowned identically with the honor attendant.

Rev. Eugene N. Langholz served as bestman for his brother and ushers were Mr. Armin P. Langholz, also a brother of the bridegroom and Mr. Randall C. Miller, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a grotto blue silk shantung sheath with matching shoes, white hat and gloves, and a corsage of yellow cymbidiums.

For Your Thoughts

Can you suggest a practical solution to traffic slow-downs during rush hours on highways such as W. Broad-st, caused by utility repair crews and city street repairmen?

M. L. Halliday, 763 S. Ogden-av: "Even small towns schedule such work quite early in the morning, around 3 a.m., and I should think Columbus could do the same."

John A. McAndrews, 1934 Fairmont-av: "I travel W. Broad-st, four times a day, and know of the traffic holdups repairmen cause. Doing the work during the night seems to be the solution."

Mrs. Lyle D. Shaver, 830 Cheetershire: "There isn't a time in 24 hours when W. Broad-st is clear of traffice, but working very early in the morning would seem to be best."

Mrs. Robert Vance, 211 Avondale-av: "I don't drive myself, but have often seen the problem. I imagine confining the work to hours in the middle of the day would avoid traffic tieups during rush hours."

Mrs. Elden Rowland, 230 N. Chase-av: "Very early in the morning, before the day's heavy traffic begins, would be the most practical time for repairs."

Floyd Truex, 406 S. Warren-av, has been granted a permit to add to his frame garage.

WOULD YOU GIVE UP THREE MINUTES TO SAVE YOUR CHILD'S LIFE?

The story on this page may help you keep your family alive and well—and show you how to help prevent sudden death to others on the highway.

This year, nearly 42,000 men, women and children will be killed in highway traffic accidents, according to the present mounting rate.

Forty-two thousand people!—that's a good-sized city—wiped out by speeders, traffic-light beaters, stop-sign passers and other potential murderers!

What makes it even worse, if that's possible, is that with all the speeding—all the hurtling through traffic lights—all the ignoring of stop signs—all a driver can save on an average trip is three minutes!

Would you be willing to give up those three minutes to save your child's life? Or a stranger's life? Or your own?

HERE'S HOW TO DO IT:

FIRST—Drive safely and courteously yourself. Observe speed limits and warning-signs.

Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!

SECOND—Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. Traffic regulations work for you, not against you.

Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

THIRD—Work through your church, PTA or civic group for extra policing where needed, better street lights and signals, and a school safety program.

Where people work actively for safety, deaths go DOWN!

FOURTH—Call on your local or state safety council for help in promoting better laws and uniform enforcement.

Where everyone understands the law, deaths go DOWN!

In city after city, day after day, it's been proved over and over again—
